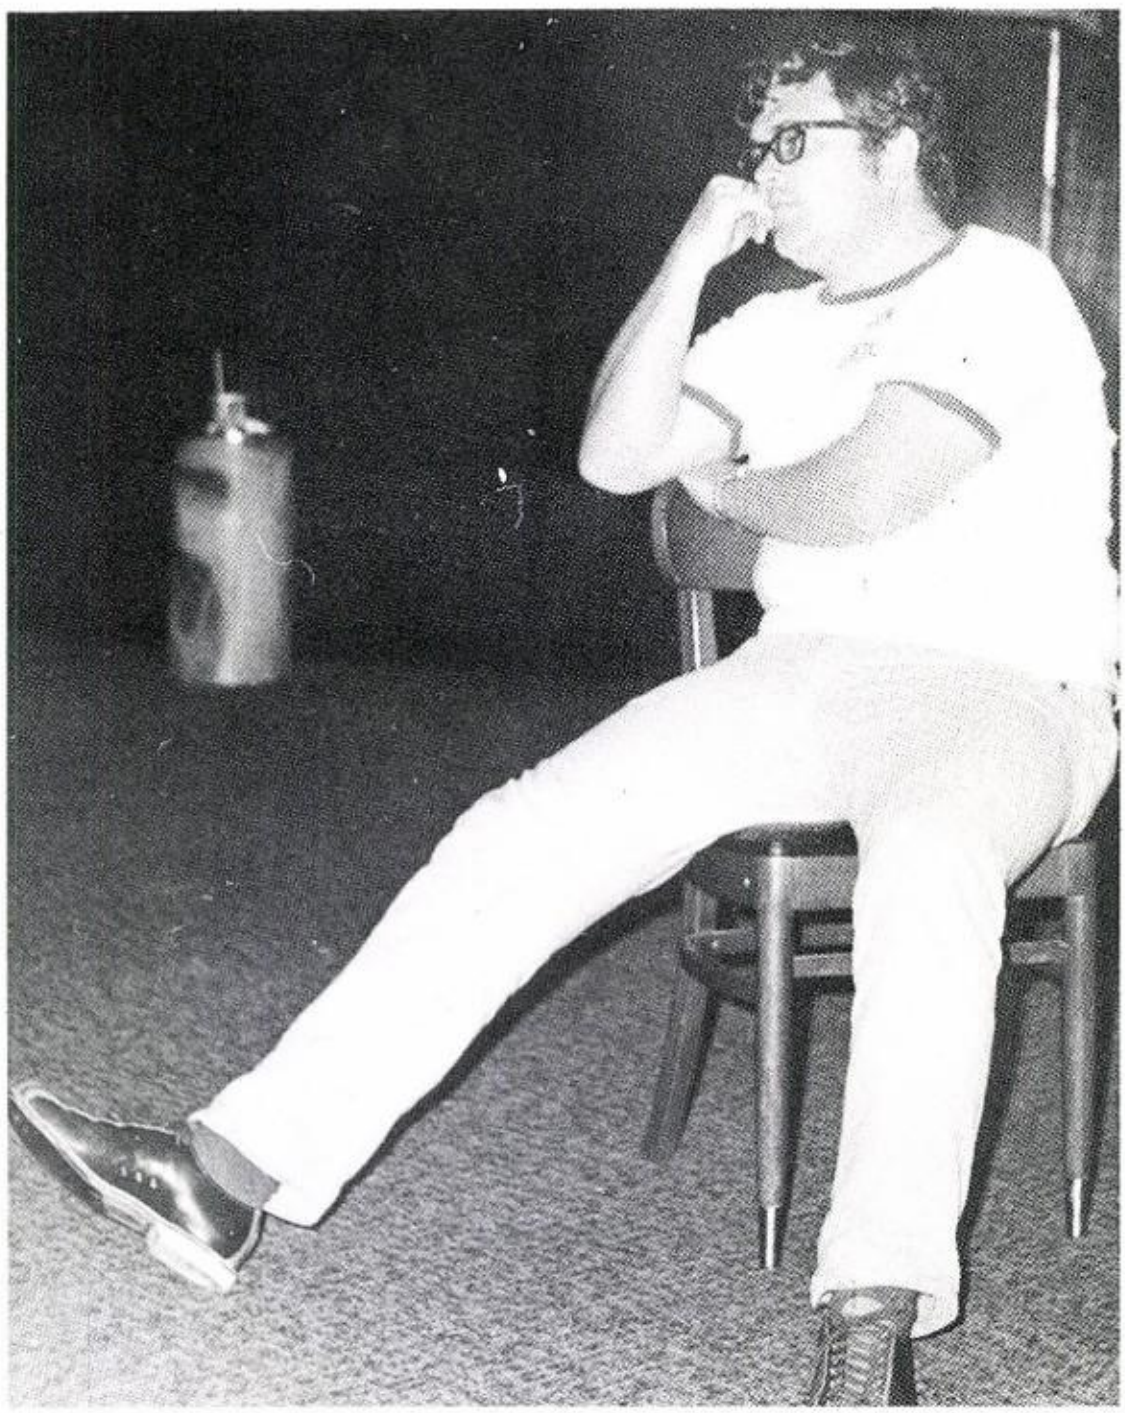
You Are DCHS

Carl Collins has been honored with the dedication of the 1973 Squire. He has been a teacher at DCHS for four years where he teaches biology and physical education and coaches football and track. He also served the current Senior Class as sponsor for two years. Carl serves as the Minister of Youth at the Hawn Freeway Church of Christ.

Raised in Portland, Oregon, Mr. Collins accepted a football scholarship to Columbia Christian College in 1962. In 1966, he attended Harding College, where he received a BA Degree in Physical Education. He married the former Kathy Curtis on August 5, 1966 in Fairfield, California. They have two boys; Craig, age four, and Beau, four months.



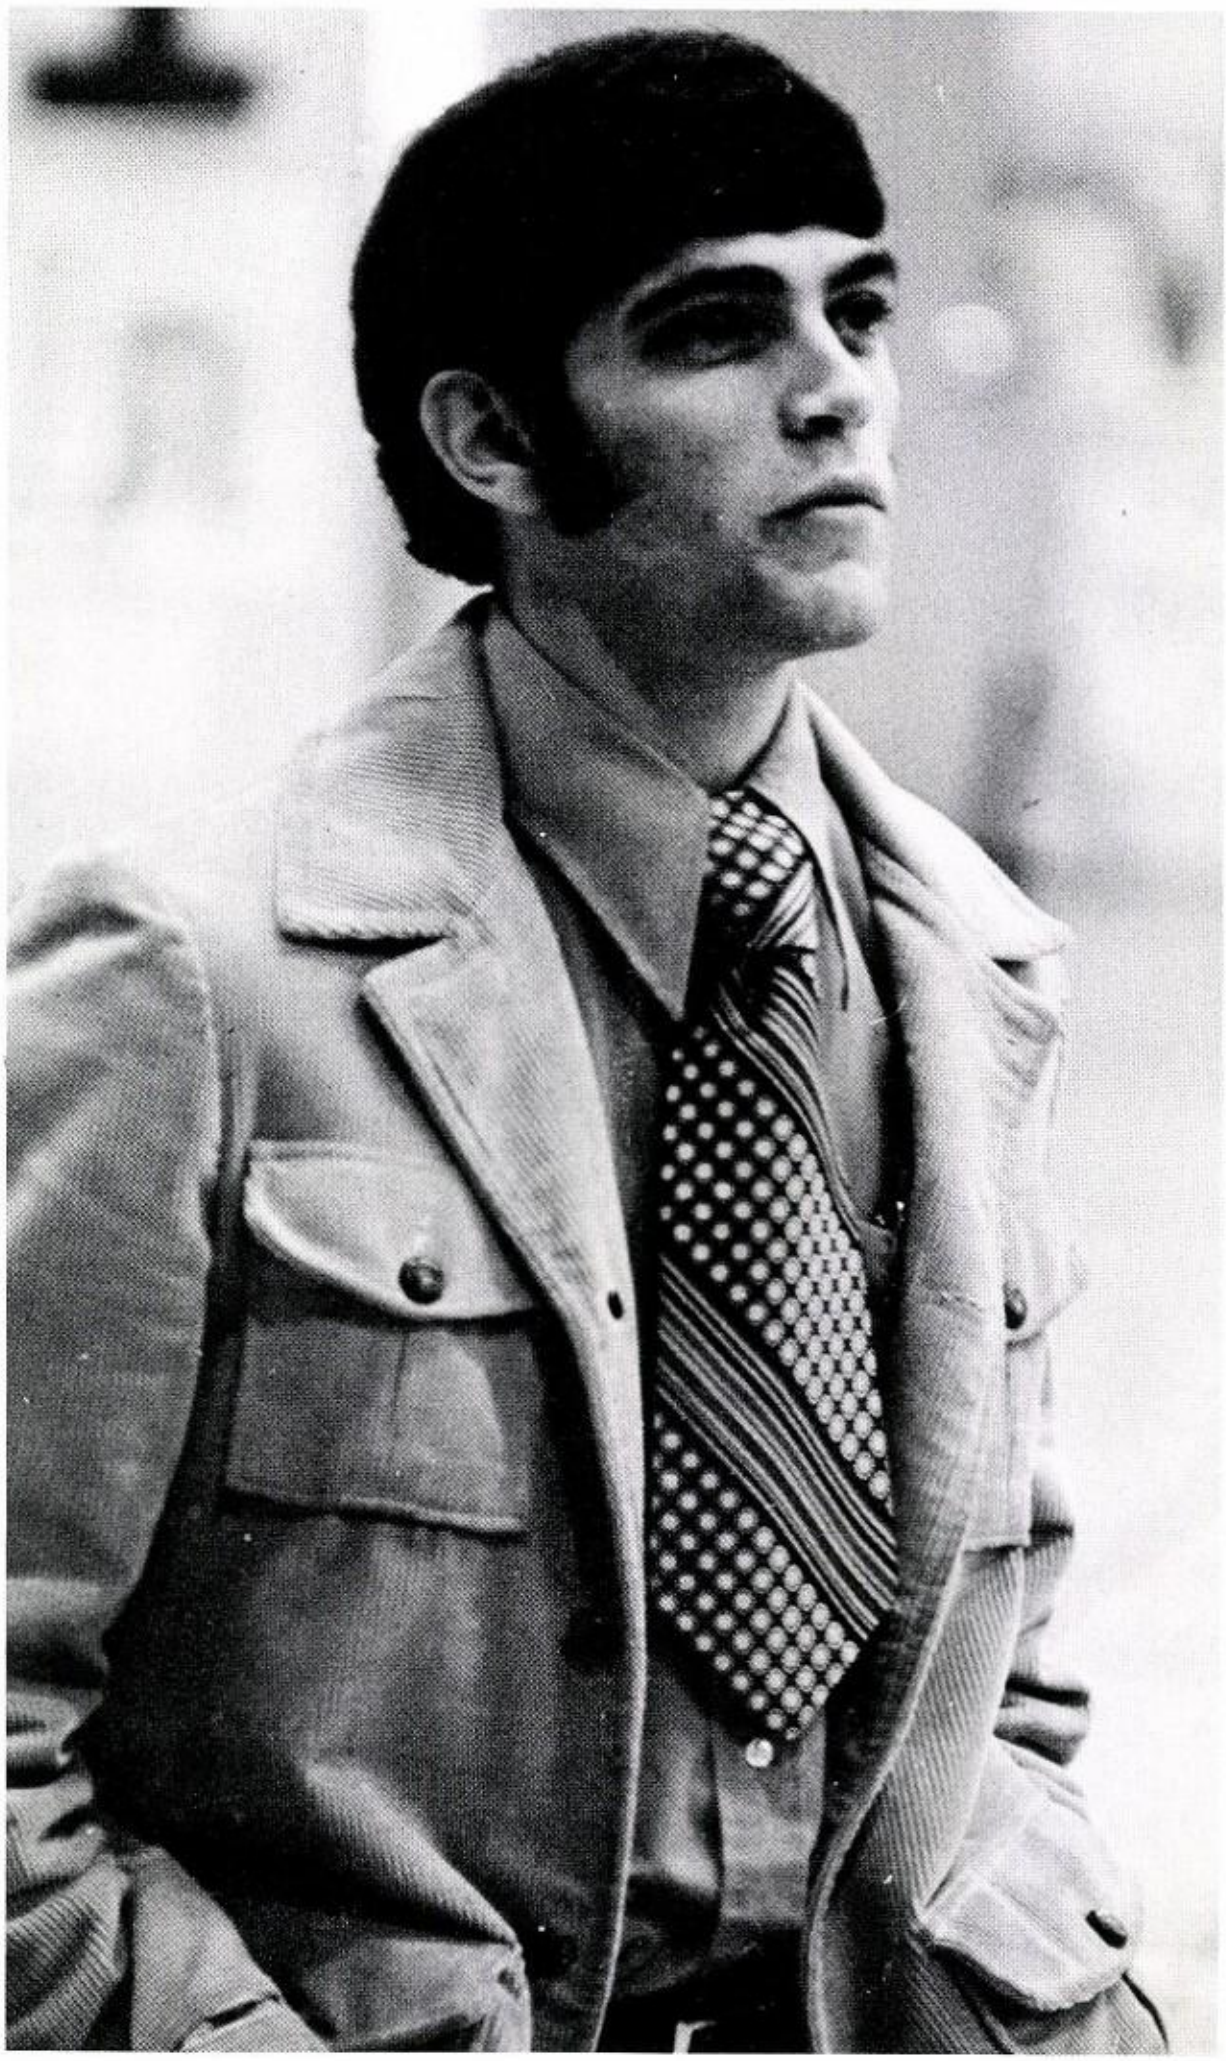
The Squire is dedicated to Coach Collins by, we, the Senior Class of 1973. He means a great deal to the school as a whole but especially so to our class. In his four years at Dallas Christian, he has been an inspiration and a spiritual leader to us all. We consider Coach Collins the greatest thing that ever happened to our class. He is a man who has constantly given us an incentive to go the second mile and give ourselves totally to the tasks before us. His Christian attitude and example have given us the spiritual nourishment that we have needed in times of weakness. But to us the real Carl Collins has been, in short, a friend. Someone we could talk to in times that were rough when we needed someone to listen. He often has gone out of his way to help us.

Most of all Coach Collins was a "Bridge Builder." He built the bridge to carry us over the troubled waters of life. Not only for us was it erected, but also for the ones who will follow the same way we have taken. We love him and will be forever grateful for the lasting contributions he has made to our school and our lives. We thank the Lord for sending such a man to help us along our way.

SENIOR CLASS OF 1973

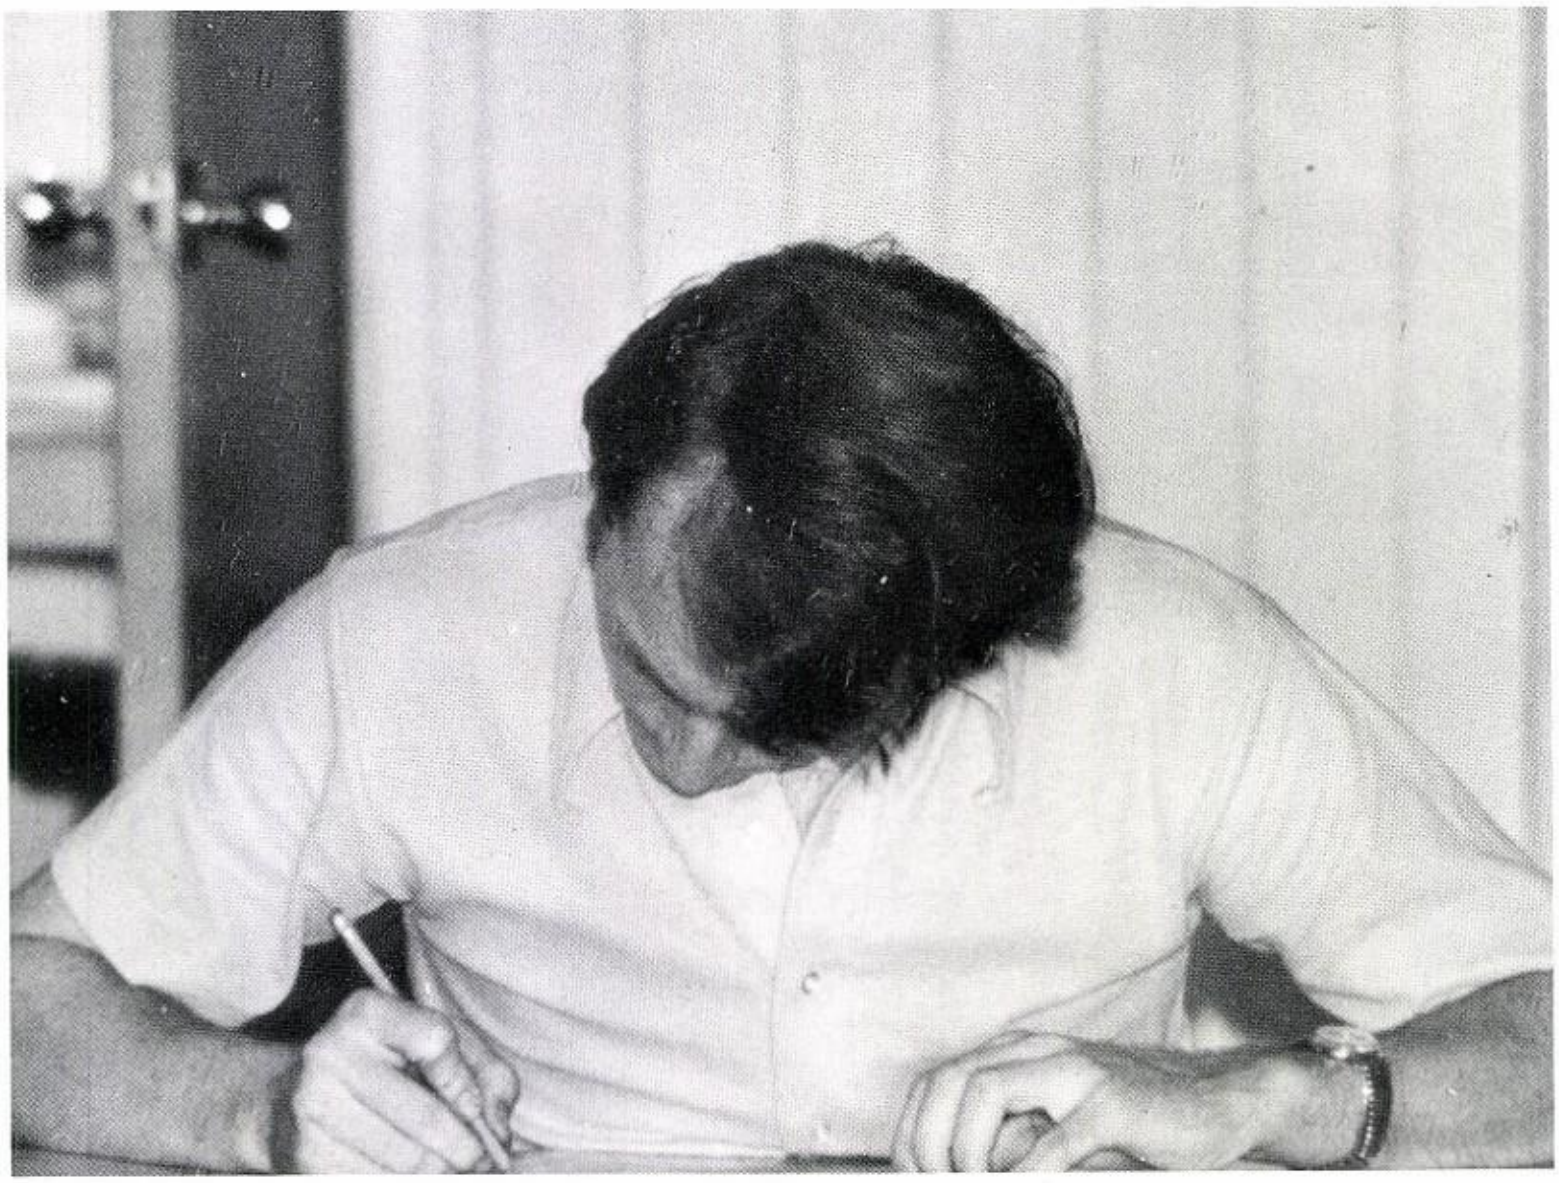
What is life? That's a question too big for the best of us to understand. But narrow it down a little: What is my life? That's still a very big question, but one every person must in some way answer. Like a most picturesque country scene, there is much in a life to stand back and look at, much to inspect closely. There are a number of natural patterns to see, thousands of tiny shades and shadows of varying darknesses and intensities. Perhaps there is too much, even in just one life, to comprehend. Perhaps, but what would it be like to not even try? Quite unfulfilling. Regardless of the heartaches, despite the confusion, man must think, and man must think of himself and his purposes. How else can he develop and advance in worthwhile personal, social and spiritual relationships? The mind - mental exercise and reflection - is the beginning point of growth.

Individual Search

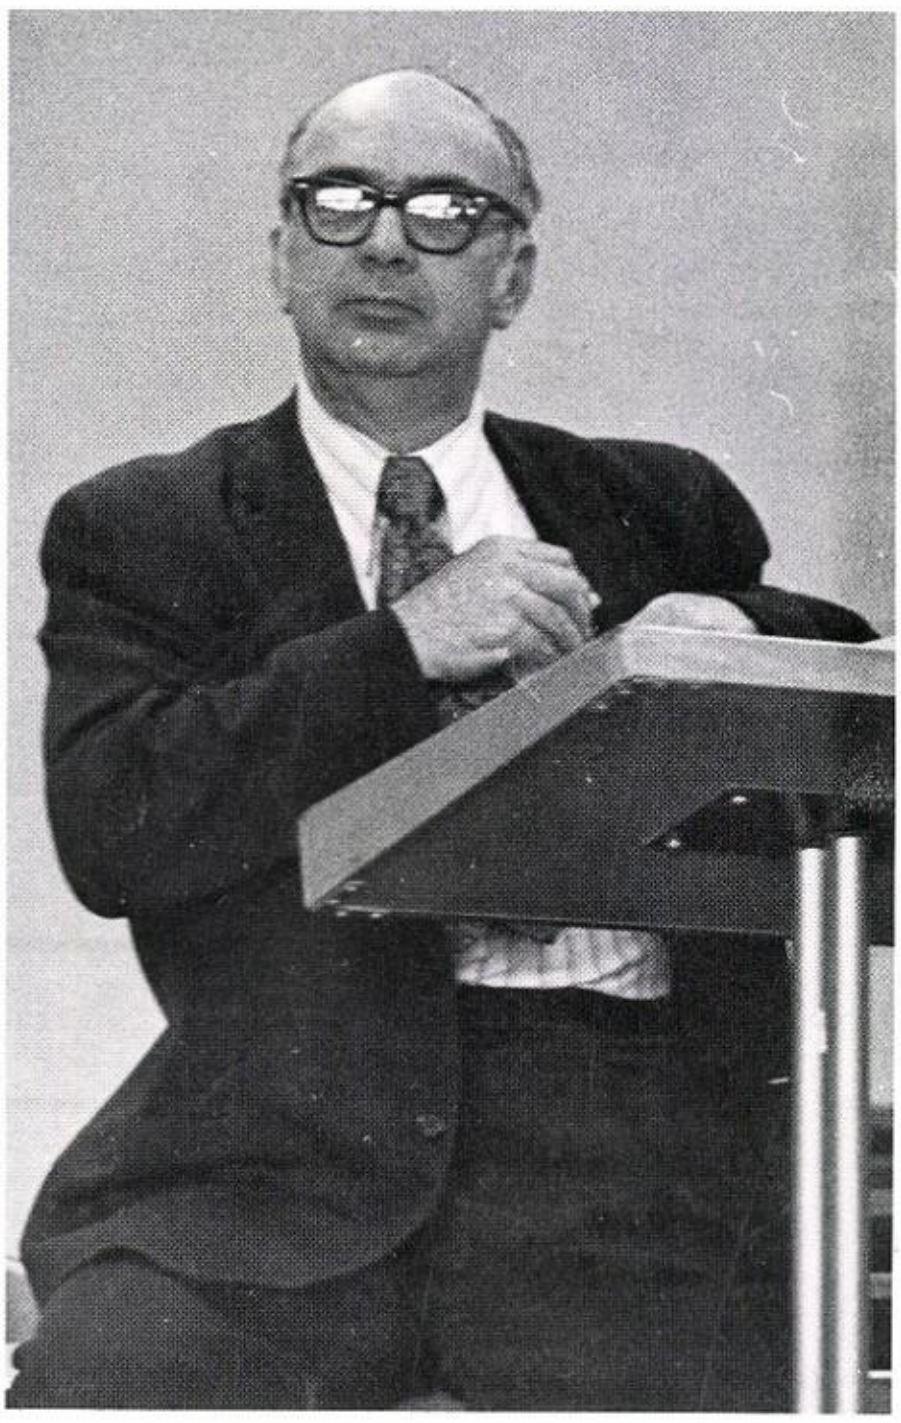


Merits Future Reward . . .

With thought must come decisions, and with decisions, goals. From the minute-to-minute intents of a small child to more permanent plans, these aims are being constantly established. And as wisdom increases and maturity is reached in a fuller degree, thoughts for the future find firmness and are not altered as often.

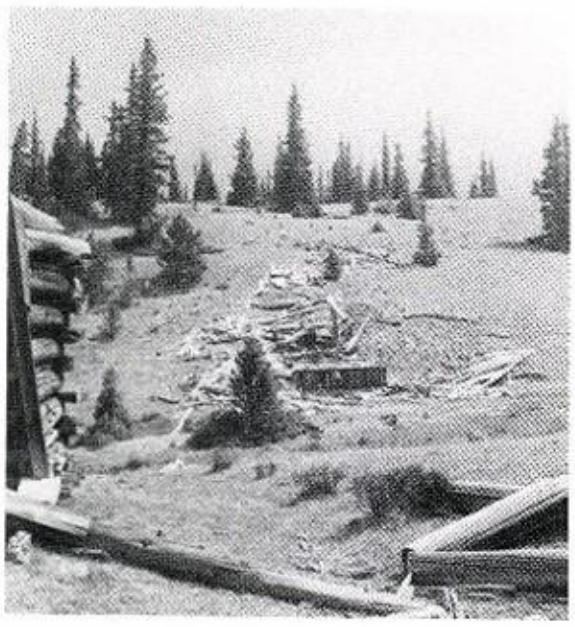


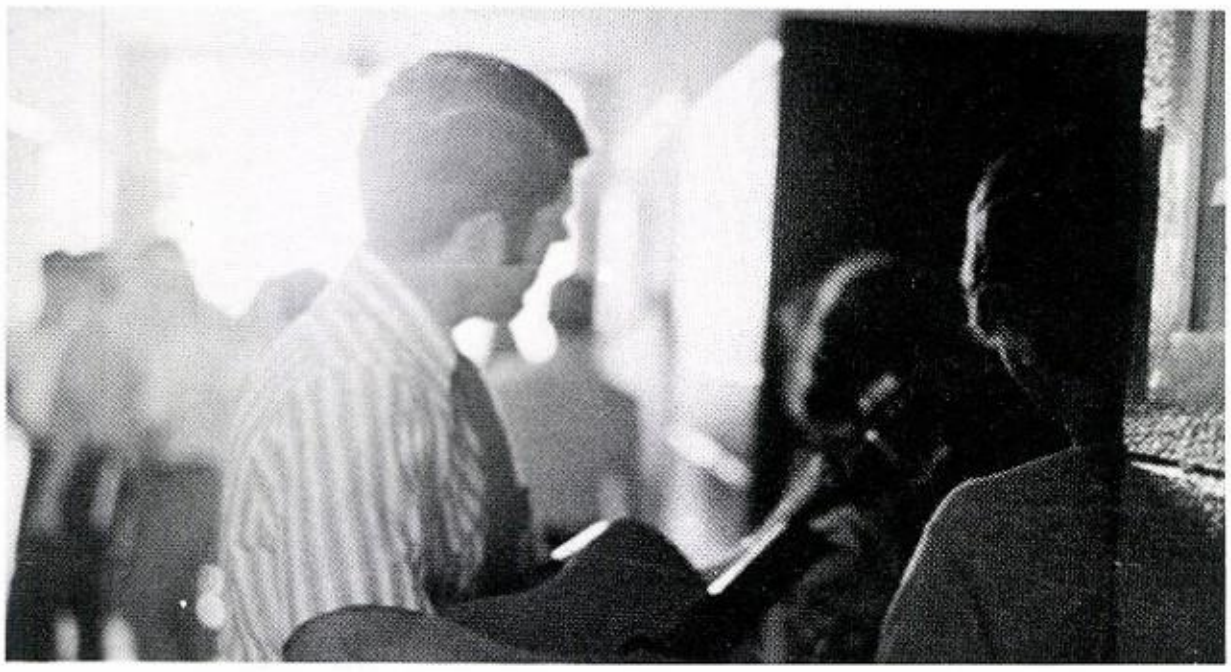
. . . Of Personal Gratification



Importance may not lie in permanence (which is often no more than dogmatism), but in not getting lost in detail. There are two ends of the spectrum of life: utter frivolity and playfulness; uselessly deep philosophy. We must beware of being grounded at either end. Between the two lies reality. Both extremes are ultimately ugly if only viewed from close range.

Your Life
Is Important





Stand back and look at your total life - take in the full view. There may still be problems, but it doesn't seem as hopeless as a single close-up might indicate. It takes a combination of light-heartedness, deep involvement and reality. Involve yourself and get into it, or just sit back and think - it's all important.

Self-Discipline Is the Key

Wise
As men
Sometimes seem
At their consent
To this I surmise
That they are more akin
To a born fool the supreme
Yardstick is the person's extent
Of ability and exercise
In the oft-forgotten knack to listen
To others and in most cases to esteem
Them better than himself and not be negligent
To venerate and instate the worthwhile content
Of their message in himself. I would advise
All men the world over to denizen
Themselves to the extremely small team
Of those whose sconce is evident
By their silence, not their emprise
Of magniloquence. If, then,
One would see fit to deem
His wisdom unbent,
He'll utilize
Discipline,
The dream
Vent.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

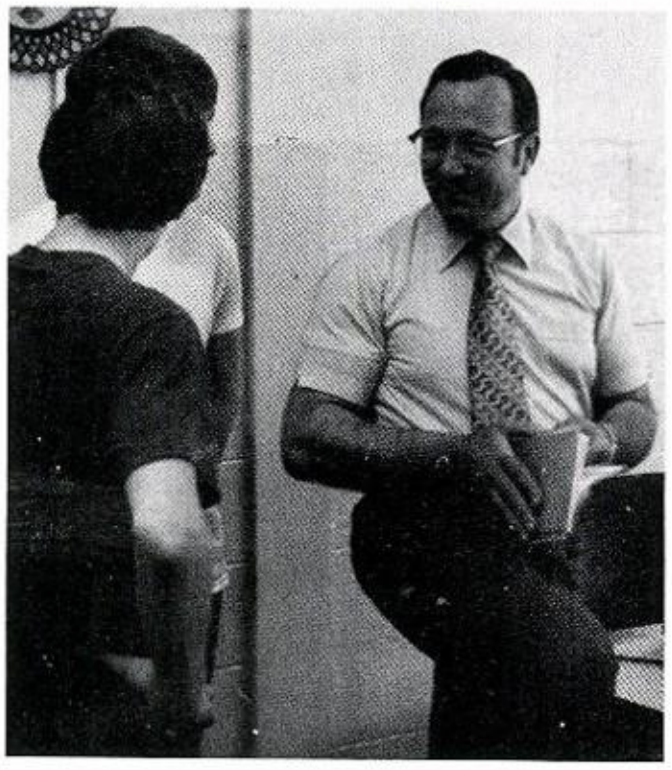
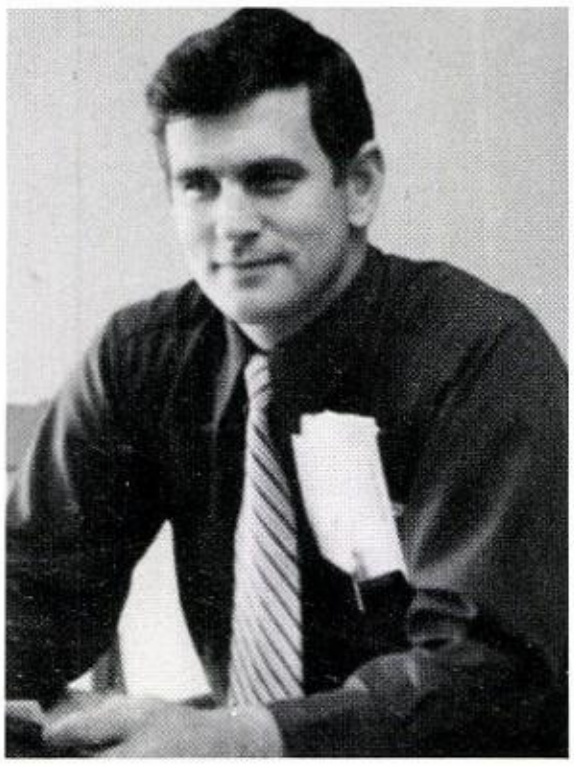
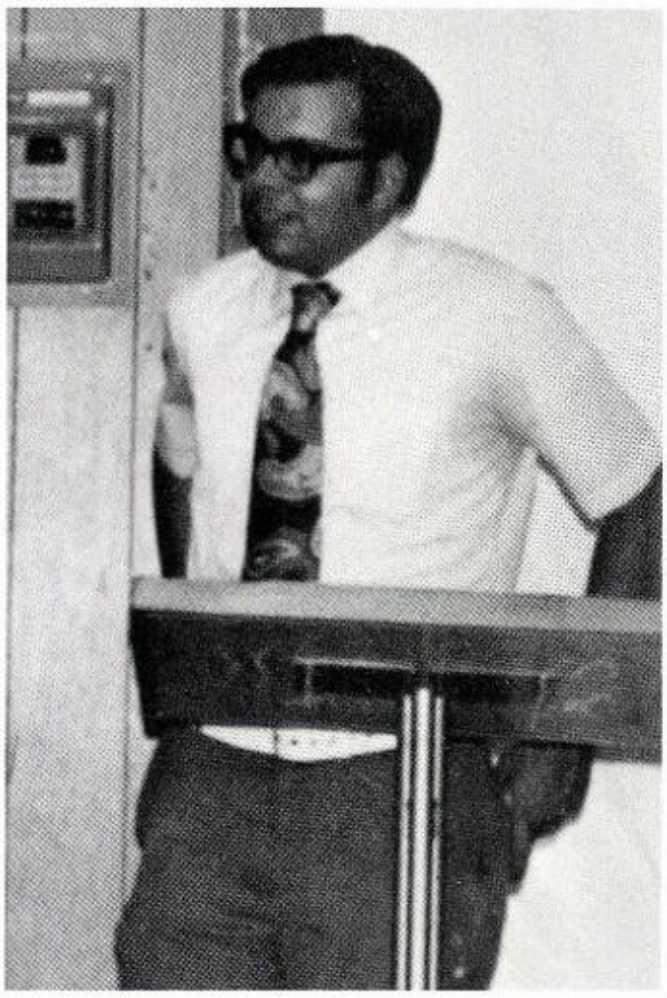
Teachers Expend Energy in Myriad Activities

From being a friend such as Melvin Anderson, business instructor, right, to instruction in sewing by Barbara Hibbs, right, marks many teachers at DCHS. Exchanging a friendly smile typifies Janice Sewell, p.e. and health instructor and Barbara Gleason, librarian, pores over cataloguing procedures. Each individual teacher contributes much time and energy toward making school more meaningful to students.





Richard Dean, history and Bible teacher smiles at students as his wife, right, Retta Dean proceeds with chemistry instruction. Class antics cause Virginia Leatherwood, English and journalism teacher, to grimace while Randy Louvier, chemistry teacher first semester, finds them amusing. With song sheets in hand Wayne McReynolds conducts chorus. He also teaches English.



Staying abreast of classwork and new counselling trends keeps Charles Beason, who also teaches math, busy and Sheila Bench, right, works on lesson plans for science. At left, Gerald Stanglin, English and history instructor, seeks a solution to a question and bottom right, Danny Price, biology, health and Bible teacher, prepares for another lesson.

Senior Year Culminates With Graduation

Commencement exercises were held for the Senior Class of 1973 at the Skillman Avenue Church of Christ in Dallas, Texas on Friday, May 25, 1973. Following the salutatory and valedictory addresses, Stanley Lockhart delivered the address to the graduates, building his thoughts on the central idea, "Dare to Be a Daniel." Homer Gainer, chairman of the Board of Trustees, presented the seniors with their diplomas. Baccalaureate was held the previous Sunday afternoon at Skillman Avenue. The speaker was George Bailey.

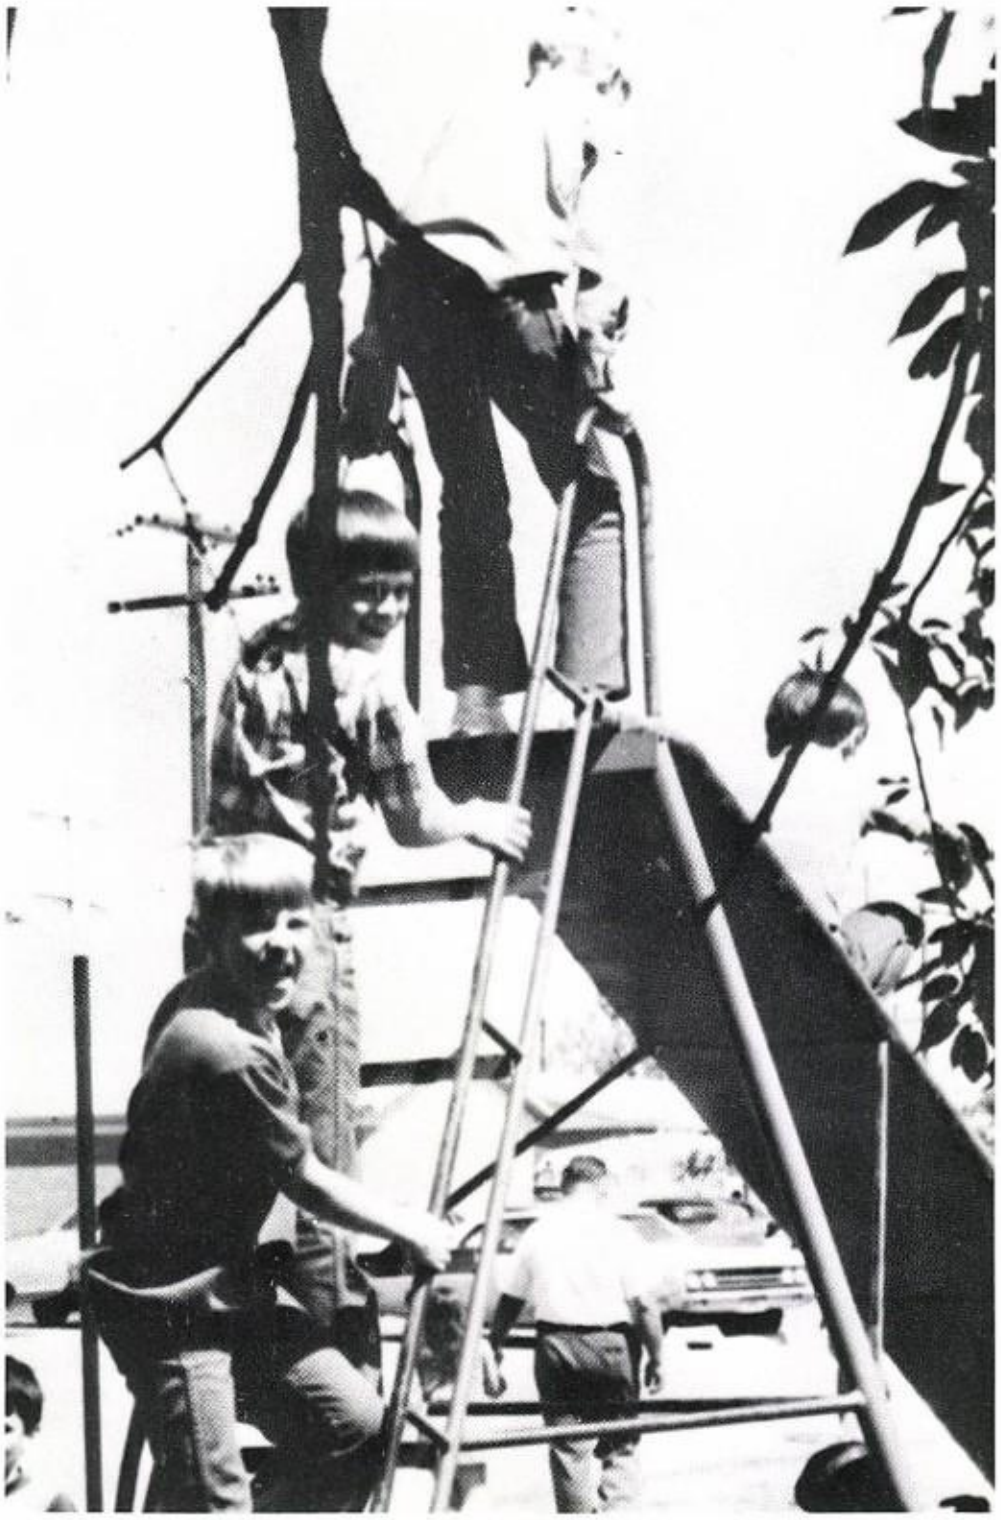
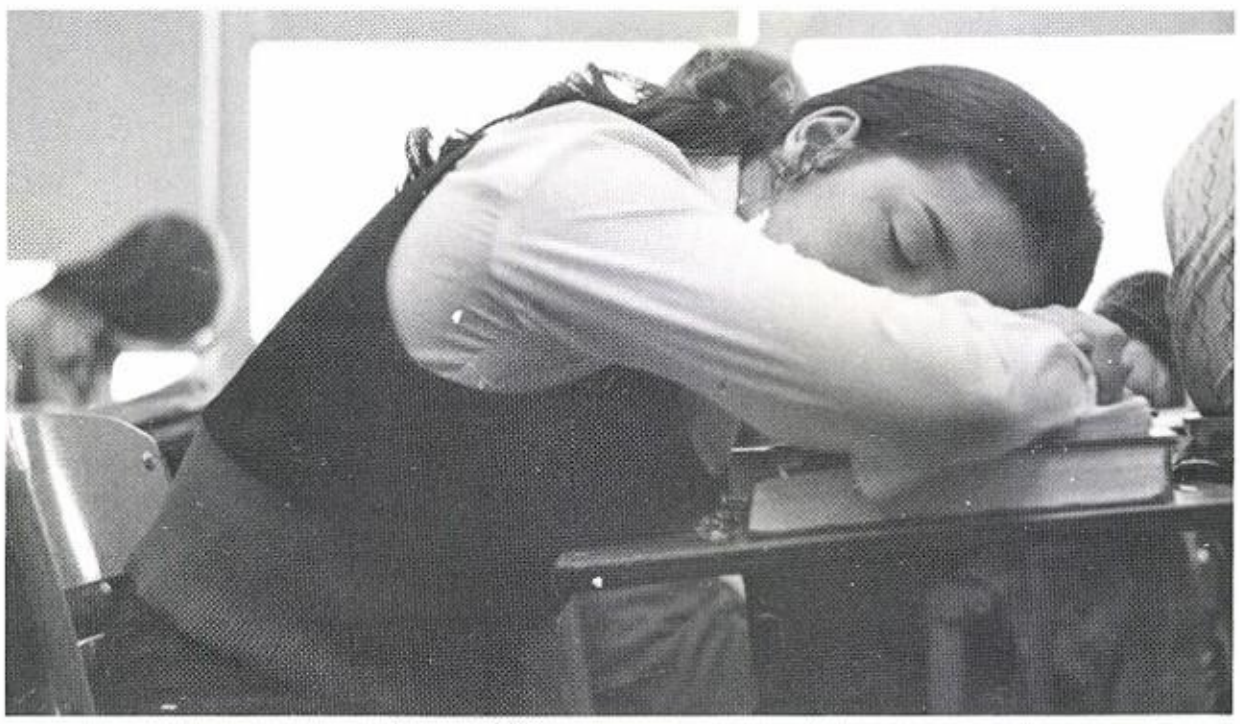
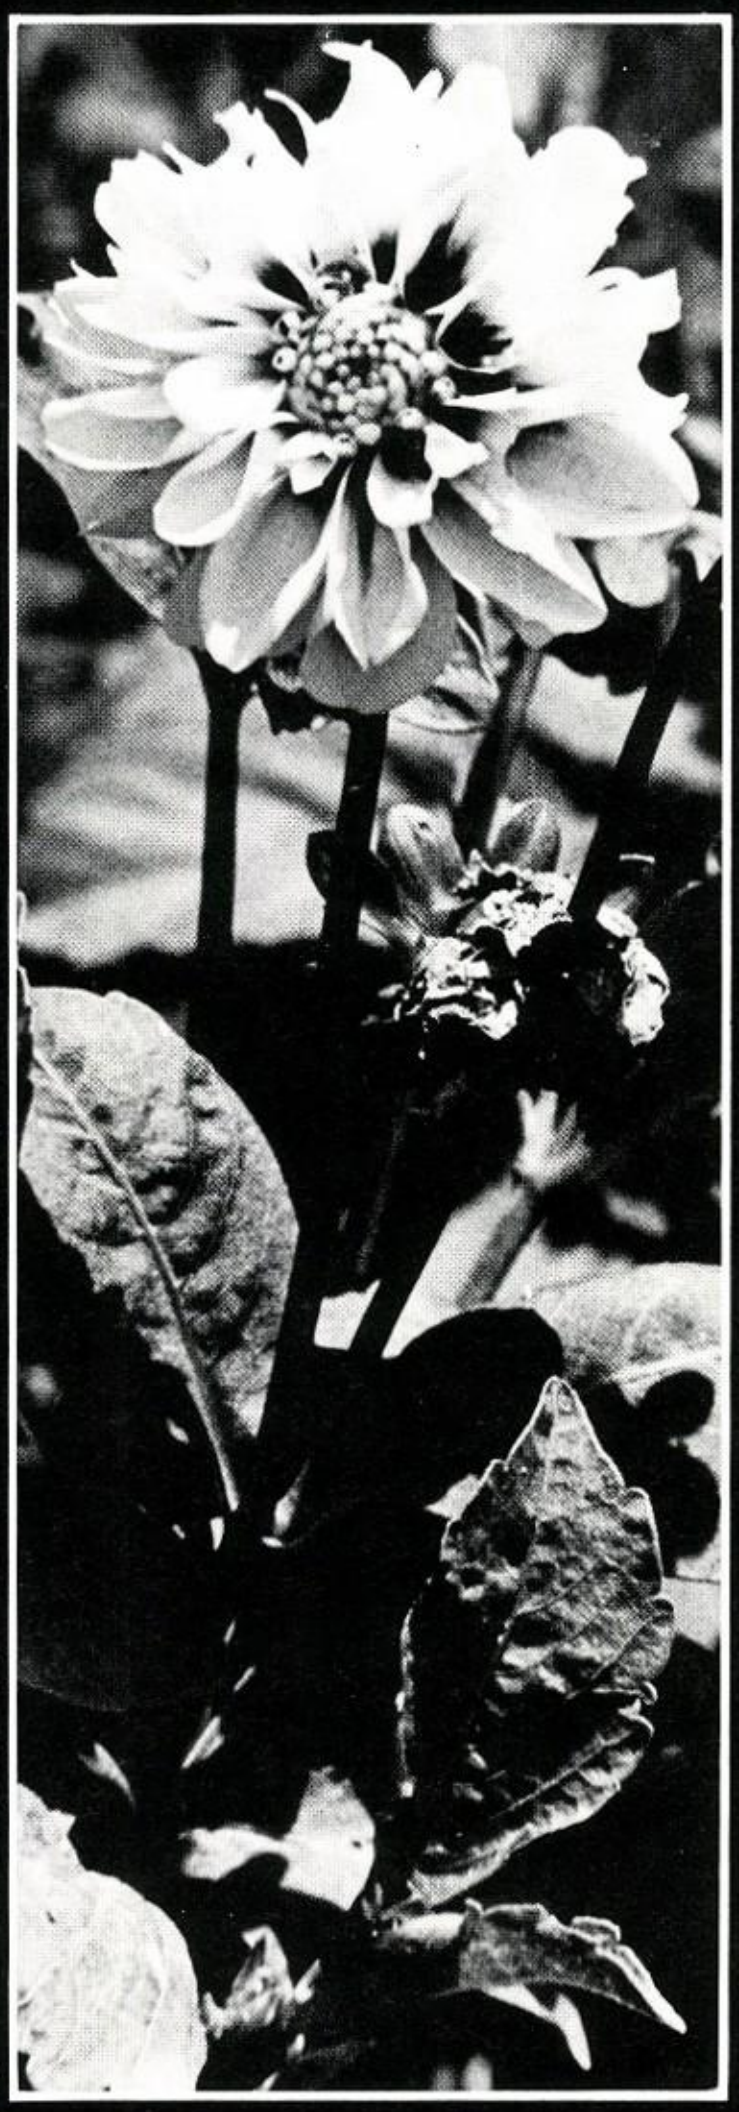
People can be measured by their activities. All of us have our limits, of course, and sometimes we reach them before we should. We all need sleep - except the elementary.



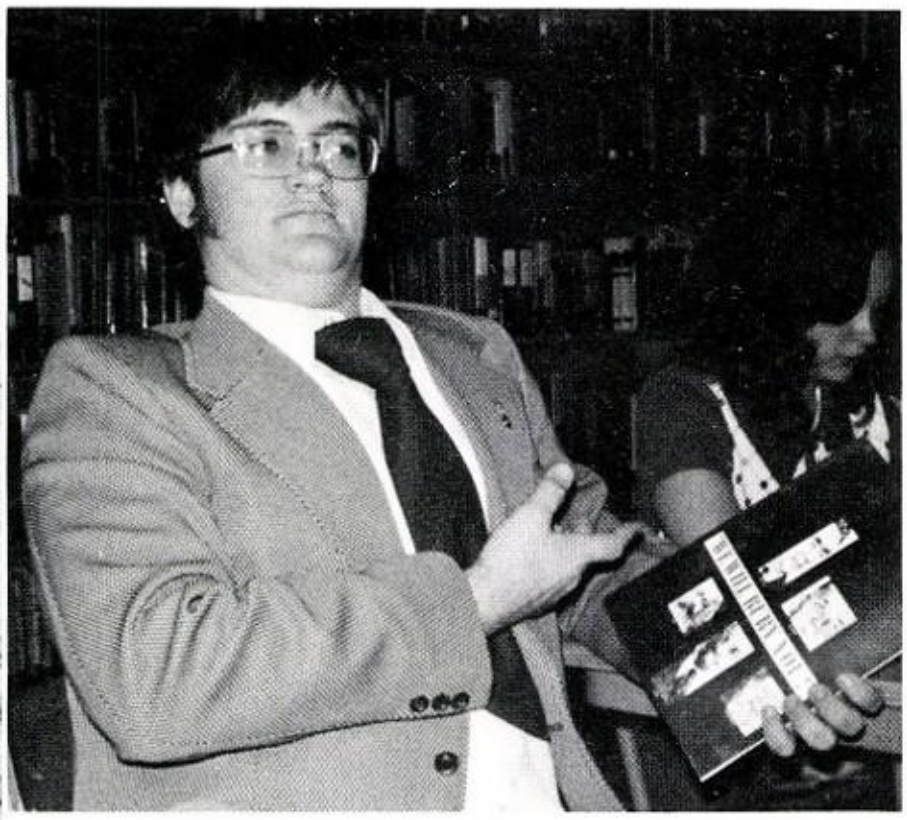


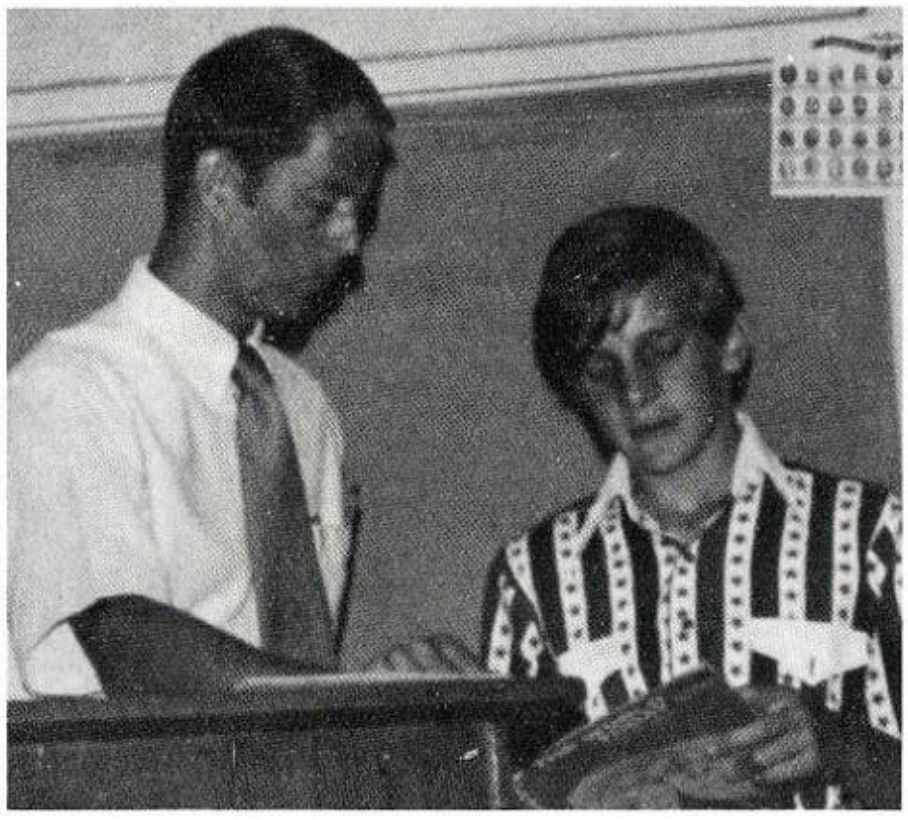


STUDENT LIFE

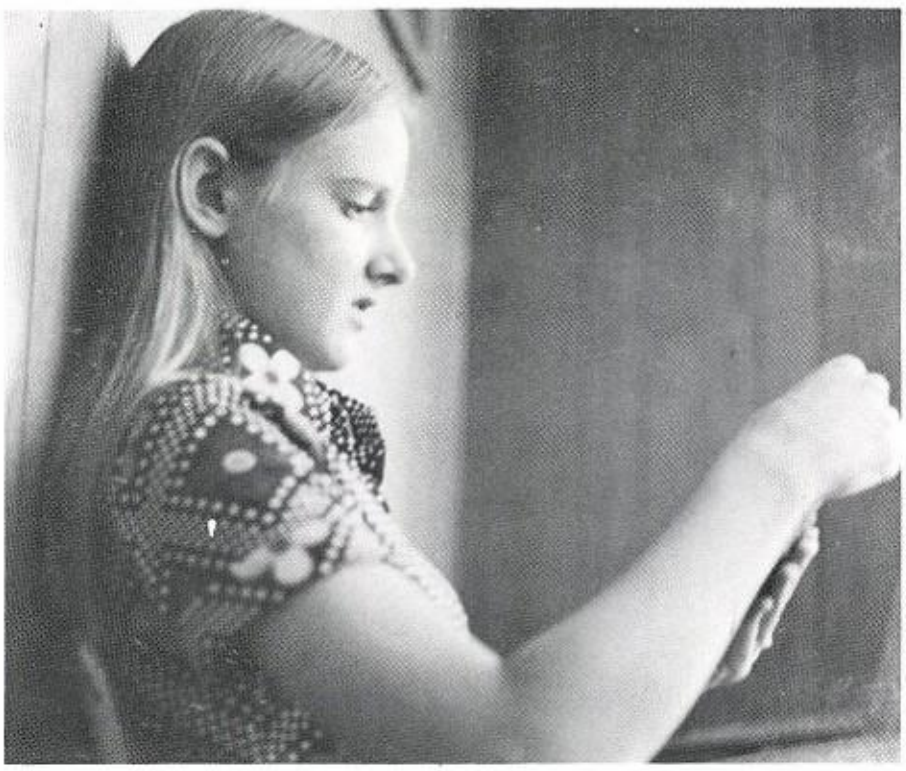
From the loudest time of day to the most quiet, the students of Dallas Christian can be found involved in a variety of activities.

Mr. Henderson offers advice while Monty Brecheen feigns ready to give some; Steve Wilkinson needs some advice about his furry friend and Marsha Wright couldn't care less.

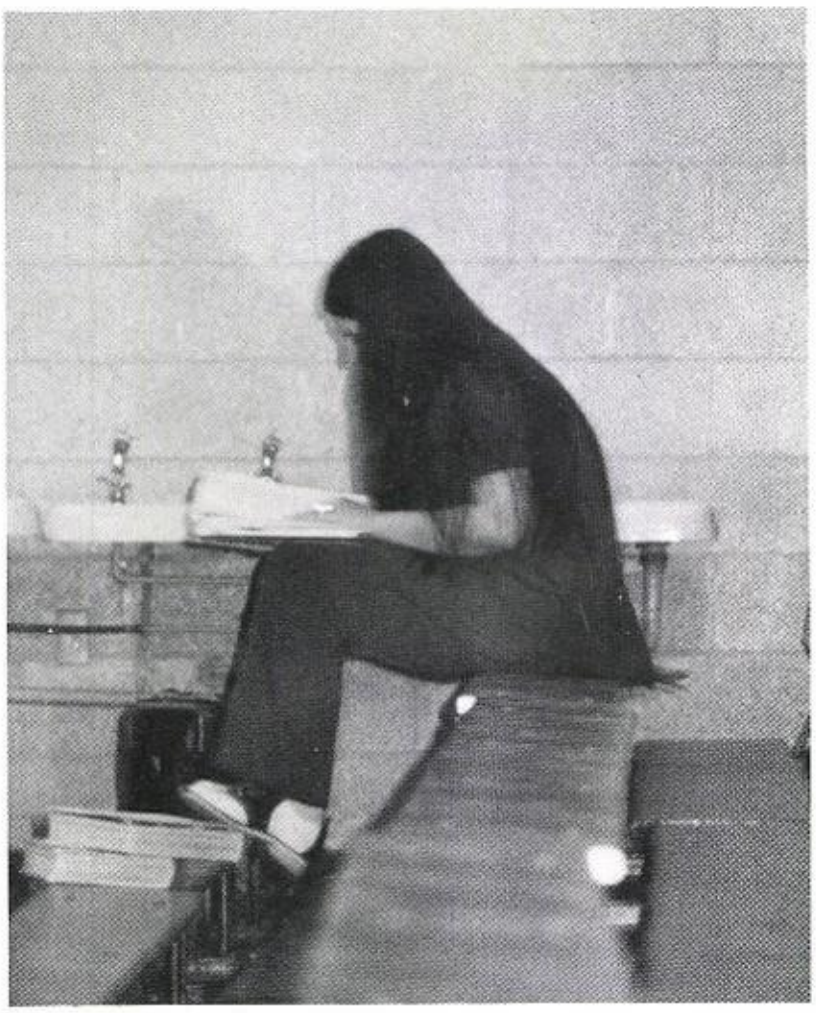




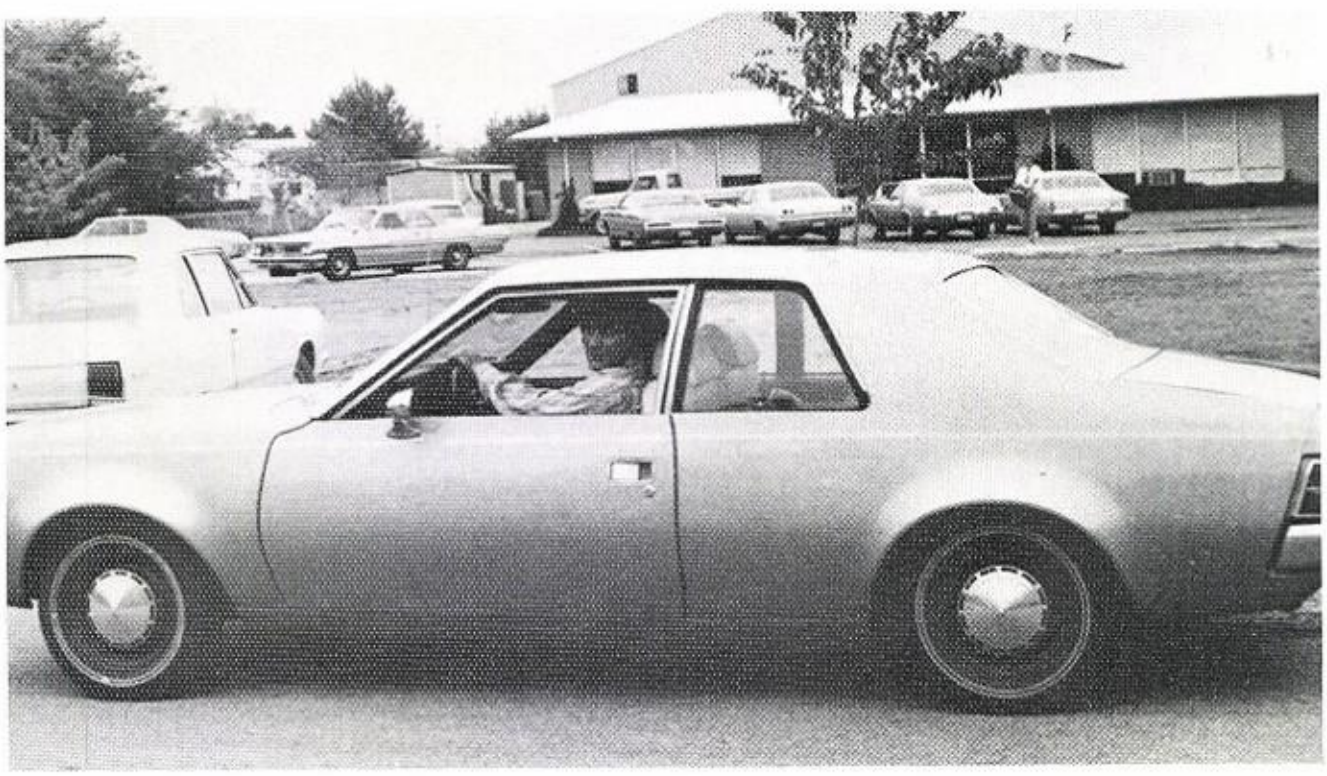
Daily Activities Reflect



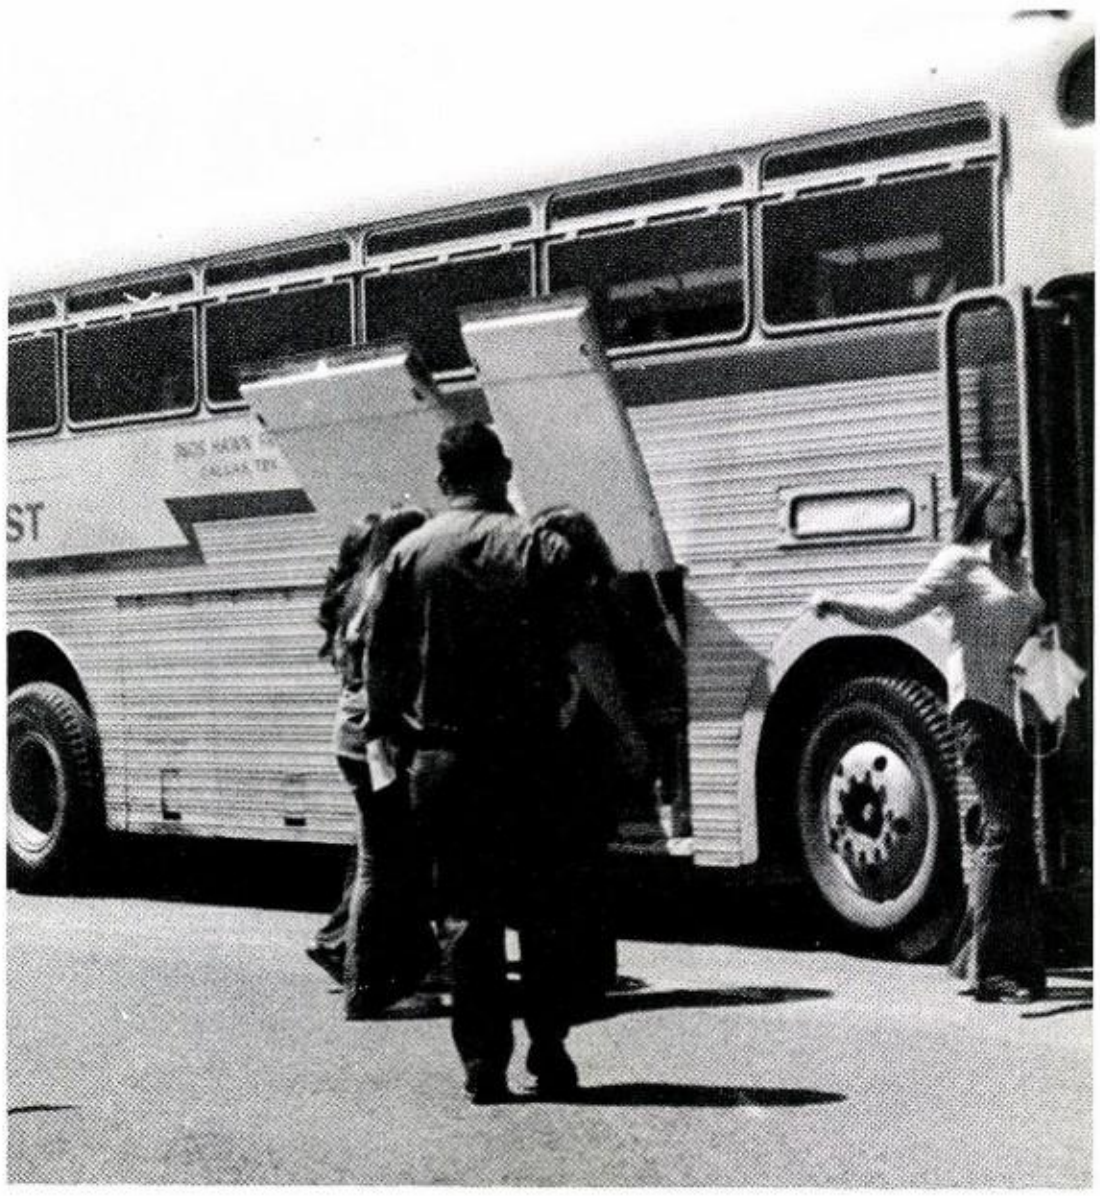
Students' Personalities

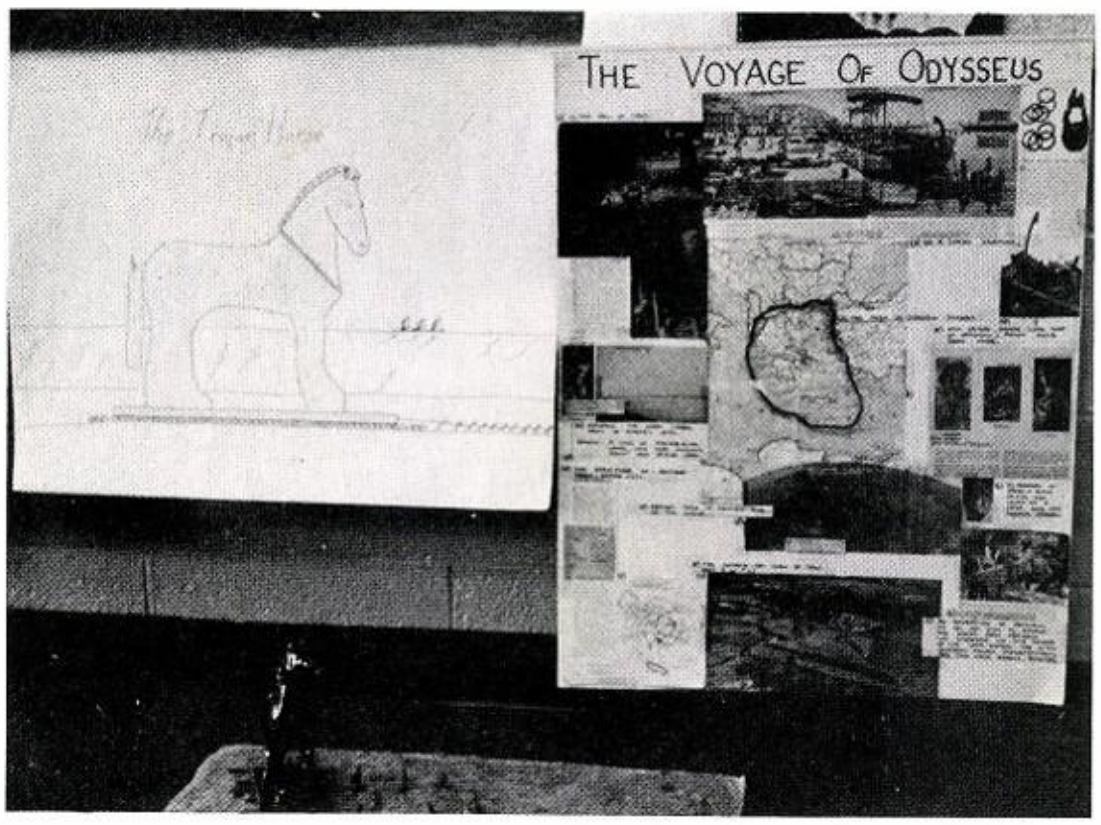


From the halls of Dallas Christian could probably come the most formidable "spades" team in the world. Kati Maris plays table tennis, Karen Latham takes time out to study and Robert Chapman prepares for what may turn out to be the second big "Car Bash" of the year!



Class projects, after-lunch baseball games and bus trips all make up more of the daily scene. And, of course, there's always Don Cobler.





PERSONALITIES

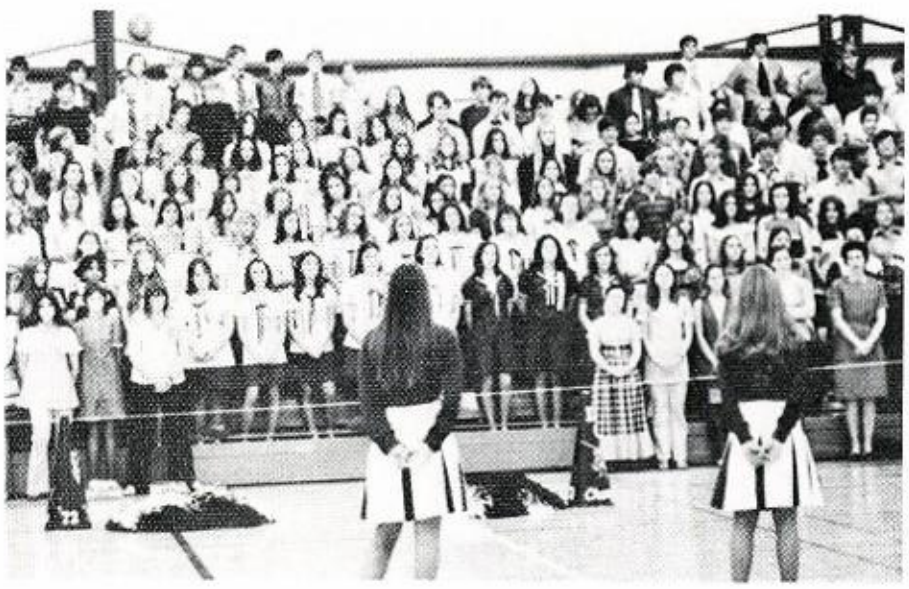
Football Queen Announced

Three girls have been honored with the yearly football Homecoming Queen nomination. They are Terrye Cox, right, Susan Goodspeed, below, and Queen Julie Hall, opposite. Terrye is a cheerleader and a member of FHA and chorus. She has been attending Dallas Christian for five years. Susan Goodspeed, in her second year at DC, is senior class treasurer and a member of the Spanish Club and National Honor Society.

Little Karen Lowe, sister of senior Rick Lowe, is a common sight at the varsity football games. Perhaps she, too, will some day be a homecoming queen or nominee, honors any girl would be proud to receive.

Lynn Yeldell Is Crowned

Homecoming nominees, clockwise, starting at right, are Vivian Scoggins, Judy Dunavant and Vicki Kirby.



Basketball Homecoming Queen

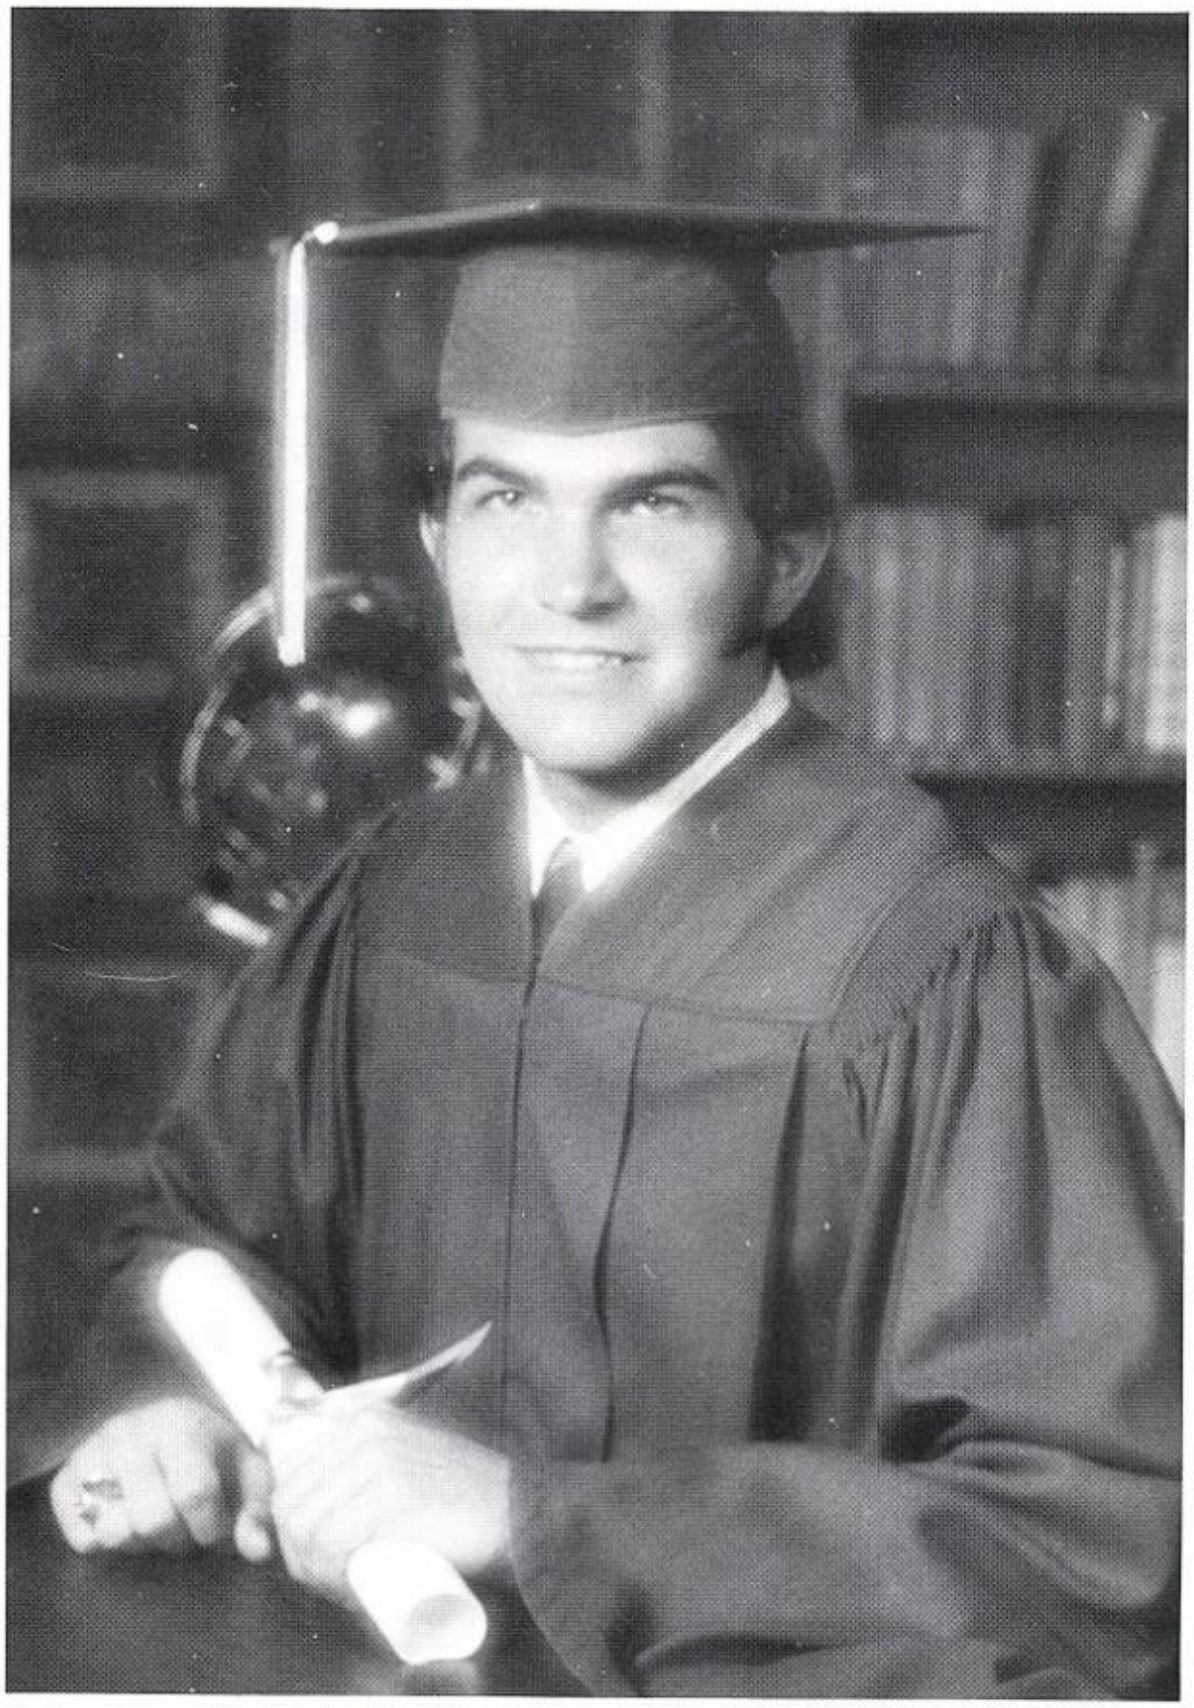
Haseltine Makes Highest Average for Four Years

With an average of 96.763 for four years of work, Jeffrey Oran Haseltine tops the senior class scholastically.

Active in many facets of school life, Jeff also maintains a constant search for truth through books, discussions with others and observation. He has much natural ability in many areas including science, social studies, English, journalism, music and drama. With all these interests, he finds time to study, observe and enjoy life.

For his high average Jeff received several scholarship offers including a full scholarship to attend Oklahoma Christian College where he plans to major in some phase of journalism or mass communications.



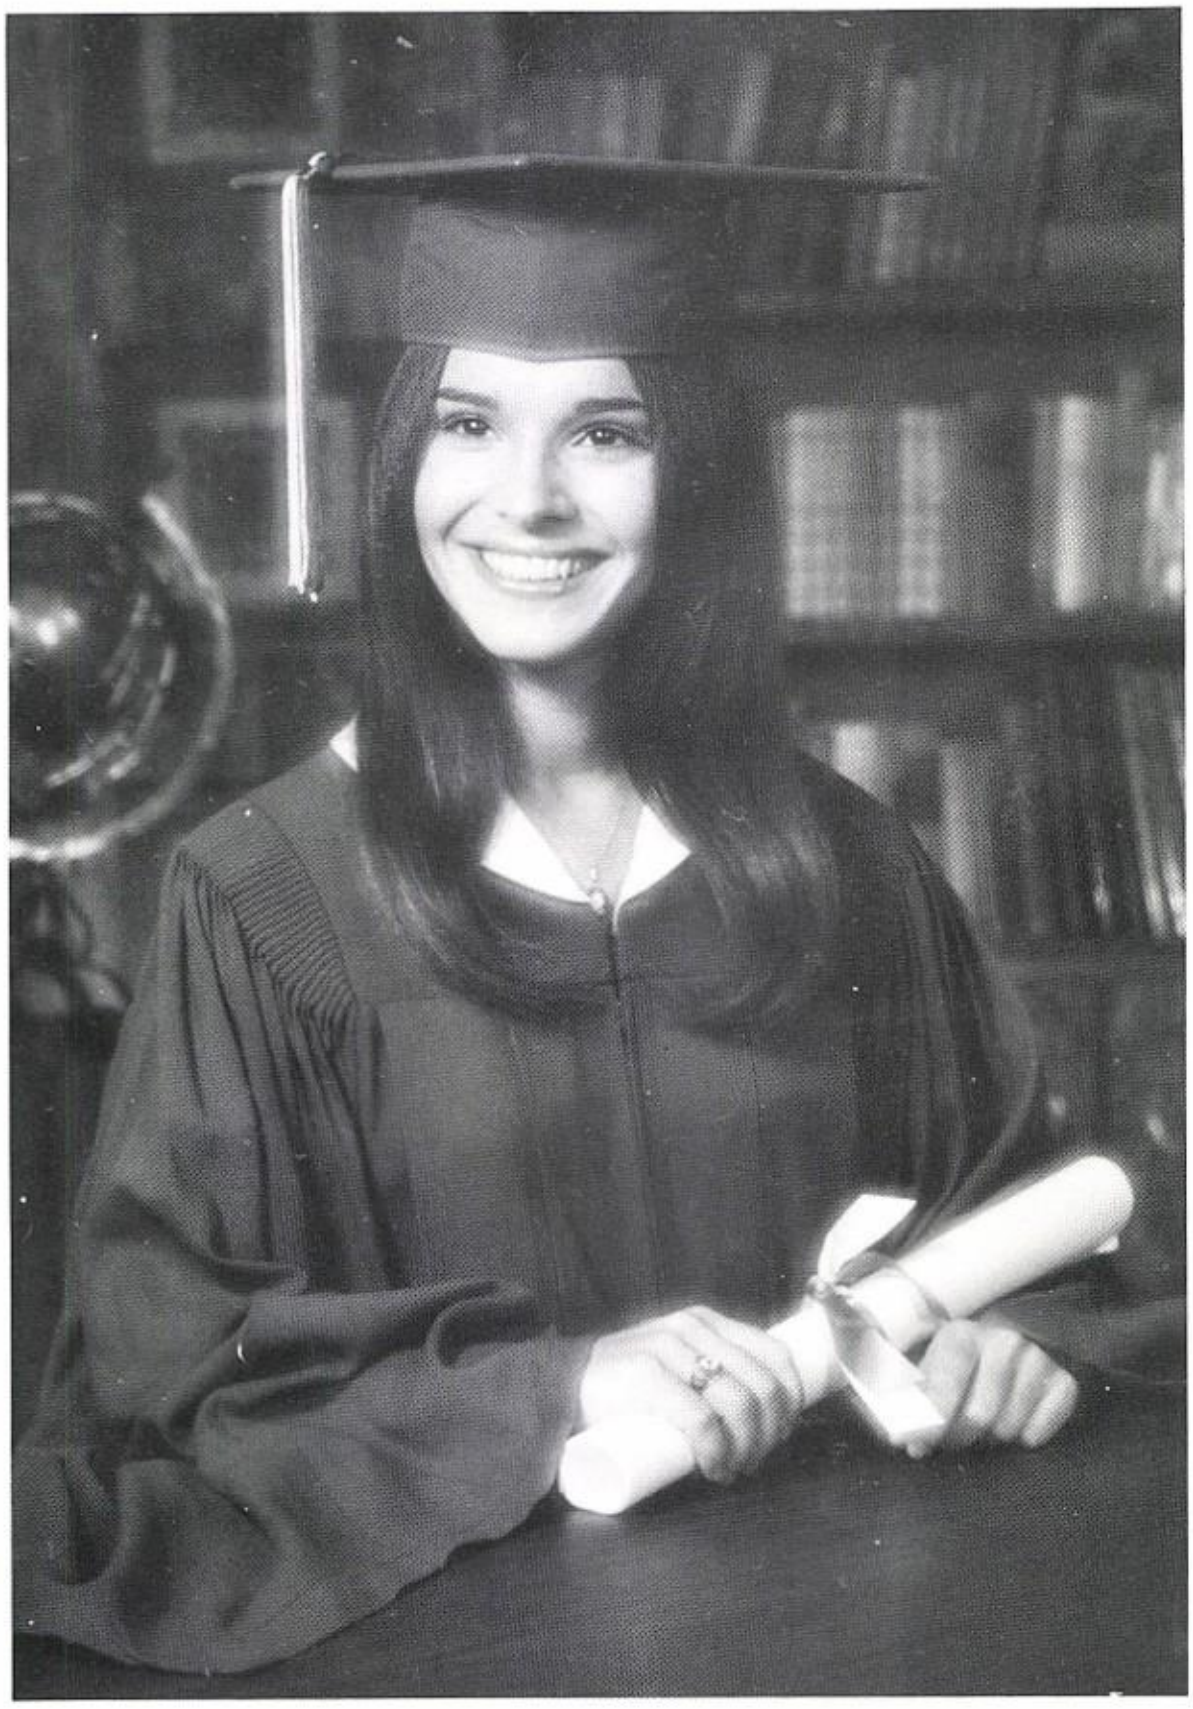
Kathy Guinn Makes Salutatorian

As salutatorian Kathy Gail Guinn has a 94.973 average for four years of work and is second highest in the senior class.

A conscientious student, Kathy also keeps up with school work and special interests such as being an actress in the senior play, attending class and club parties or reading.

Kathy also received scholarships from many colleges and universities but has chosen Oklahoma Christian College.

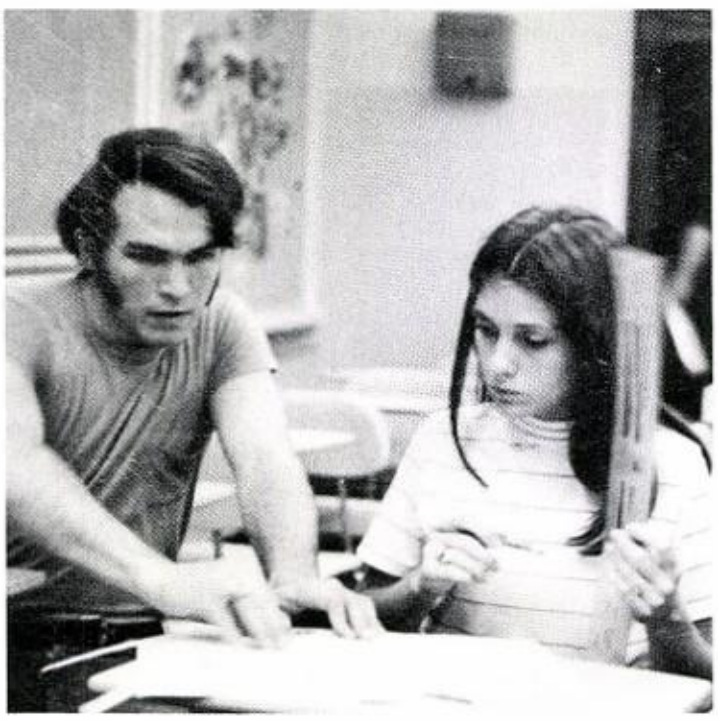
Classmates voted Kathy as the girl most likely to succeed after graduation. She is a member of Merit's Who's Who, the National Honor Society, A Cappella Chorus, FHA, the French and Pep Club. Kathy was news editor of the newspaper and was secretary for the 1973 senior class.



Students Honored as Mr. and Miss DCHS

Two students, who in the estimation of the student body and faculty, best typify the image of Dallas Christian High School are Jeffrey Oran Haseltine and Susan Jo Goodspeed. Both Jeff and Susan exhibit high Christian standards in everything they do. Their love for others and for the Truth have classed them with other legendary examples of DCHS honorees.

Throughout their years at this school they have amassed honors, praise and admiration. Jeff's awards range from science, social studies, math, journalism, English and scholarship, to wittiest and most likely to succeed. He is the first National Merit Finalist in the annals of school history and has served his classes in many leadership capacities from class president to treasurer. Well-received by his peers the honoree continues the same type leadership in Christian service at his home congregation, the Pleasant Grove Church of Christ.



Susan also displays warmth and understanding to everyone. Her honors have included Homecoming nominee, Outstanding Teenager and High School Student and like Jeff, she maintains a high scholastic average and membership in the National Honor Society. Being active in the organizations of each of the nominees, comes naturally to them and Susan typically has served as an officer almost every year of high school in some club. She is an active member of the Beckley Heights Church of Christ where her father serves as minister and always stands ready to help others who need it.

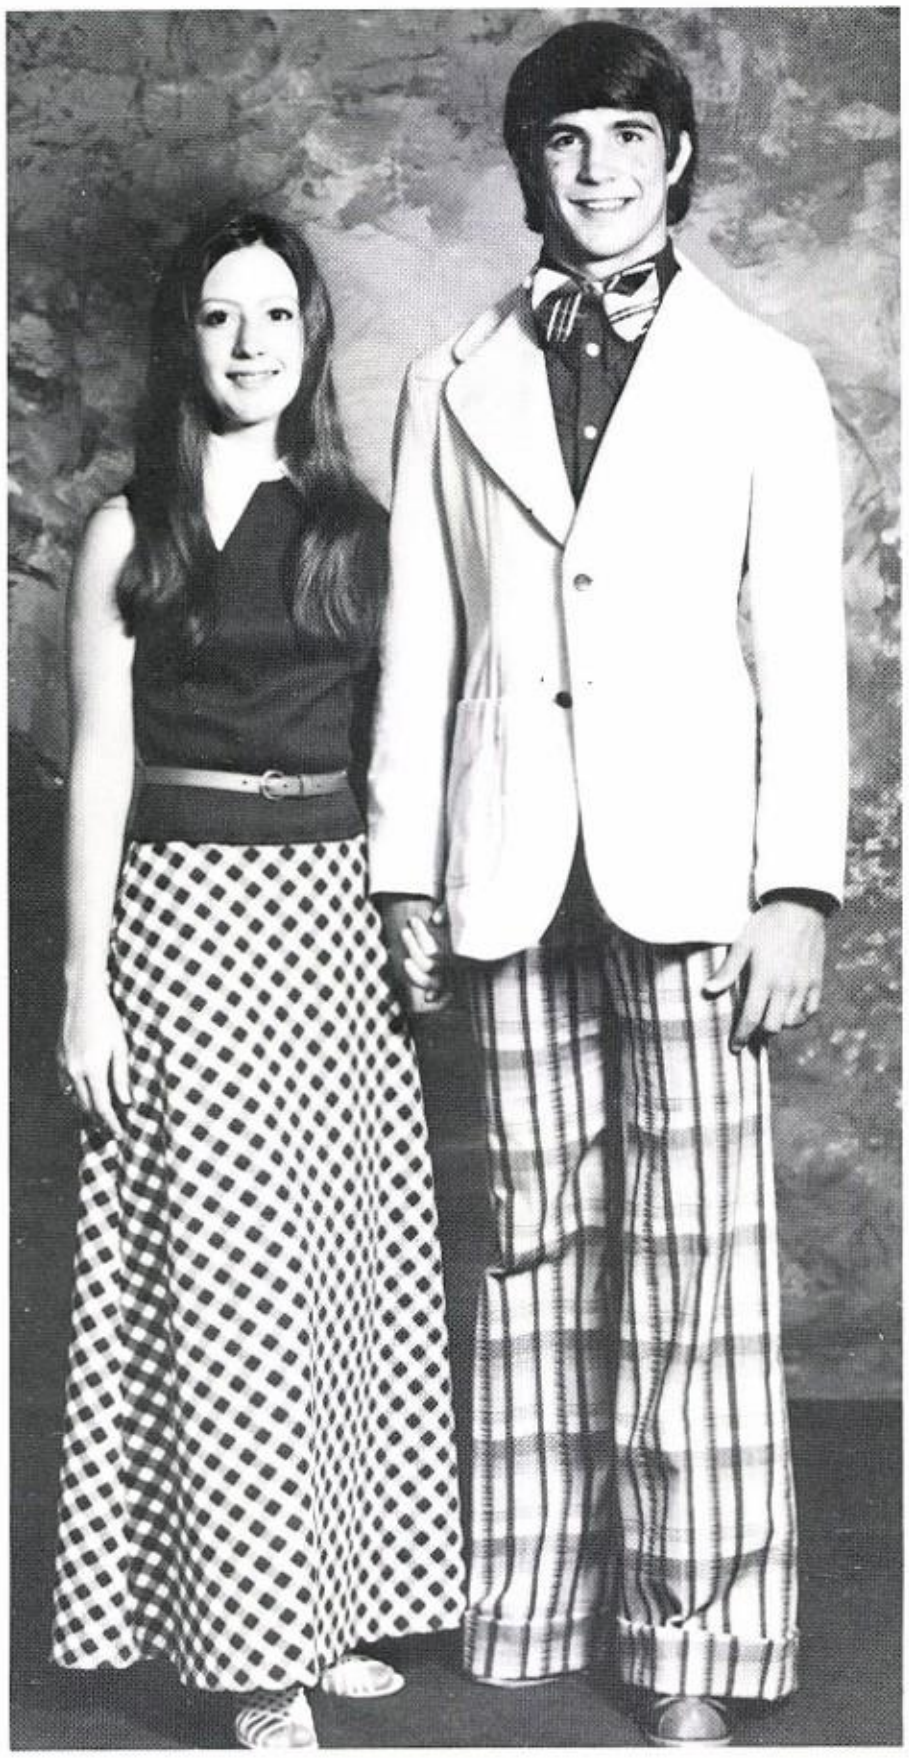
Being a friend includes honesty and integrity on the part of Susan and Jeff who try to remain unbiased and open-minded to the problems of others. Because of all these characteristics and many more deeper reasons, Jeff Haseltine and Susan Goodspeed merit the honor of Mr. and Miss Dallas Christian High School.

Three couples were runners up as DCHS Nominees. Pictured below are seniors Dwayne Black and Terrye Cox. Both are active in many campus organizations. Dwayne was an All-Conference Honorable Mention and All-Private Honorable Mention selection in football and was on the All-Private Honorable Team in basketball. He served as Student Council president and was a member of the senior play cast. Terrye was cheerleader, Homecoming nominee and both Terrye and Dwayne were listed in the Merit Who's Who and Outstanding Teenagers of America.

At right on opposite page are Barry Packer and Judy Dunavant. They are nominees along with Cheryl Hampton and Billy Alexander at the bottom of page 87. Judy, a senior, was head cheerleader, a member of Student Council and the National Honor Society. She was in Merit Who's Who and Outstanding Teen of America as well as Barry Packer. Barry served as vice president of Student Council and president of the junior class. He was active in A Cappella and was a columnist for the newspaper.

Cheryl Hampton, senior, was feature editor of the paper, was in National Honor Society, FHA, Pep Club and Spanish Club. Billy Alexander was All-Conference in football, was in the French Club, received the French award and participated in Letterman's Club.

Nominees Chosen by Students for DCHS



Some of the personalities chosen by the annual staff from the junior and senior classes are pictured on these pages.

Below are Most Likely to Succeed Jeff Haseltine and Kathy Guinn. Both made high scholastic scores for their four years at DC. Their excellence in all they undertake makes them perfect candidates for success.

On the opposite page are Mark Stephens and Jocelyn Faulkner, Most Spirited. Mark and Jocelyn spark enthusiasm in all their associations with campus organizations. Both are seniors.

Chosen Most Athletic boy was Larry Richey and Most Feminine girl was another senior, Vicki Kirby. Vicki helps Larry choose a piece of chopped wood.

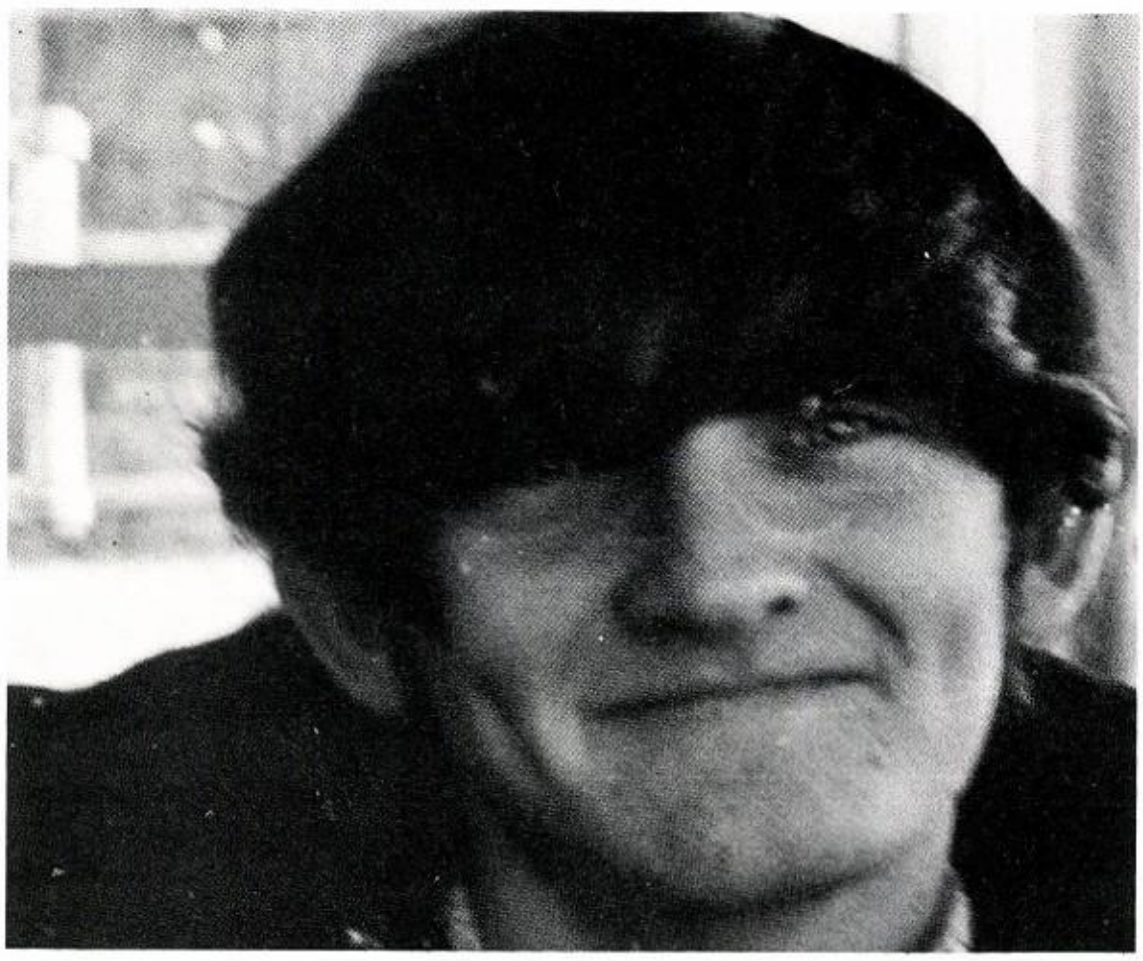
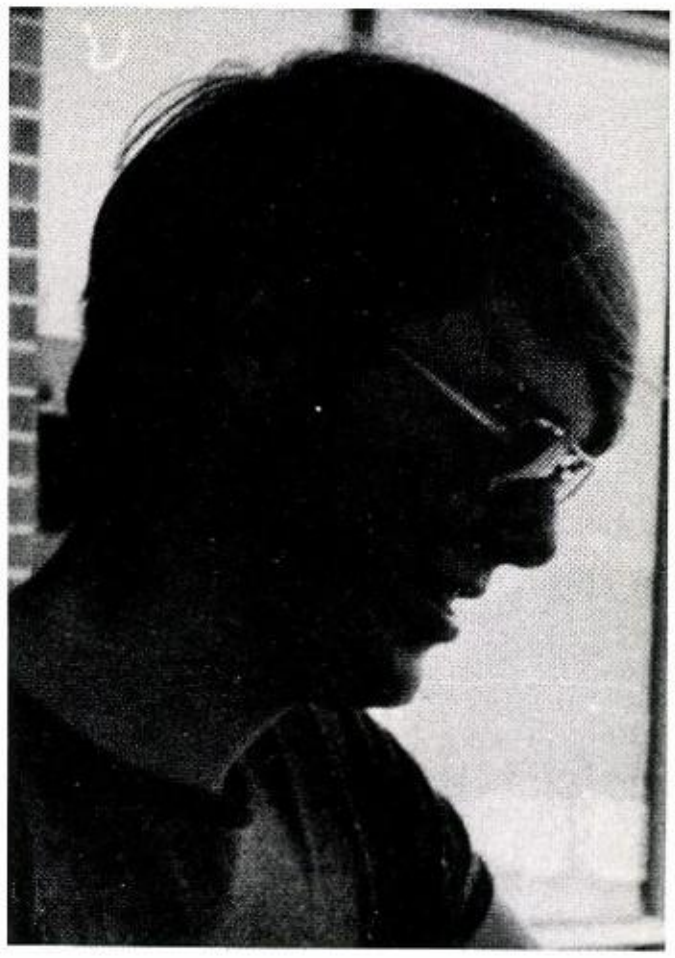
Students Honored

Receiving the yearbook award for outstanding journalism this year was Jeff Haseltine, yearbook editor. Because of his diligent work and talented efforts toward more journalistic appearance in the yearbook, Jeff received the honor. He is not only a mature writer but he also possesses many natural journalistic skills in art, makeup, design and typography. Jeff's abilities transcend the normal but more than that, he has used his abilities to teach others some of the skills he possesses. This is why he was chosen to receive this award.

Two persons who became very important to the yearbook were G Verga and Tom Cowell, left, who spent countless man-hours photographing, developing and printing pictures. Both are skilled photographers and are concerned about teaching their skills to others. They helped set up and organize Dallas Christian's first photographic darkroom and for their efforts these special awards for photography were given to them.





ORGANIZATIONS

Student Council Promotes

Unity and Leadership

Student Council representatives meet to discuss problems and plans with President Dwayne Black. Some of the representatives are: seniors - Ann Campbell, Cheryl Hampton and Mark Stephens; juniors - Cary Black, Dawn Simons and Tim Sloan; sophomores - Kubby Avance, LaCinda Willits and Don Hebbard; freshmen - Susie Avance, Roger Langley and Stefanie Swigger; eighth - Jimmy Black, Jon Vaughan, Lee Cobler and Terry Neu; seventh - Paul Cox and Sue Anderson.

All representatives bring their ideas and complaints to the meetings as they represent their respective classes.

Service and Organization

Below, waiting for the activities to begin are faculty members Barbara Gleason, Virginia Leatherwood, Janice Sewell and Susie Moore.

Are Main Goals

It is the job of the Student Council to maintain a working relationship with the Board and Administration, as well as to plan projects for the students. To do this, it must keep a high level of unity among the students themselves, and bring out the ideas of the pupils. Being the most wide-reaching student government organization, the Student Council is in many ways the most important group on campus.

In his last year at Dallas Christian, Director Wayne McReynolds formed one of the best choruses in the history of the school. Numerous congregational concerts as well as the annual chorus tour provided a broad exposure, drawing many compliments from all quarters. Competing in a tri-state musical festival in Enid, Oklahoma, the chorus scored high in both girls' chorus and full chorus.

The purpose of the National Junior Honor Society is to recognize those who, in the words of the Certificate of Membership, have qualities of "scholarship, leadership, service and character." Although grades in solid subject areas are a basic criteria for membership in either organization, there are other attributes required.

Both groups provide incentive for higher academic achievement throughout the year.

NHS induction at a special ceremony is the major event of the year for the honor group.

There is not a limit to the number of students who can be members of a particular chapter.

The Spanish Club consisted of forty-one members this year, one of the largest memberships this club has ever had. The first project of the year was a continuation of one of last year's projects. The club collected money and bought Bibles to send to missionaries in Spain. This was the major project of the year. The members also enjoyed the annual outing to El Fenix for dinner together. Later in the year, the female members of the Spanish Club tested various recipes for Spanish food, and all members participated in a testing party at the home of the sponsor, Doris Alexander.

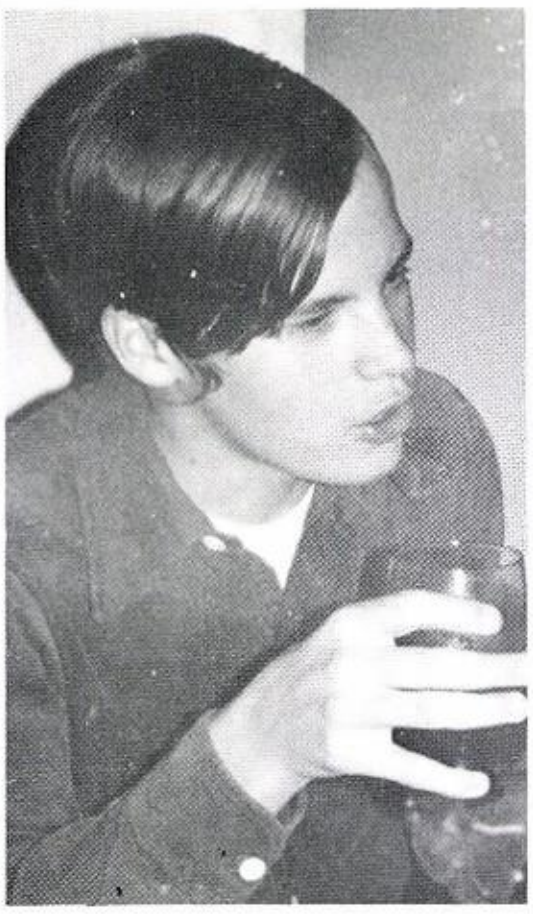
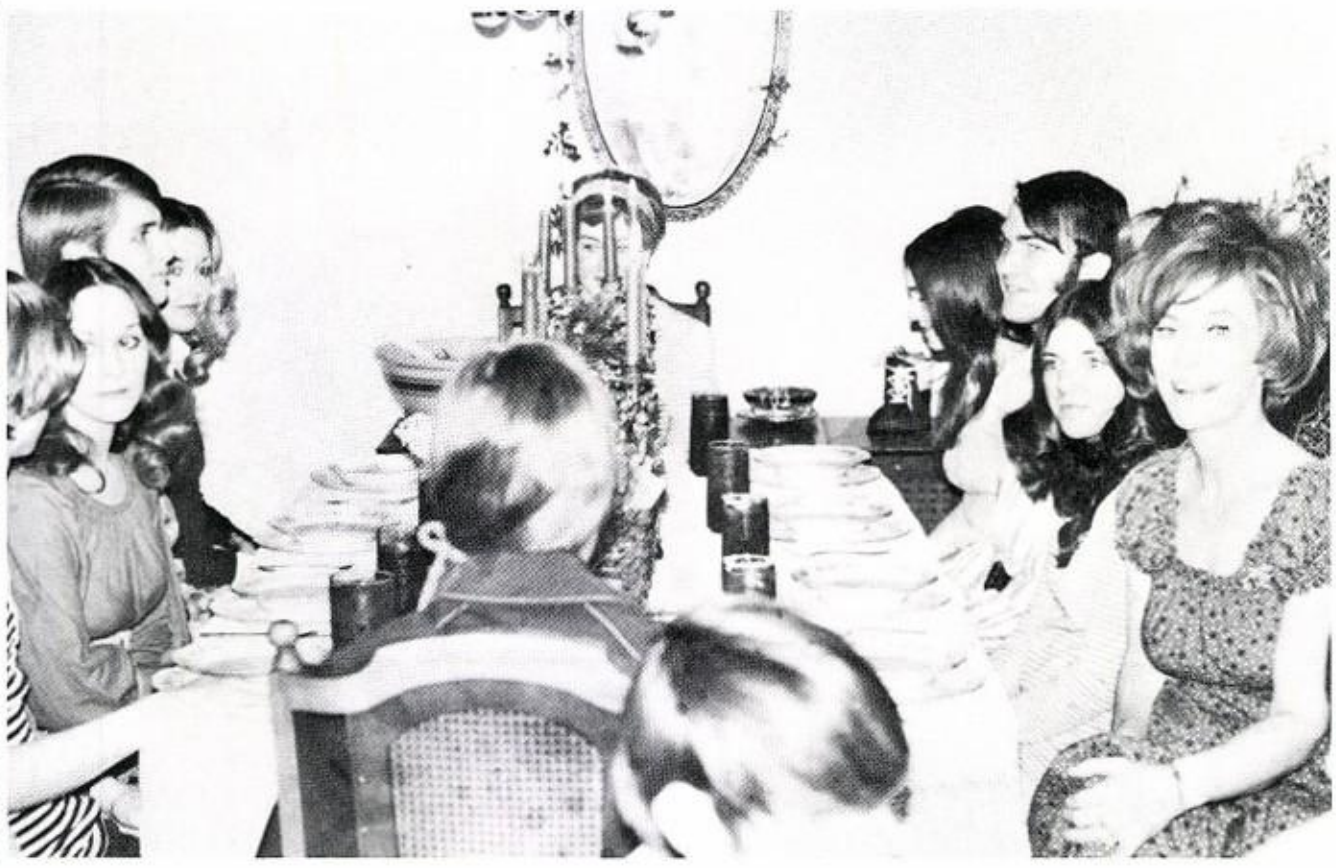
French Club Dines in Style



The French Club members this year celebrated their study of the French language by engaging in two dinners. The dinners featured exotic French foods. The grand finale of the first dinner, which was held at Teri Verga's house, was a dessert of Cherries Jubilee, a flaming French dish. The second dinner took place at Steve Wilkinson's house. Officers presiding over this club are Steve Wilkinson, president; David Campbell, vice president; Kathy Guinn, secretary-treasurer. The French Club sponsor is Susie Moore. Other members are Phil Abbot, Billy Alexander, David Alexander, Steve Hammond, Jeff Haseltine, David Howard, Chet Jones, Teri Verga and Karen Corrick.



Newspaper Staff Publishes School News

For the first time in the history of Dallas Christian a journalism class was formulated for the purpose of publishing the school newspaper, The Torch. A member of the class and editor of the 14th publication was Jerilyn Knipp, senior. Aiding her was Teri Verga, assistant editor. Brad Nevil, Connie Price and Dawn Simons comprised the other journalism students who spent many hours selling ads, sorting pictures, writing copy and organizing information for the newspaper.

In addition to a study of other papers, the journalism staff also visited The Dallas Morning News where they learned first-hand information and personal stories from reporters, editors and columnists.

Striving toward more journalistic makeup and typography, the newspaper became a history of campus news events.

To achieve more professional help, The Torch joined the Texas High School Press Association critical service. The 1972-73 publications will be judged individually and as a complete newspaper next fall.

Squire Staff Compiles Yearbook

Compiling a large book of school history is a gargantuan task for annual staff members. Plans are made each year for covers, special effects and appearance of a new book which records for posterity school history.

Editing the 1973 edition of The Squire is Jeff Haseltine, senior, who plans and correlates all sections of the book to meet specifications of the Texas High School Press Association and to please an audience of students, parents and other interested persons. With high goals for a more professional and consistent yearbook, Jeff and other members of the staff work diligently to create a student-oriented yet individualistic approach to DCHS.

Members of the annual staff, in addition to their workshops and group meetings, also made a trip through the Channel 8 television studios to note another aspect of professional journalism and the mass media. When all the final copy has been written and the last photos are cropped students find a real sense of accomplishment in acquiring many new skills.

Pictured below is Robby Drennan, advertising manager, and his assistant, Les Thompson. Robby's staff sold more than $800 worth of advertising to help cover publication costs. Many members of the staff used their afternoons after school and time during holidays to sell ads throughout the city of Dallas.

Education of the individual depends, of course, on the application that person makes of himself. But there are others who help. Most obvious are our parents and teachers, who daily offer advice and instruction in various areas. And what of those younger than us? Much can be learned from the honest simplicity of a small child.

Each year the cheerleaders provide a great amount of encouragement for the coaches, athletes, and pep club. Much time and hard work is required for the girls to do their jobs, and, of course, spirit. Organizing pep rallies and working with girls before tryouts for the next year's cheerleaders are among the duties of the six, as well as constant practice. These girls, leading the way in spirit for support of the Chargers, are always very much appreciated.

The Letterman's Club of 1972-73 enjoyed one of their finest years. Money was raised for the athletic program through pancake breakfasts and the selling of Charger jerseys. Among the works of the Letterman's Club this year was the presenting of trophies to the coaches for their outstanding contribution to Dallas Christian.

Seniors: David Alexander, Victor Bearden, Dwayne Black, Monty Brecheen, Rick Lowe, John Reeder, Larry Richey, and Mark Stephens.

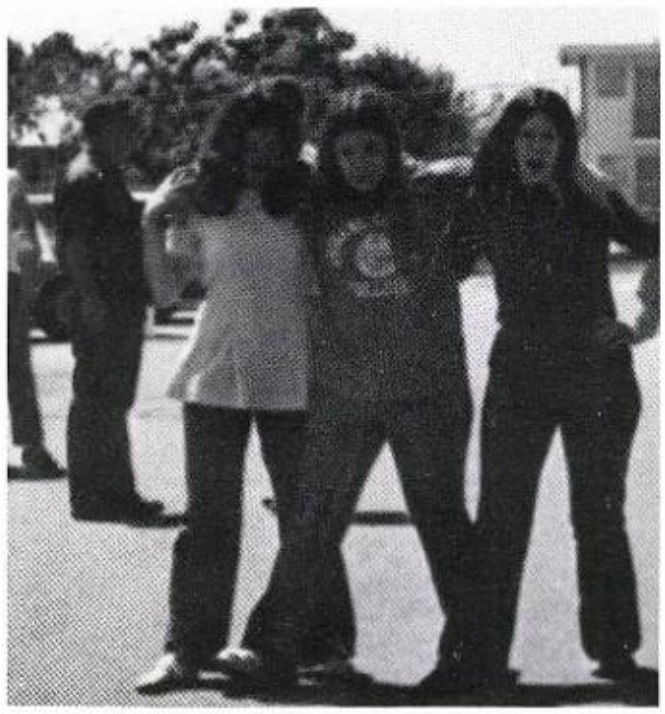
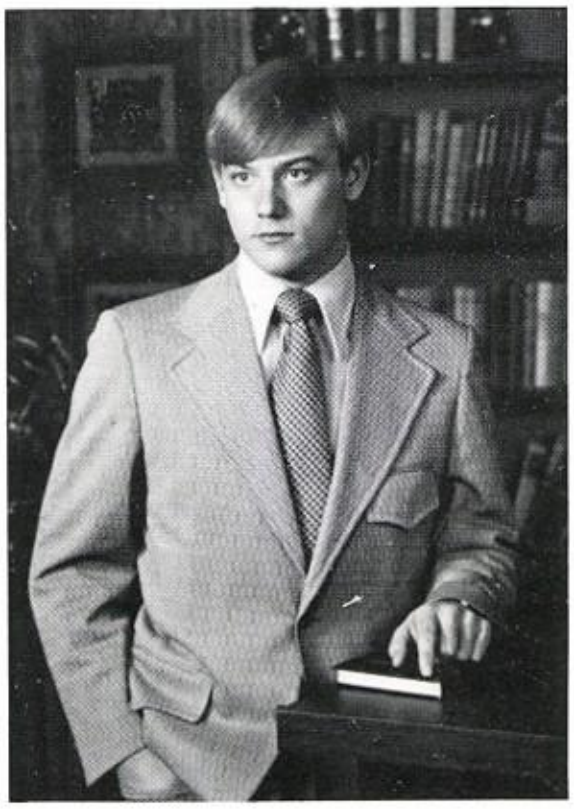
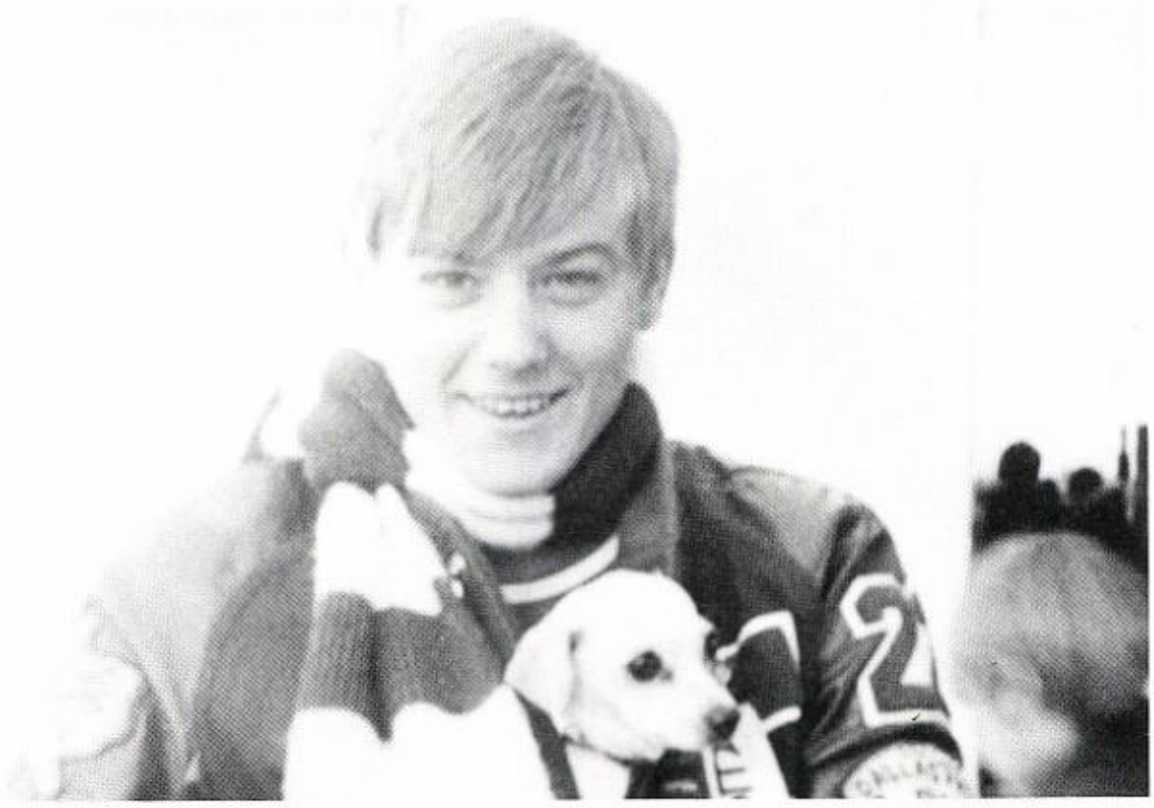
The FHA, Future Homemakers of America, is one of the larger organizations of Dallas Christian. In raising money for the projects through the year, the girls have sold stationery and candy. One project is its annual banquet, which gives the members an opportunity to invite the boys. This is a big event during the school year. With the money left in the treasury at the end of the year, the FHA members bought supplies for the school's Home Economics room.



Pictured at right are Jerilyn Knipp, Jocelynn Faulkner and Anne Campbell, all excited about the upcoming FHA Banquet.





Pictured above is the 1972-73 FHA Beau Rick Lowe. Rick is a Senior involved in both Varsity and Intramural sports. He has attended Dallas Christian for the last three years. Each year the members nominate four young men for the FHA Beau. At the annual FHA Banquet, the recipient of the honor is announced.

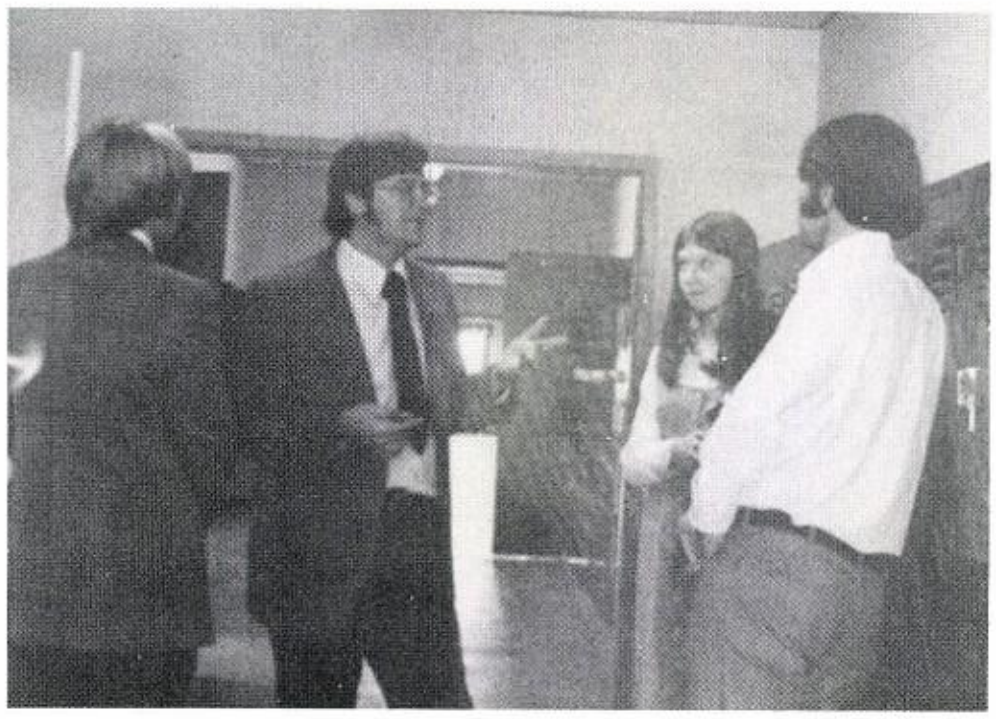
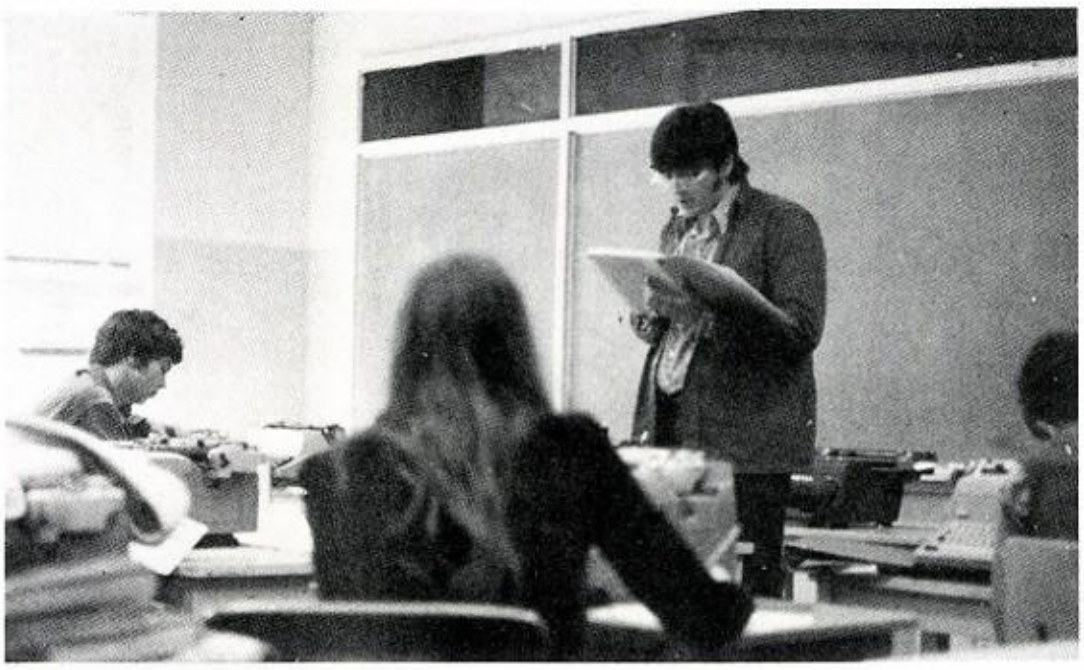
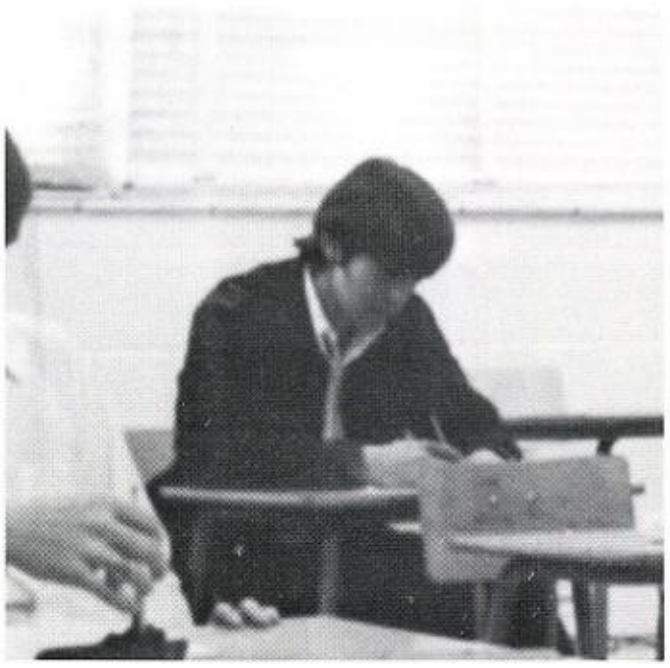
Speech tournaments throughout the Dallas area were attended this year by various members of this club. Among these were UIL meets at Sunset and Jesuit high schools and Forensic meets at St. Marks and Dallas Baptist. Dawn Simons, Monty Brecheen and Sandy Mayo placed in the finals of some of these large meets, in which Dallas Christian was the smallest school represented.

Advice and criticism from the club sponsors, Wayne McReynolds, Virginia Leatherwood, top, and Susie Moore, middle, are an integral part of preparations for meets. Right, President Monty Brecheen discusses some of the events with other members of the speech tournament team.

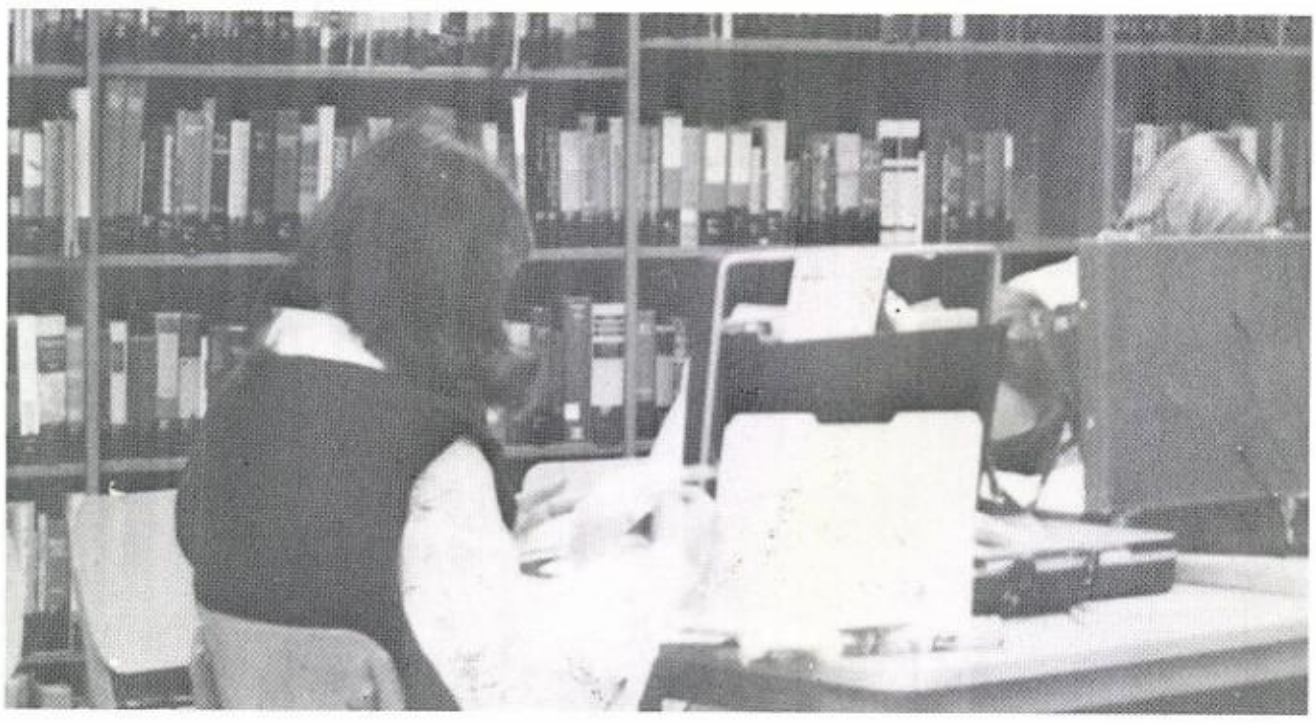




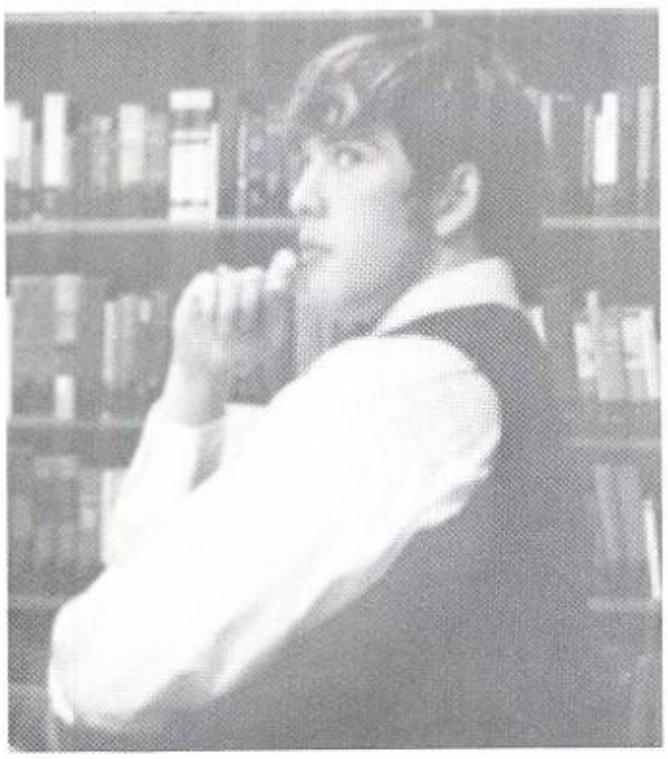
Much patience and practice is necessary for success, especially in the oral events of a tournament. Derek Pfiefer, left, and Monty Brecheen review their prose selections for the upcoming Christian Schools Literary Meet in Lubbock, Texas. The rewards are more, of course, than the trophies viewed by Tom Pinnell, above. The skills acquired and the personal gratification of a job well done provide incentive for hard work and preparation for the Drama and Speech Club.

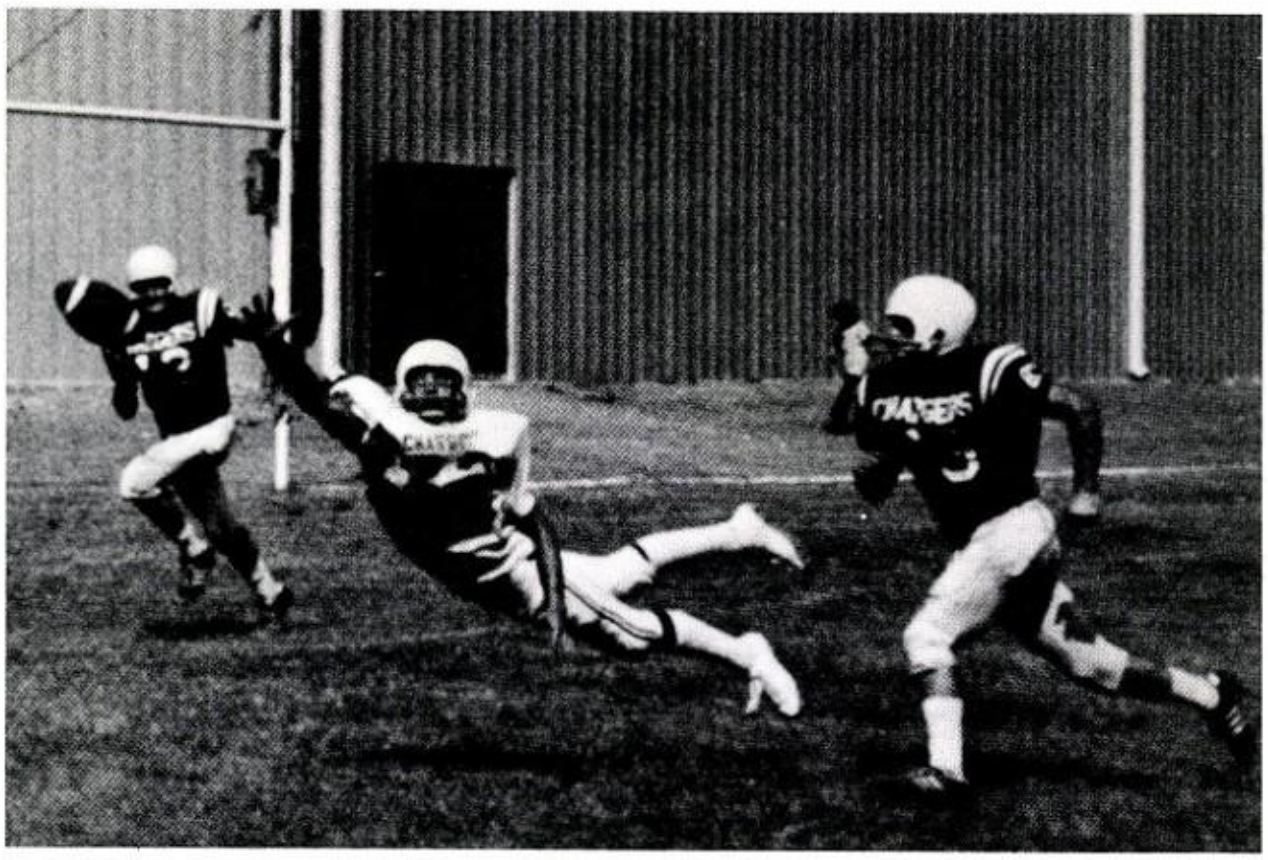


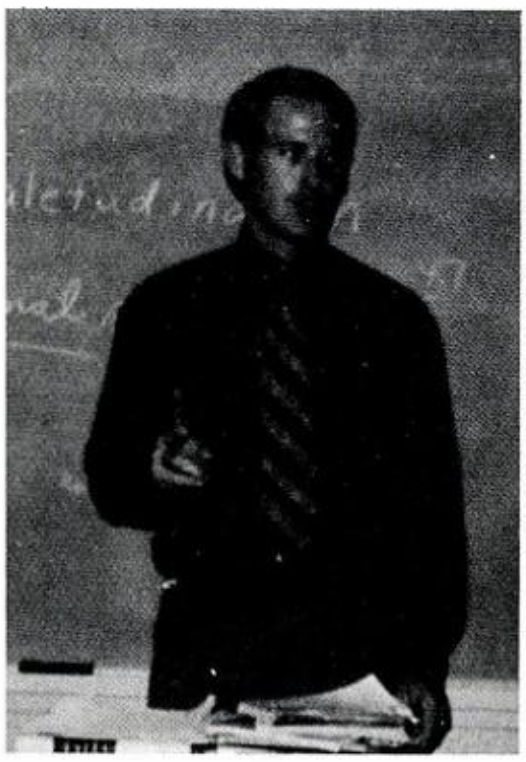
Bill Haseltine, above, proved surprising by winning first place in the Science contest in Lubbock. Melinda Pinnell is seen, upper right, giving her poetry reading. Speech and drama events bring out a myriad of talents in our students. Typists Sherry Butterfield and Laura Jones, right, warm up before their contest, while Keri Hood prepares her file for extemporaneous speaking, below. Women debaters Stephanie Smith and Sandy Mayo, opposite, organize their notes in preparation for a round at St. Marks. Sandy was part of the cast, directed by Wayne McReynolds, that won the one-act play contest in Lubbock. David Campbell, lower opposite, prepares to receive his topic for persuasive speaking.

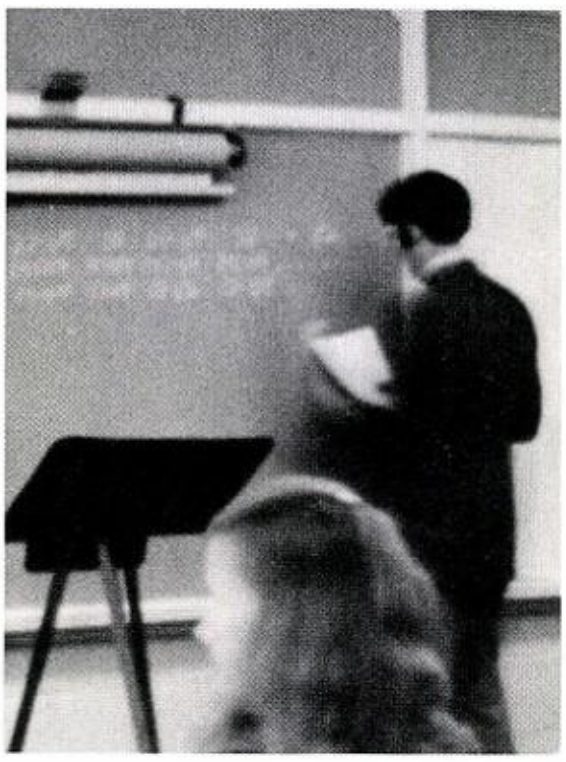


Officers for the 1972-73 Speech and Drama Club are Monty Brecheen, president; Teri Verga, vice president; secretary, Dawn Simons; treasurer, Jeff Haseltine. With more activities this year than in several past years, contest speech and drama is rising in interest at Dallas Christian.







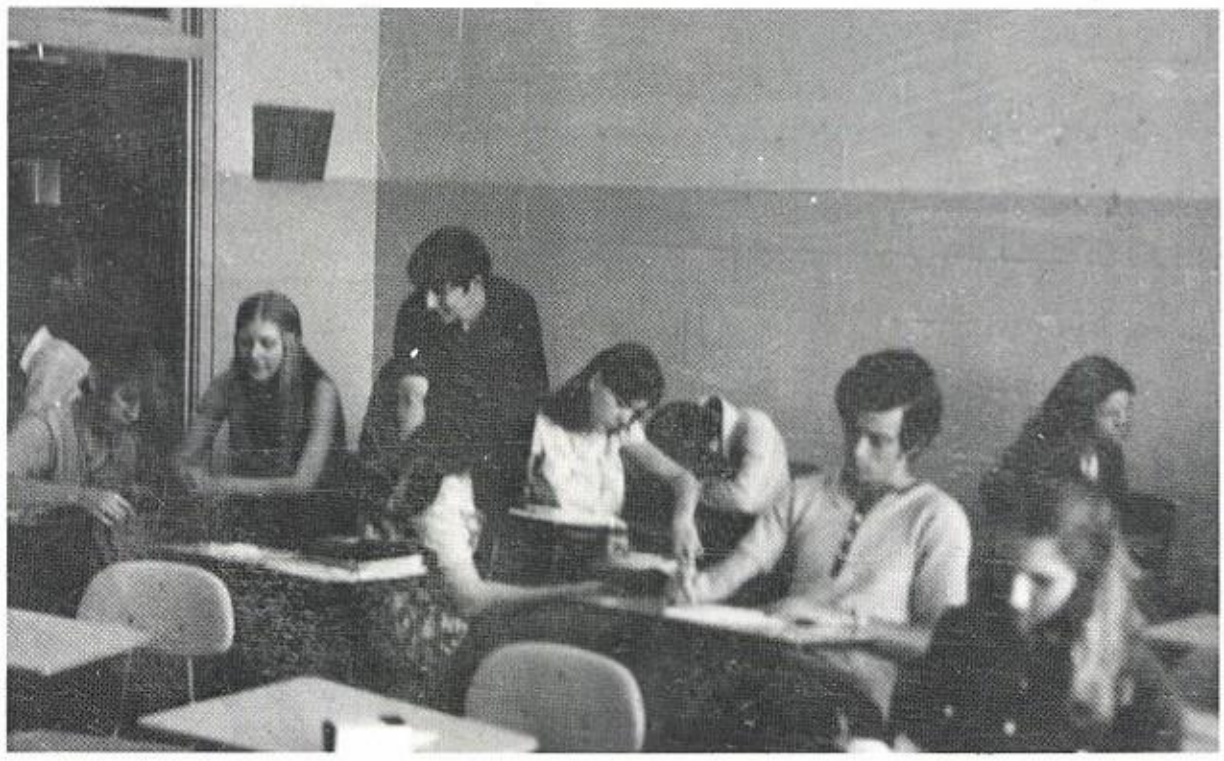


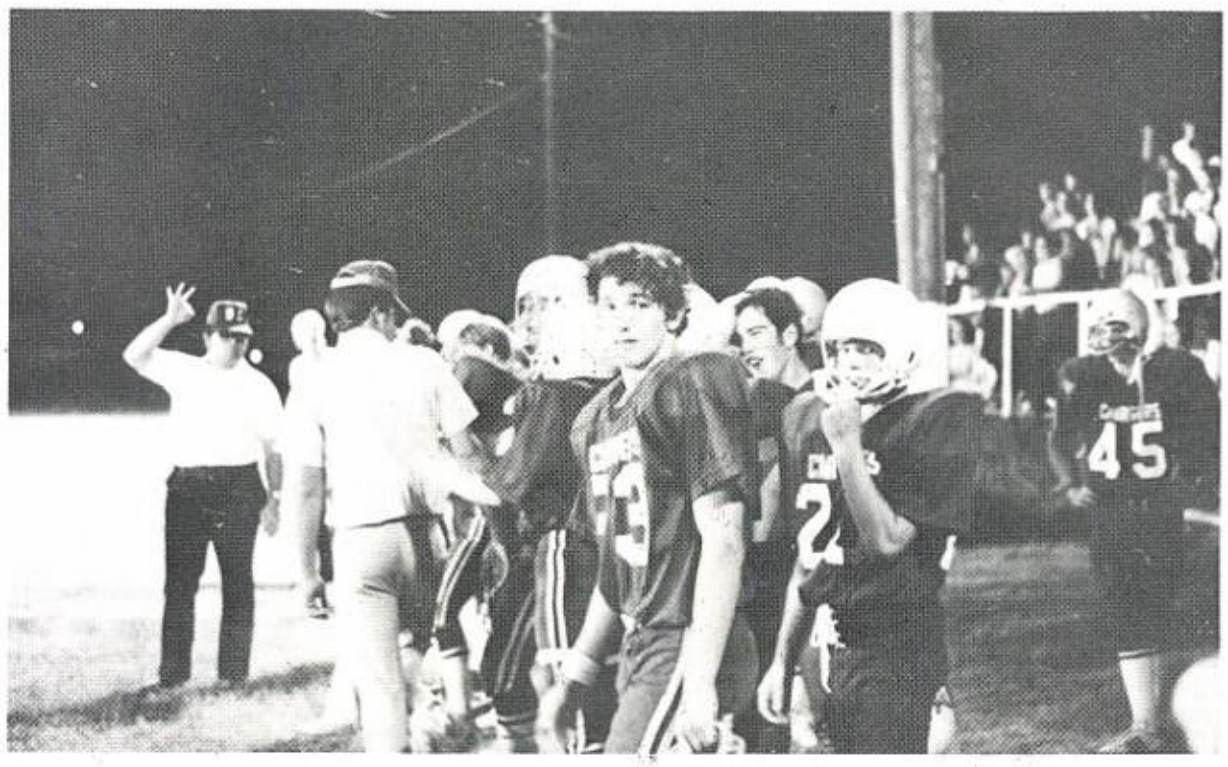
Organization is necessary if any group is to make progress, be it a football team, a chorus, a history class or a maintainance crew. Organization is necessary for a crowd, yes, but also for one individual's life.

SPORTS

Football Begins New

It has been said that sports takes away one's individuality. However, in it an athlete learns of discipline, of competition, of winning and losing and of sacrificing one's self for the good of others. He learns to follow instructions, to help others and to always try to improve himself. These qualities are truly those of an athlete as well as any other individual.





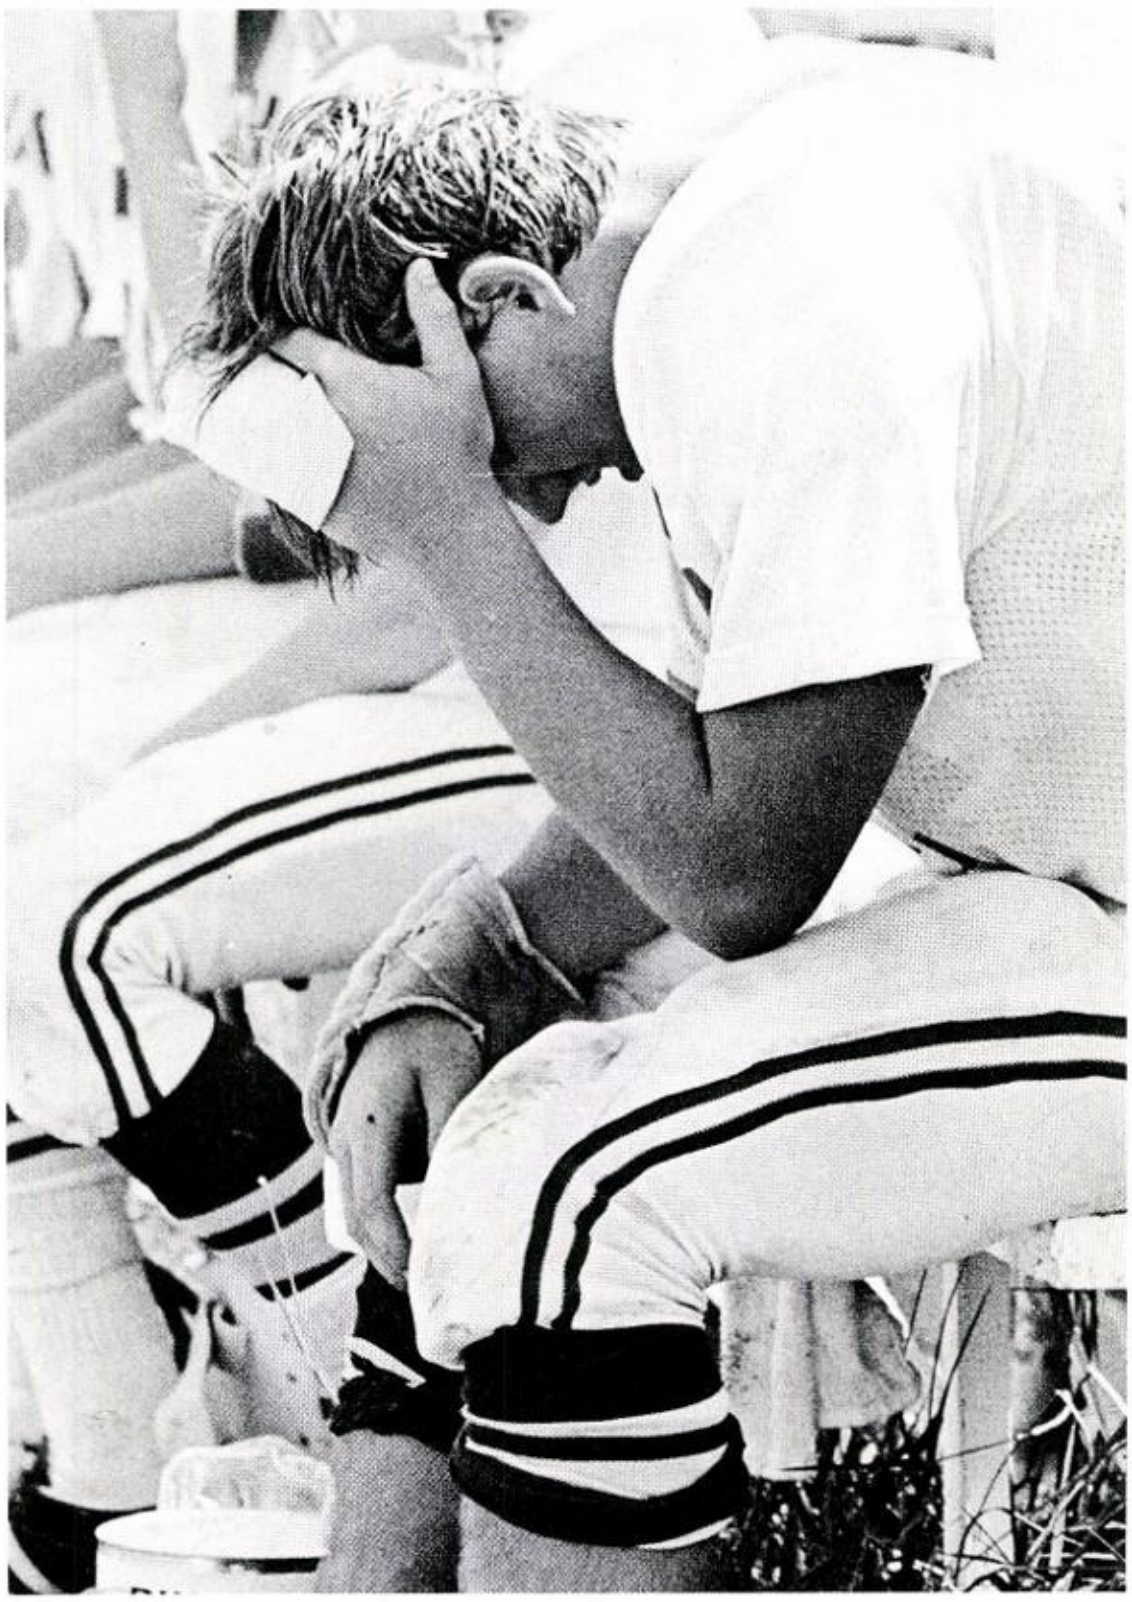
Sports Season

The Chargers opened their season under new head coach, Richard Dean, with a convincing 43-0 victory over the Lakehill Warriors. Three touchdown passes by Dwayne Black and a determined defense paved the way for the Blue and White.

The trend was reversed the next week as the Chargers, plagued by turnovers and poor kicking, fell to St. Marks, 43-0.

Angered by the loss to St. Marks, DC annihilated Trinity Christian 53-24. The Charger rushing game, led by Billy Alexander, exploded for 403 yards and a 40-0 halftime lead.

The Chargers' next game against Tyler Gorman proved to be their best of the season. After a scoreless first half, Billy Alexander, who amassed 200 yards on 27 carries, scored twice on runs of 5 and 73 yards. The Blue and White withstood a furious fourth quarter rally by Gorman and won the rugged battle 13 to 7.



Dallas Christian showed its comeback ability the next week against the surprising Royce City Bulldogs. After falling behind 14-0, the Chargers tied the game only to fall behind again by seven points in the fourth quarter. With less than two minutes remaining, Billy Alexander scored on a seven yard run and Tim Havens caught a tipped pass from Dwayne Black for the two point conversion to win 22-21.

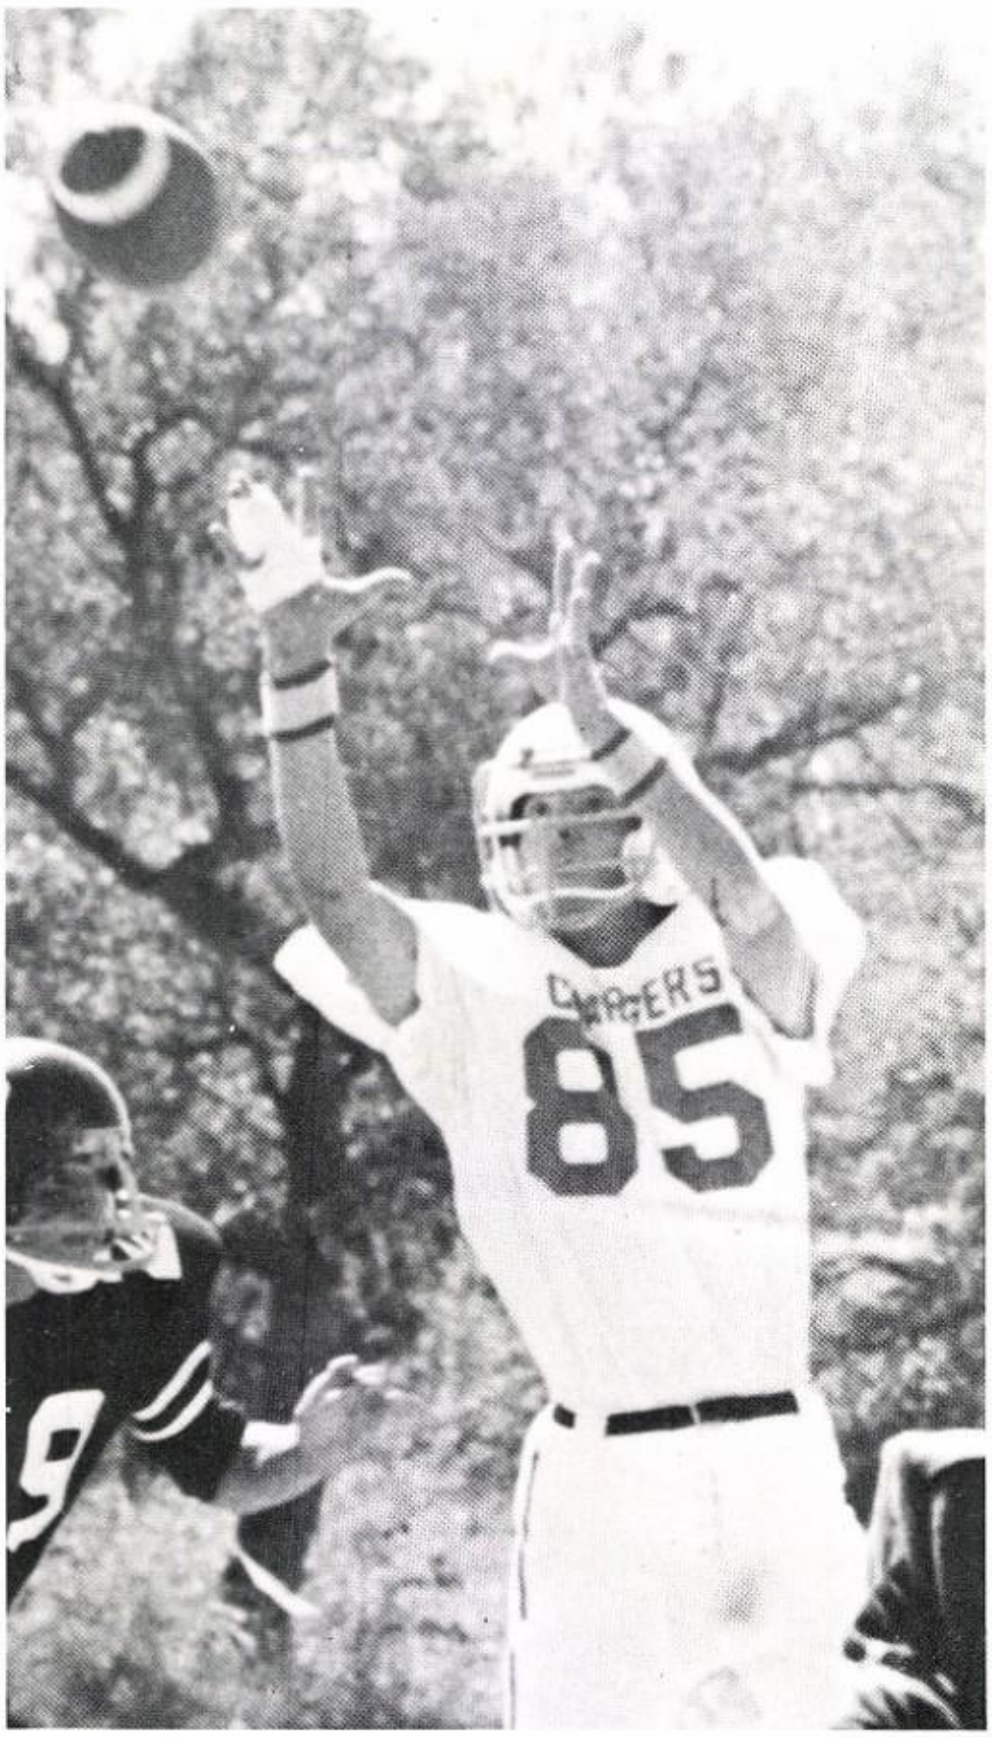
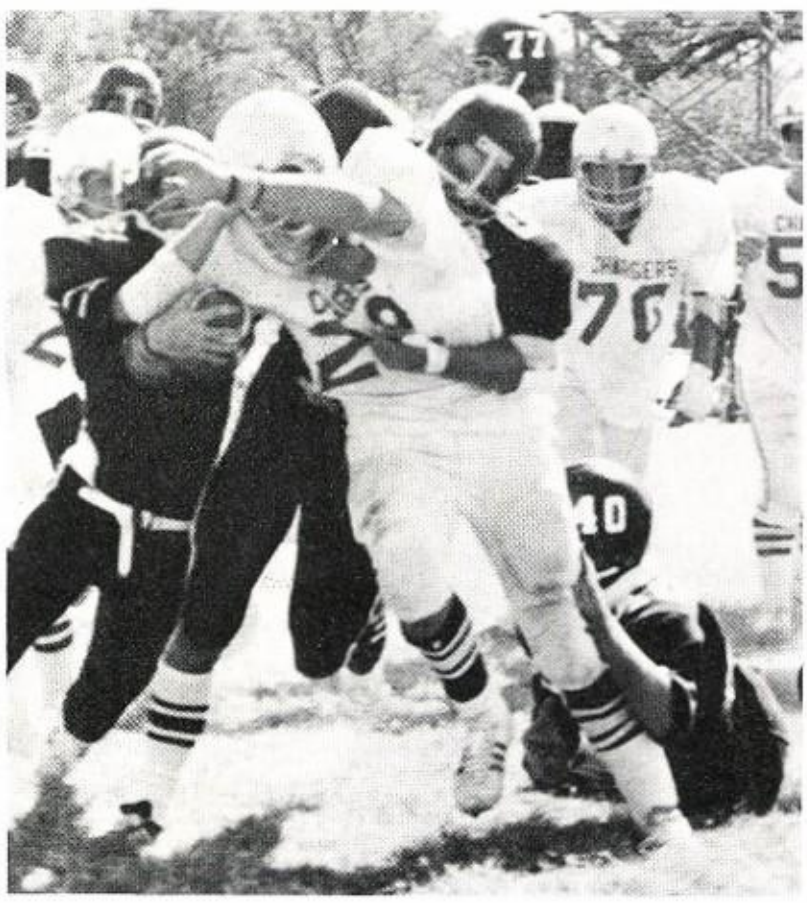
7 and 3 Record



The Blue and White saw how the other half lived as the Chargers fell to Cistercian in a game filled with long passes and controversial calls, played in tremendous heat. The Chargers stormed ahead 20-6 on three touchdown passes by Dwayne Black but Cistercian scored three times in the second half and DC suffered its first conference loss of the year, 24-20.



Chargers showed their character the next week as they came back to defeat Ft. Worth Country Day 20-6 behind two touchdown passes from Dwayne Black to Victor Bearden.

On Homecoming DC played host to Ft. Worth Christian and defeated them 34-2. Dwayne Black threw four touchdown passes and Billy Alexander rushed for 183 yards to spark the offense.

With injured Billy Alexander out of the lineup, the Chargers pulled together against Trinity Valley. Barry Packer and Rick Lowe scored two touchdowns each and Dwayne Black threw for 232 yards in a 32-15 victory over the Trojans.

In the conference championship game against Greenhill, the Chargers fell behind early and were never able to catch up. Though losing the crown, the Big Blue finished with a 7-3 record - an excellent season in Coach Richard Dean's first year as head football coach.

Junior Varsity
Preparing For The Future

The Junior Varsity, though suffering through a losing season, learned much about football from their opponents and their coaches, Carl Collins and Bobby Campbell.

The players also proved very important in practice posing as the next week's offensive and defensive opponents during scrimmages.

The experience gained from this year will be valuable to them as they move on to Varsity.

Junior High Rolls to 5-2-2 Record

The Junior High football team led by coaches, Mike Patrick and Carl Collins, enjoyed an excellent season, posting a 5-2-2 record and second place in the TISC.

The Colts sparked an explosive offense running out of a shotgun formation and a scrambling defense which relied on quickness and pursuit.

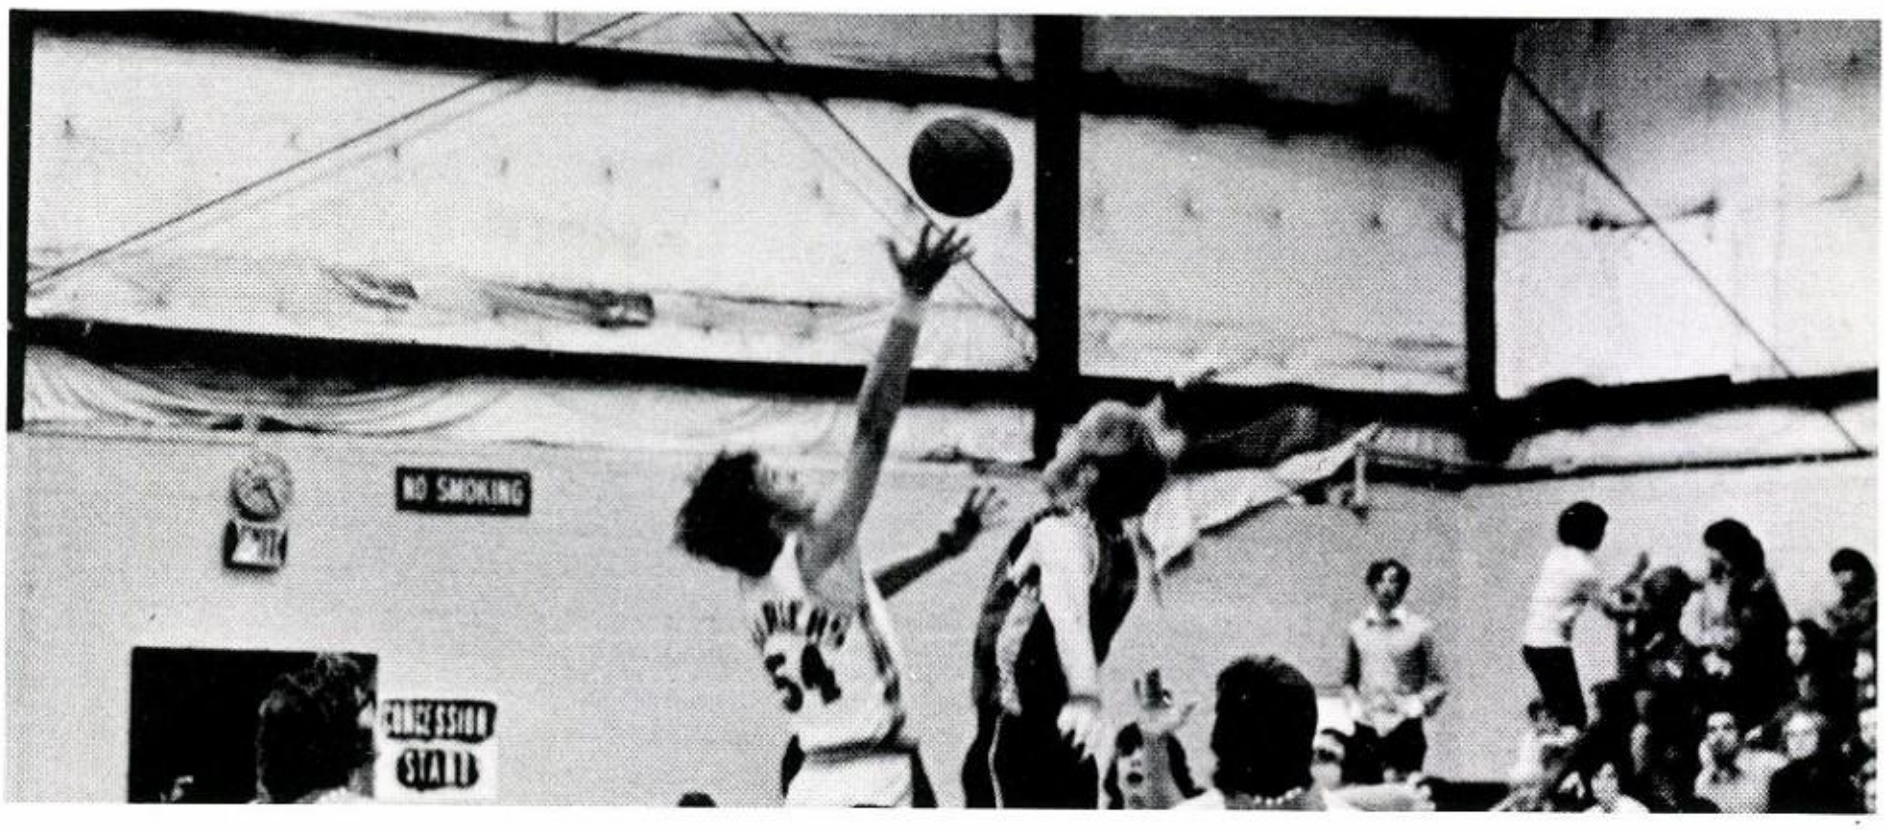
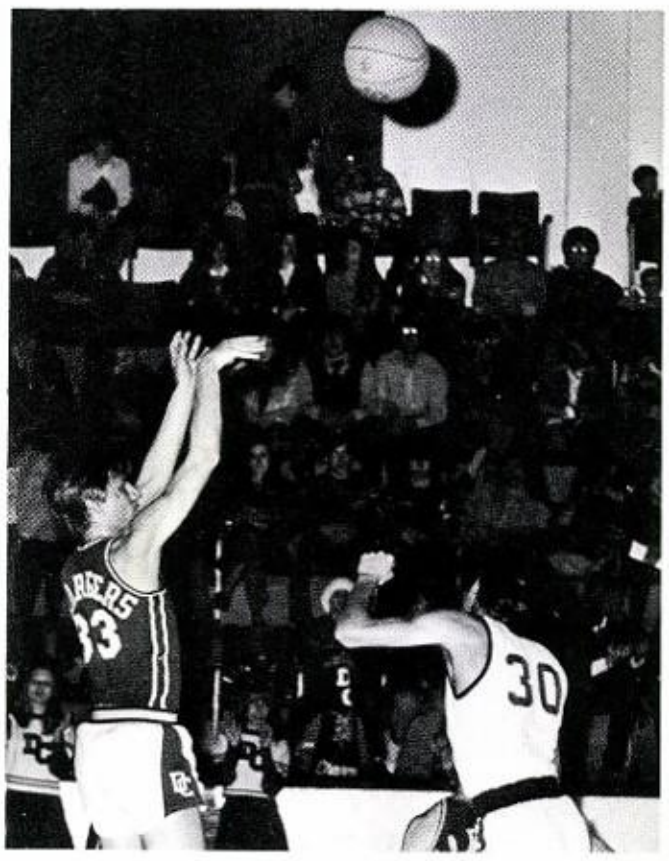
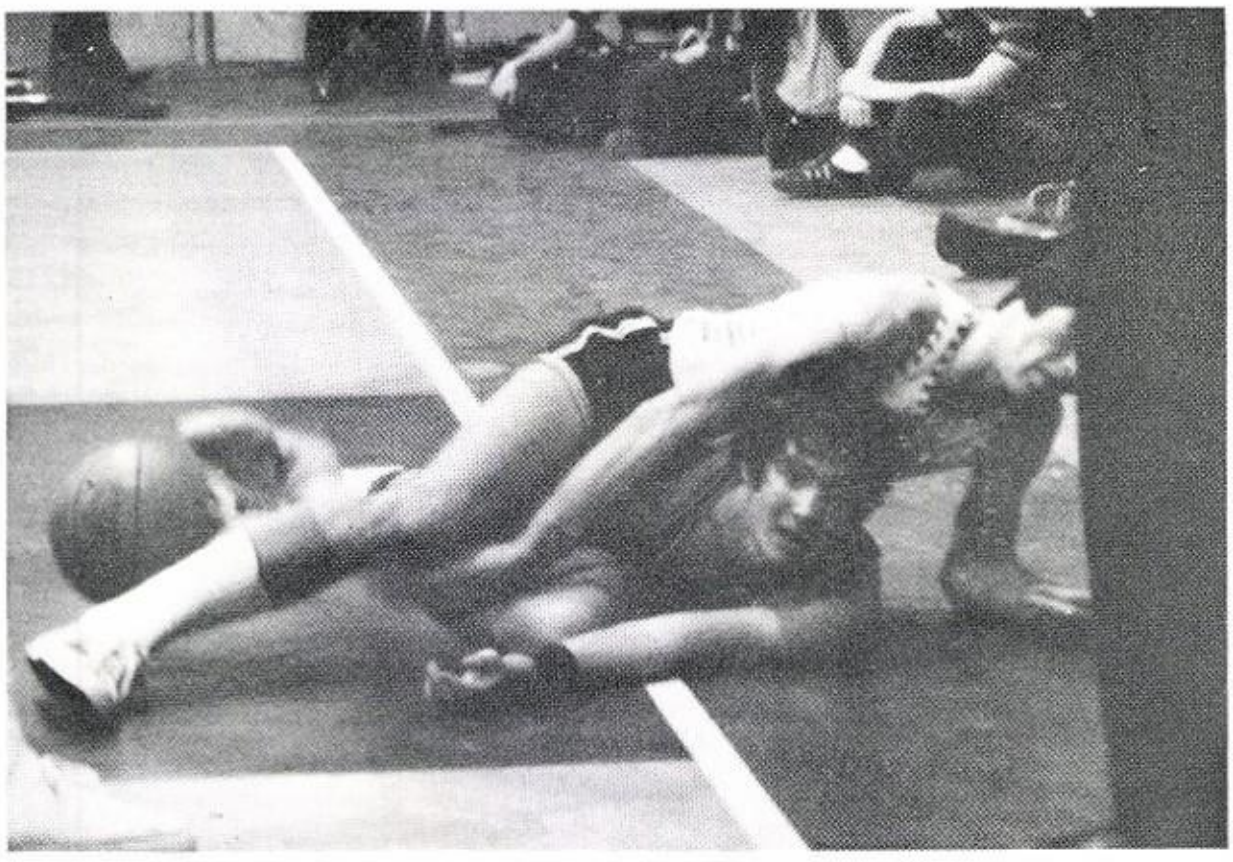
The Chargers started their season slowly, losing eight out of their first nine games to rugged outside competition. Coach Price experimented with several different lineups seeking the right combination. In the eleventh game against Ft. Worth Christian, Dallas Christian's first conference opponent, the Chargers ended their losing streak and began a string of 14 consecutive conference victories.





The Chargers employed a stifling defense that constantly forced their opponents into costly turnovers. Their offense was built upon the fast break, which enabled the guards to make lightning quick drives for the basket and keep the other team from setting up their defense.



Chargers Reach Up for Victory

Dallas Christian's most crucial test came in their twelfth victory - at Greenhill. A win for the Chargers against their old nemesis would assure them of at least a tie for the T.I.S.C. crown. In what proved to be the most exciting game of the year, the Chargers finished on top by the score of 55 to 53. In the next game, against Trinity Valley, the Chargers won the crown outright.

While there were many outstanding players on the Dallas Christian Varsity, the 1972-73 team will be remembered as a single working unit. There were no outstanding statistical performances, but as a team they outscored their conference opposition by an average of 22 points a game, won their second consecutive T.I.S.C. championship, and were brilliant examples of sportsmanship and Christianity.

Junior Varsity, 1972-73

The Junior Varsity, operating under new coaches Wayne White and Bobby Campbell, enjoyed an excellent year, posting an 11-5 record and first place in the Texas Christian Schools Tournament. Although inexperienced, the players showed great poise and hustle, which will aid them in future years as varsity players.

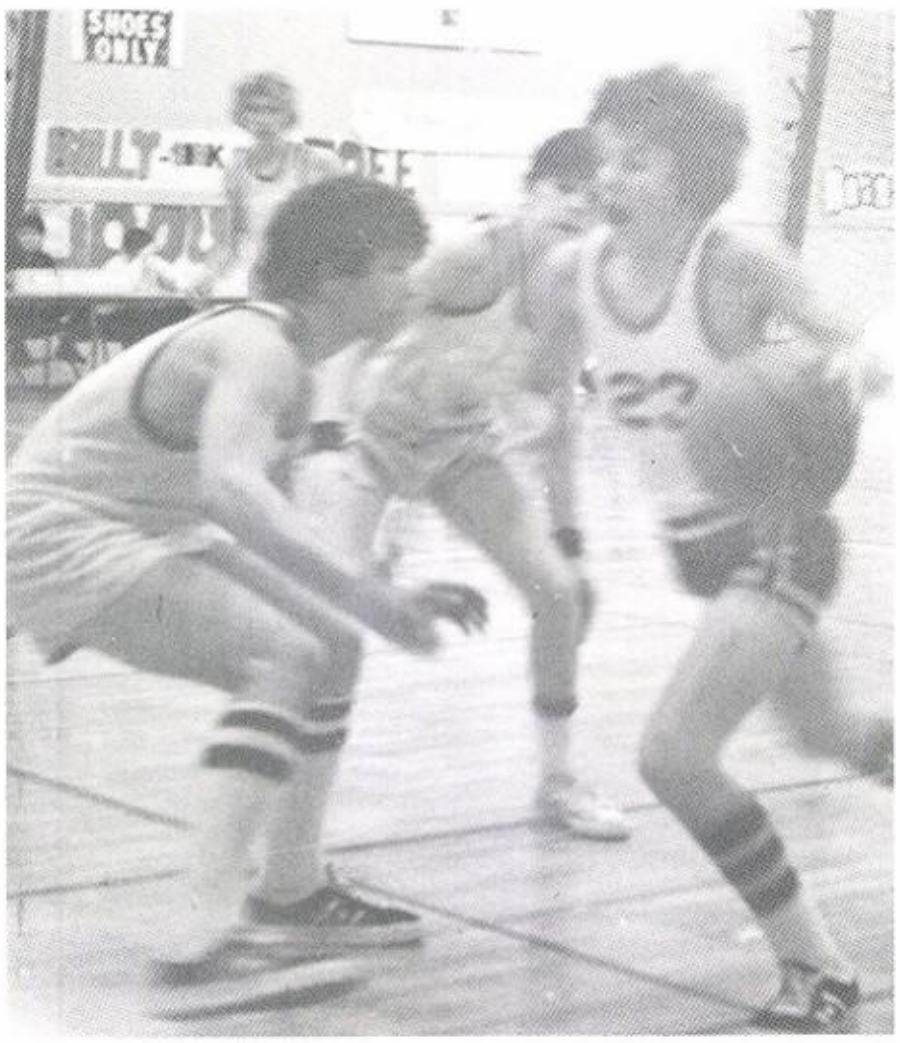
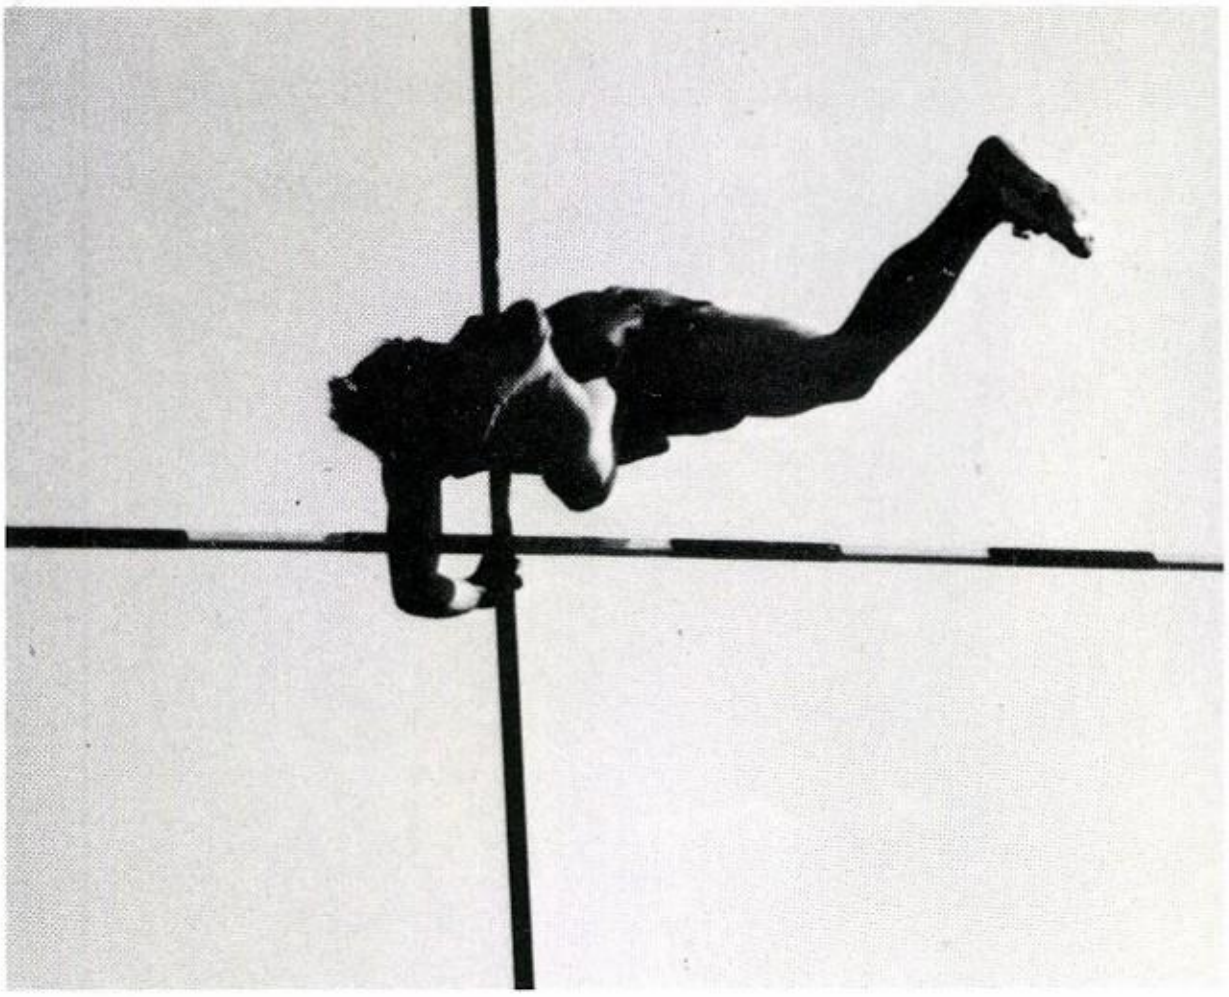
Junior High Wins TISC With a 15-3 Record

The 1972-73 Junior High basketball team enjoyed one of its finest seasons. The Colts led by Coach Mike Patrick, stampeded to a 15-3 record and the TISC Championship. Ironically, the Black and Gold's finest performance was in a 12 point loss to St. Marks. Although playing against a much taller and stronger team, the Colts battled St. Marks to a standstill for most of the way before bowing out. The Junior Varsity coaches can look forward to an excellent nucleus for next year.



Track Team Races Toward Goal

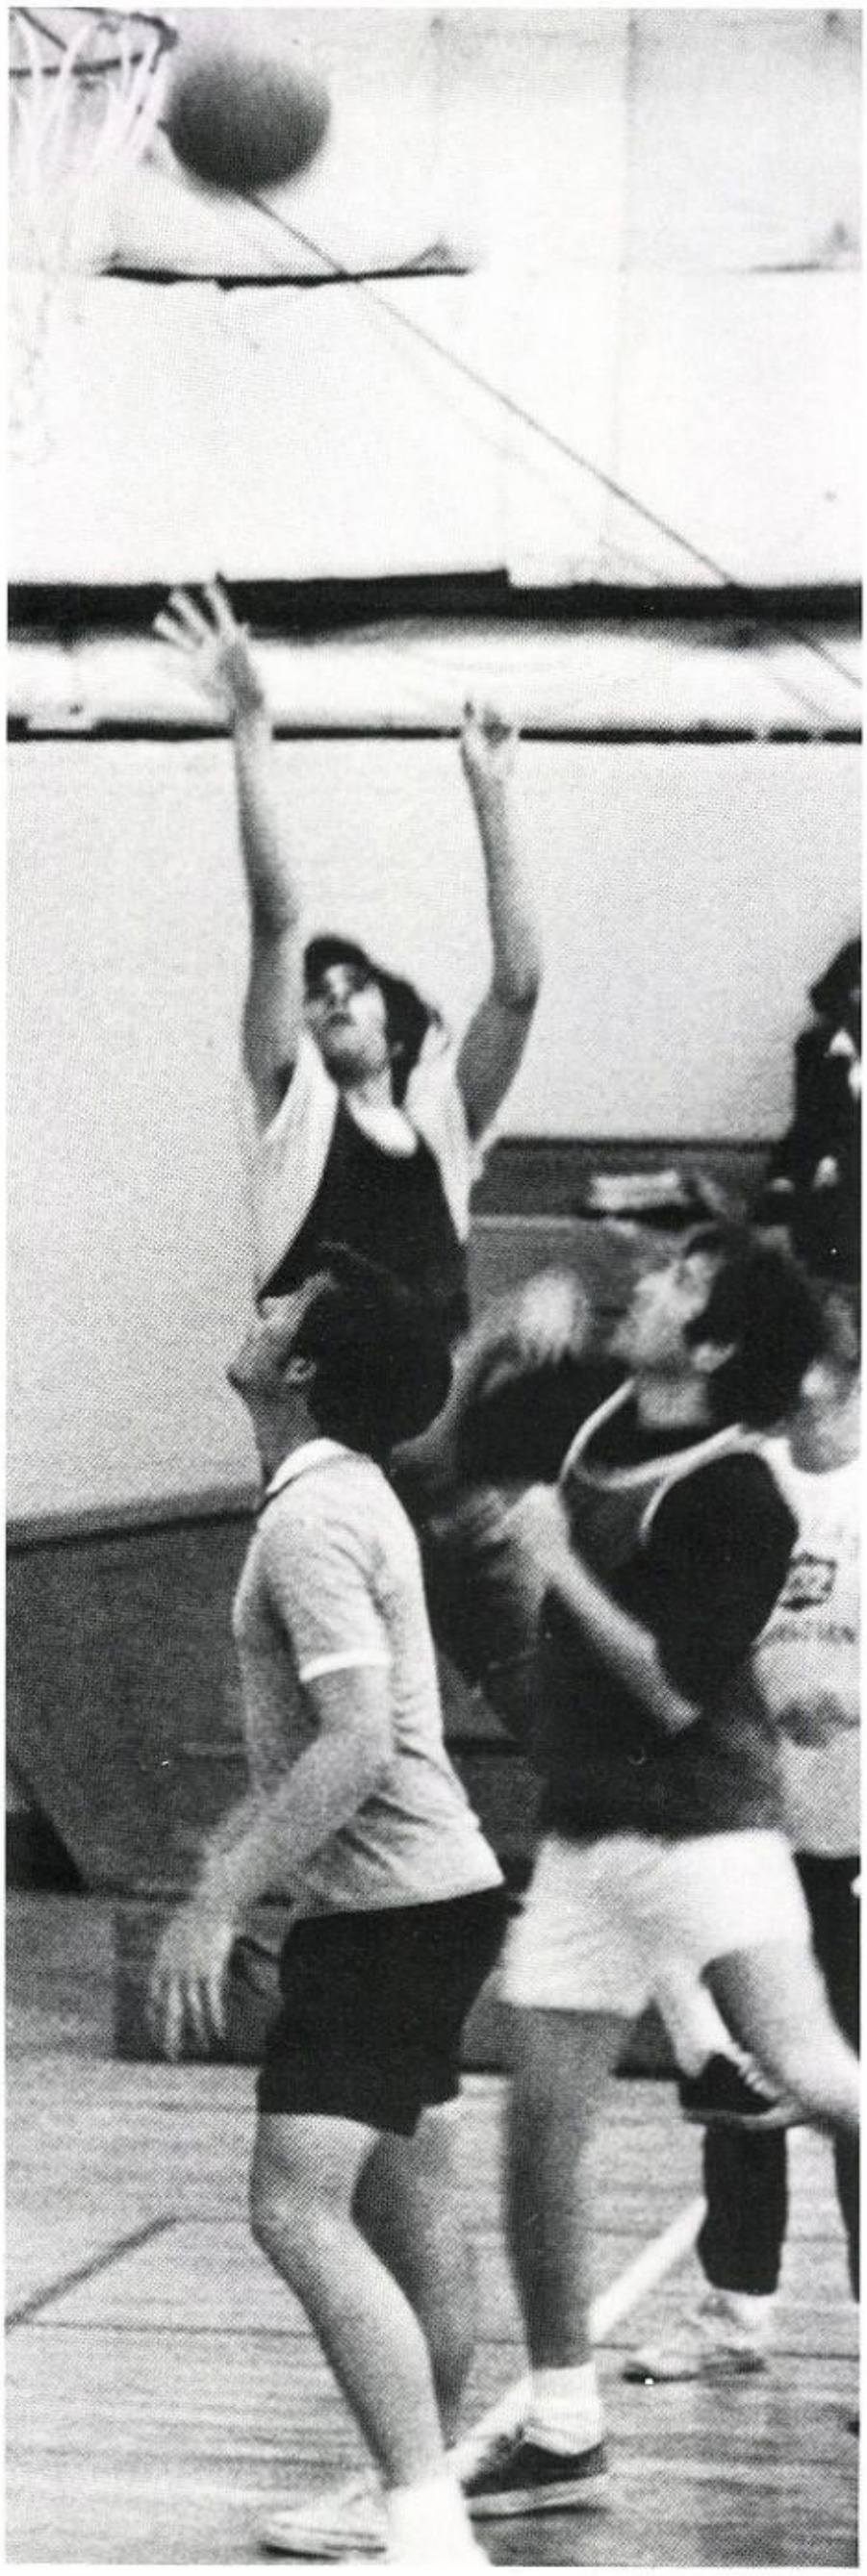


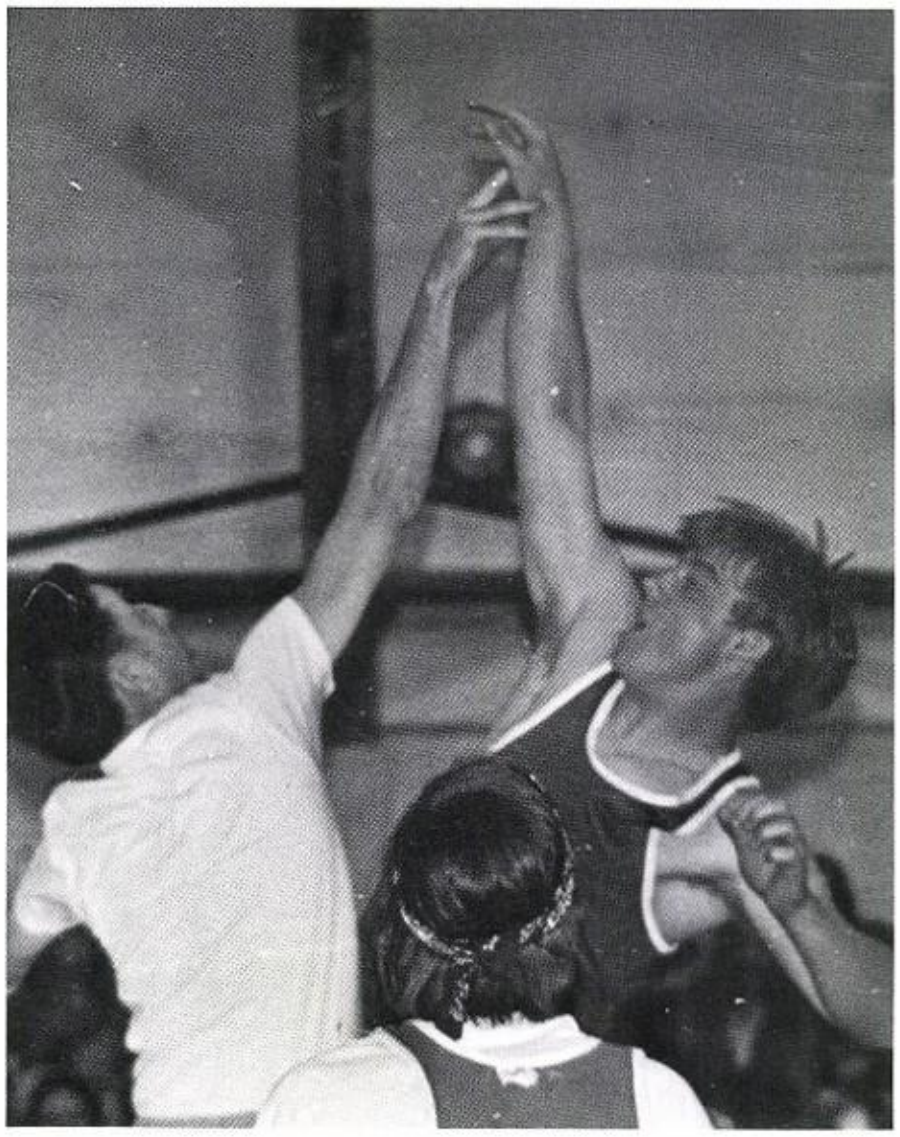
The 1973 Dallas Christian Track team competed in five meets and improved steadily with each meet. Tim Havens set a school record in the two mile run with a time of 11:09.9 and Don Sloan and Brad Nevil greatly improved their times in the hurdles and sprints, respectively.

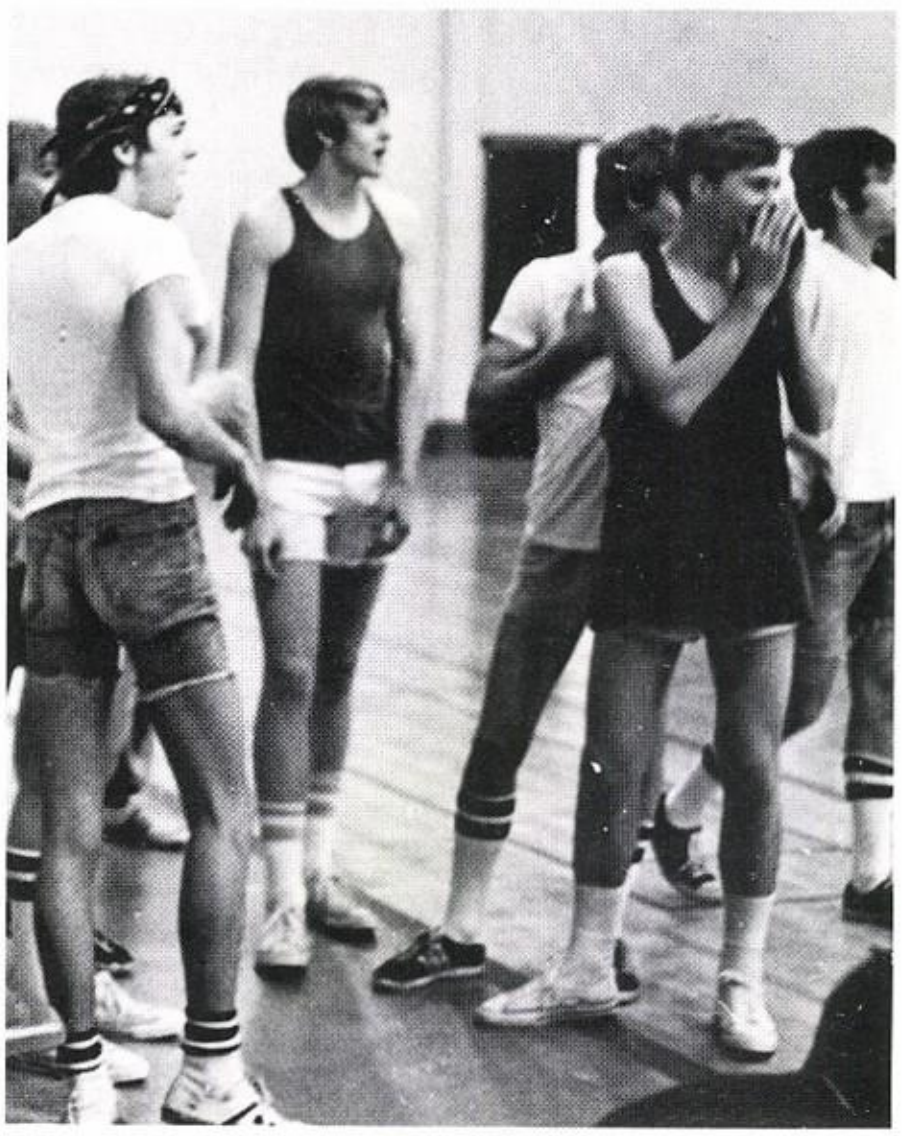
Junior High tracksters also had a very exciting season.

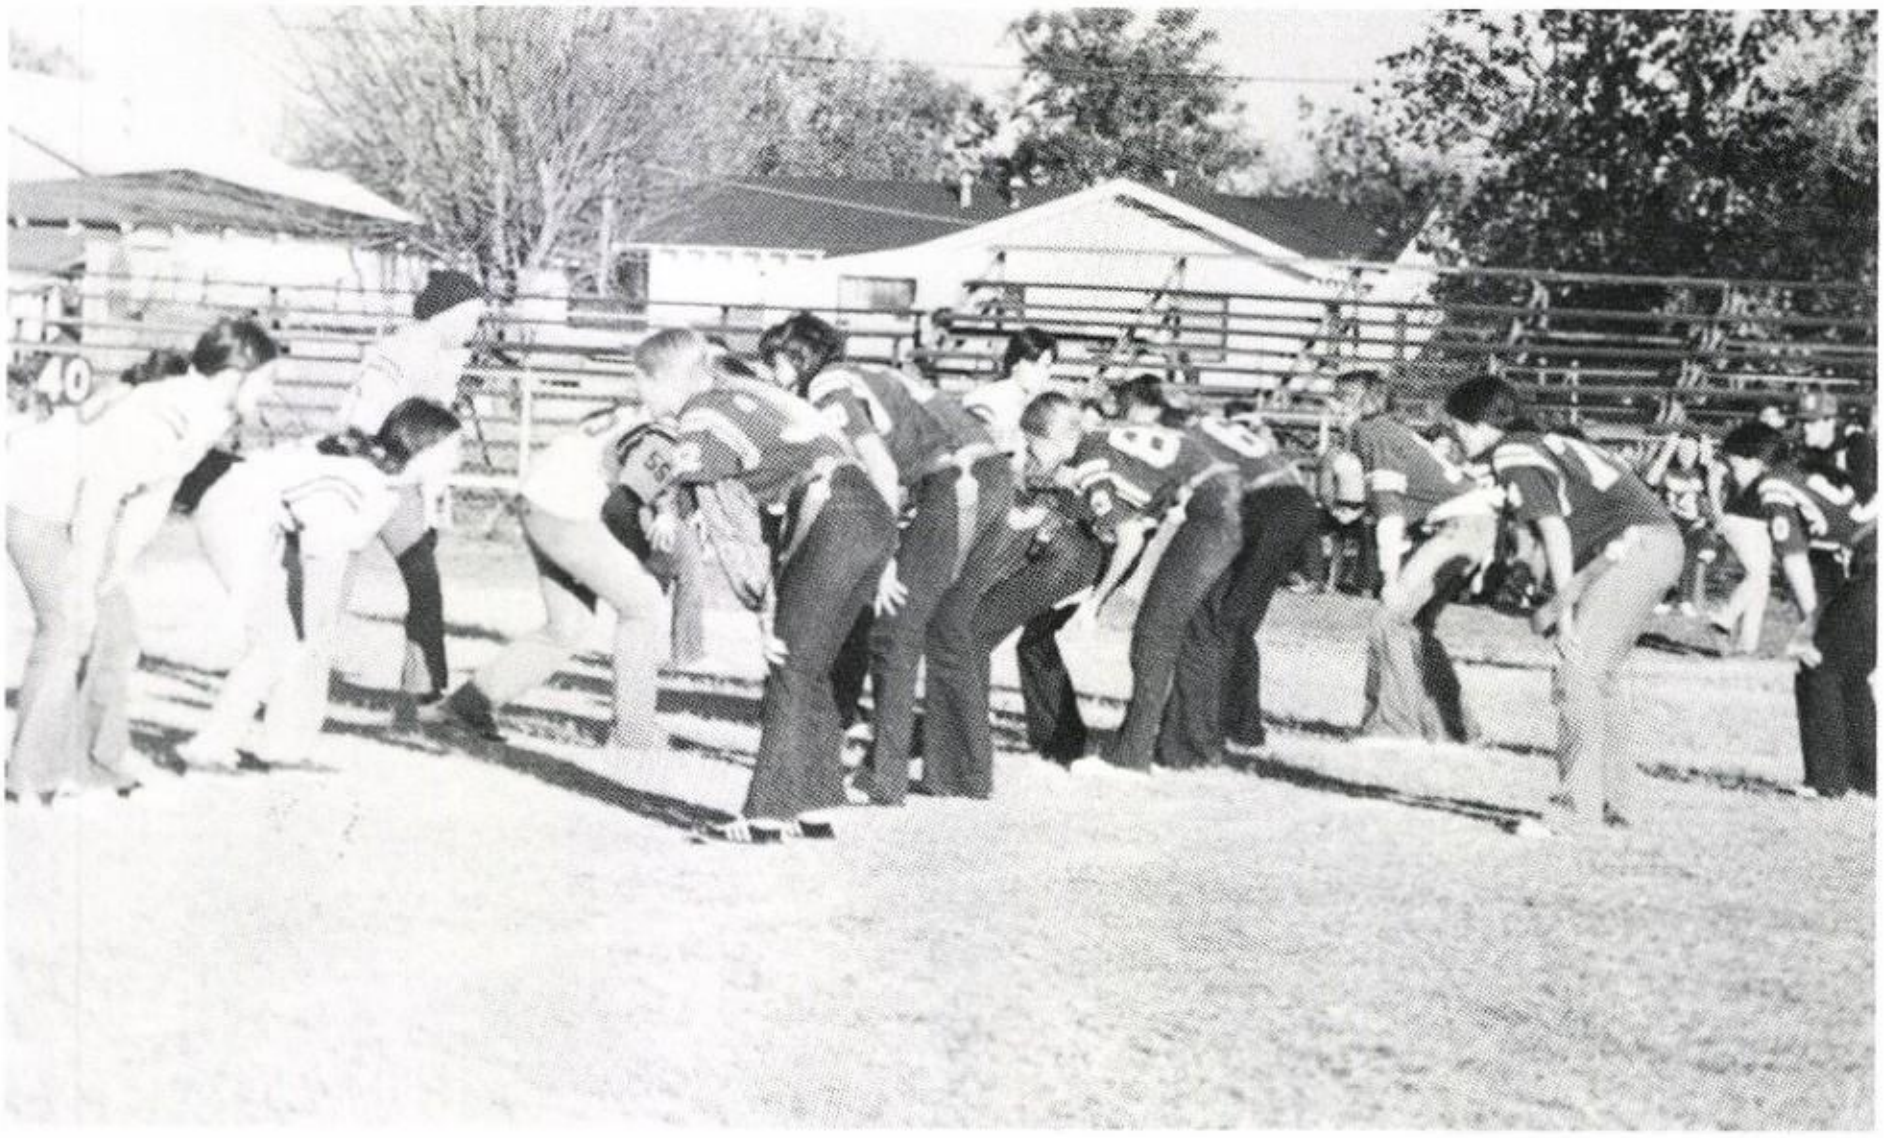
Track stresses individual effort more than any sport and, as the Charger track team discovered, can develop discipline, self-reliance and strong character.

Intramurals Thrive









The still infant intramural program took great strides during the 1972-73 school year. Among the various activities were the Jr.-Sr. girls powder-puff football game, basketball, one-on-one, volleyball and the annual basketball and softball contests between the seniors and the faculty. The 1972-73 school year also marked the first year of the development of competitive tennis at Dallas Christian. The women's team coach was Miss Janice Sewell while the men were headed by player-coach Jeff Haseltine.

The athletes of Dallas Christian have received instruction from their coaches in areas other than sports. Winning teams are good, but a winning personality is a much higher goal.

It is our privilege to congratulate members of the 1973 graduating class of Dallas Christian High School.

We are proud of each and every one.

GRADUATION. Webster defines it as "a successive stage in progress." PROGRESS is defined as "moving forward, advancement . . ."

We are confident that you will utilize the splendid relationship with students and faculty at DC as a foundation upon which to seek further progress and advancement toward a life fulfilled with devotion to your church, your community and your family.

Good luck . . . and may God bless each of you.

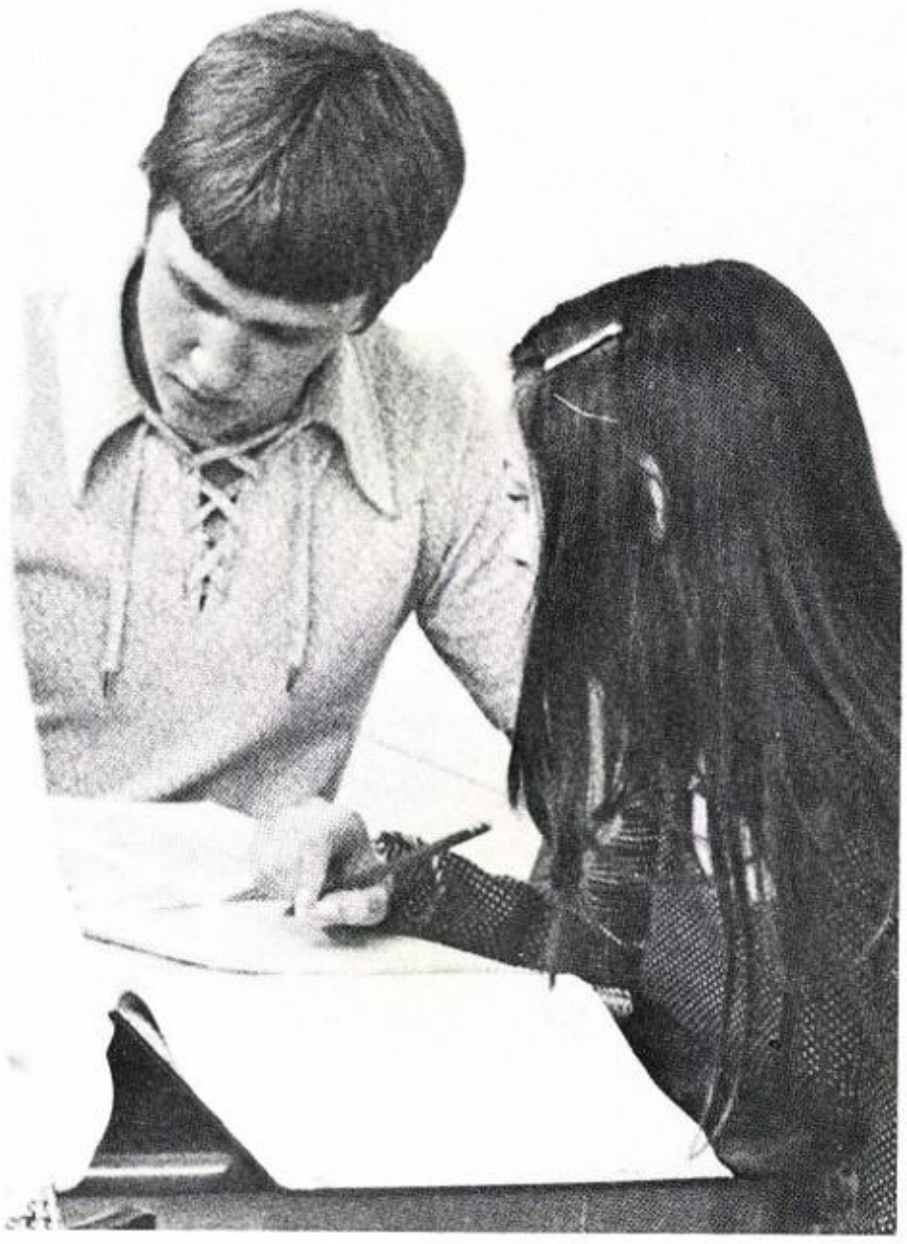
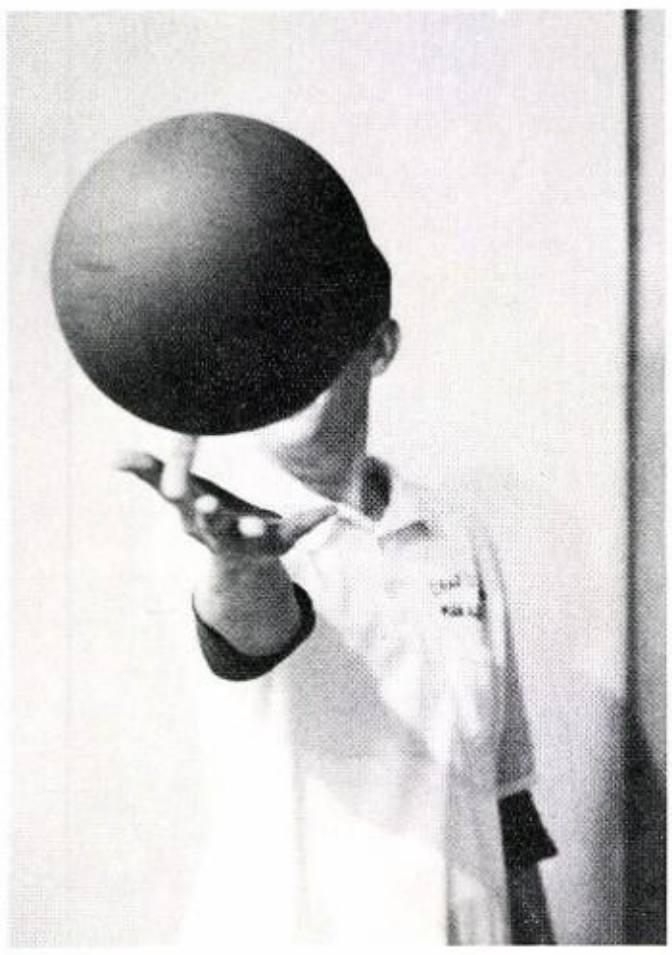
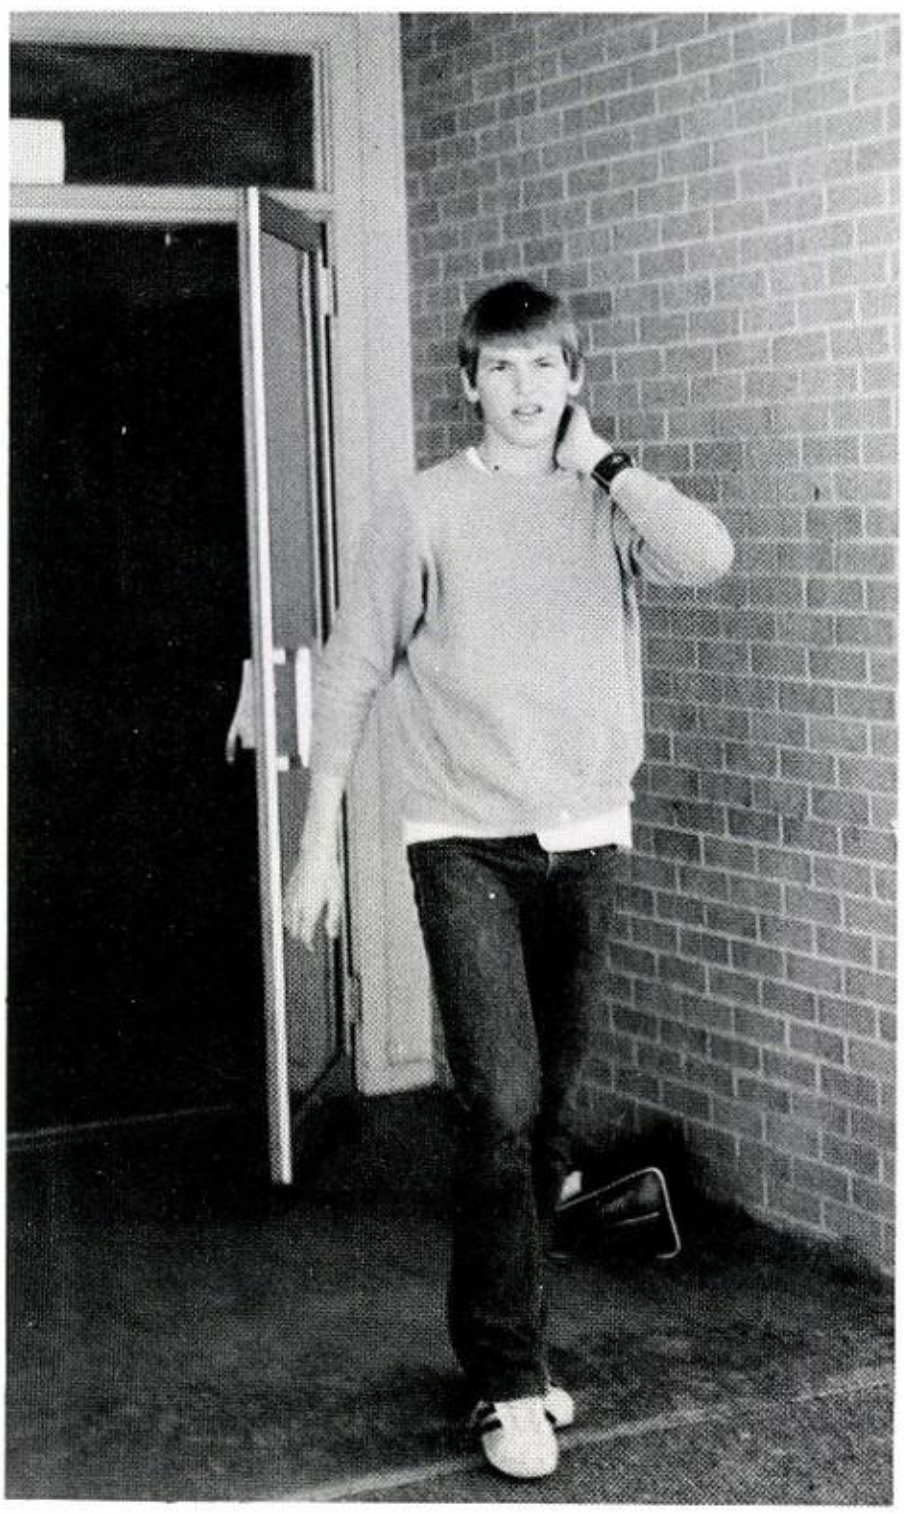
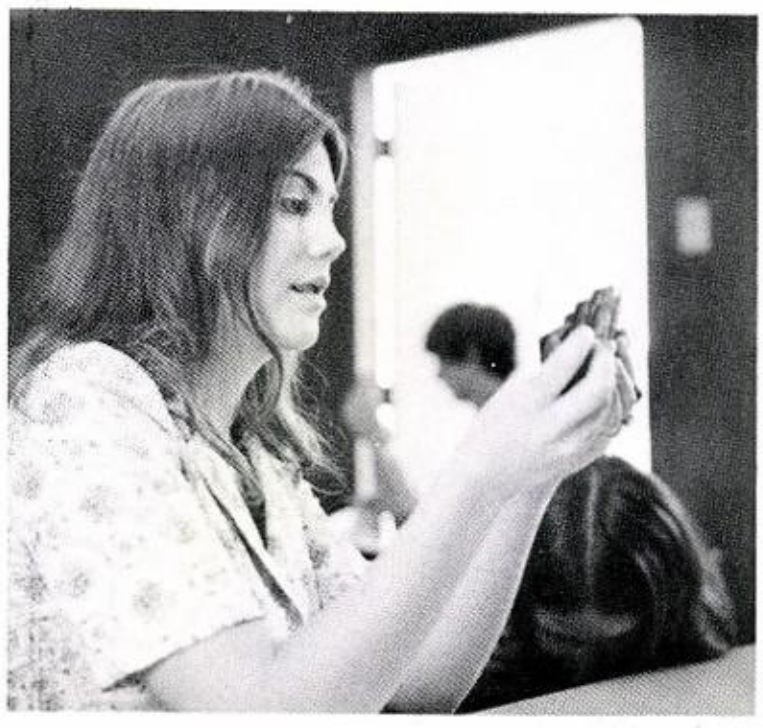
Just as a challenge affects different people in different ways, so does the forming of a personality. The world is lost without the beauty of people, though. It is up to each individual to cultivate his tastes, his needs, even his prejudices, so that he will always be distinct in the garden of his surroundings. Perhaps the restraints we place on others trying to be themselves are too much at times. Live and let blossom: you'll be stronger, too.

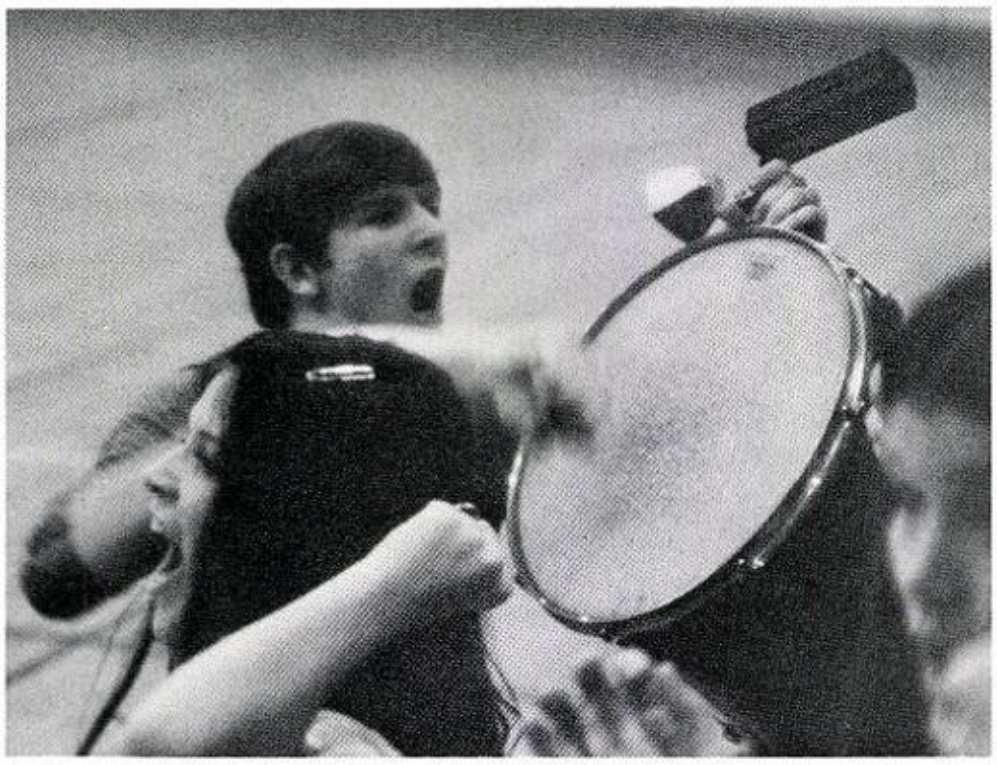


Of course, individualism does not preclude unity - it promotes it. We need each other because we are different. I don't need more of me - I need more of you; you don't need more of yourself - you need more of him. So the world spins.

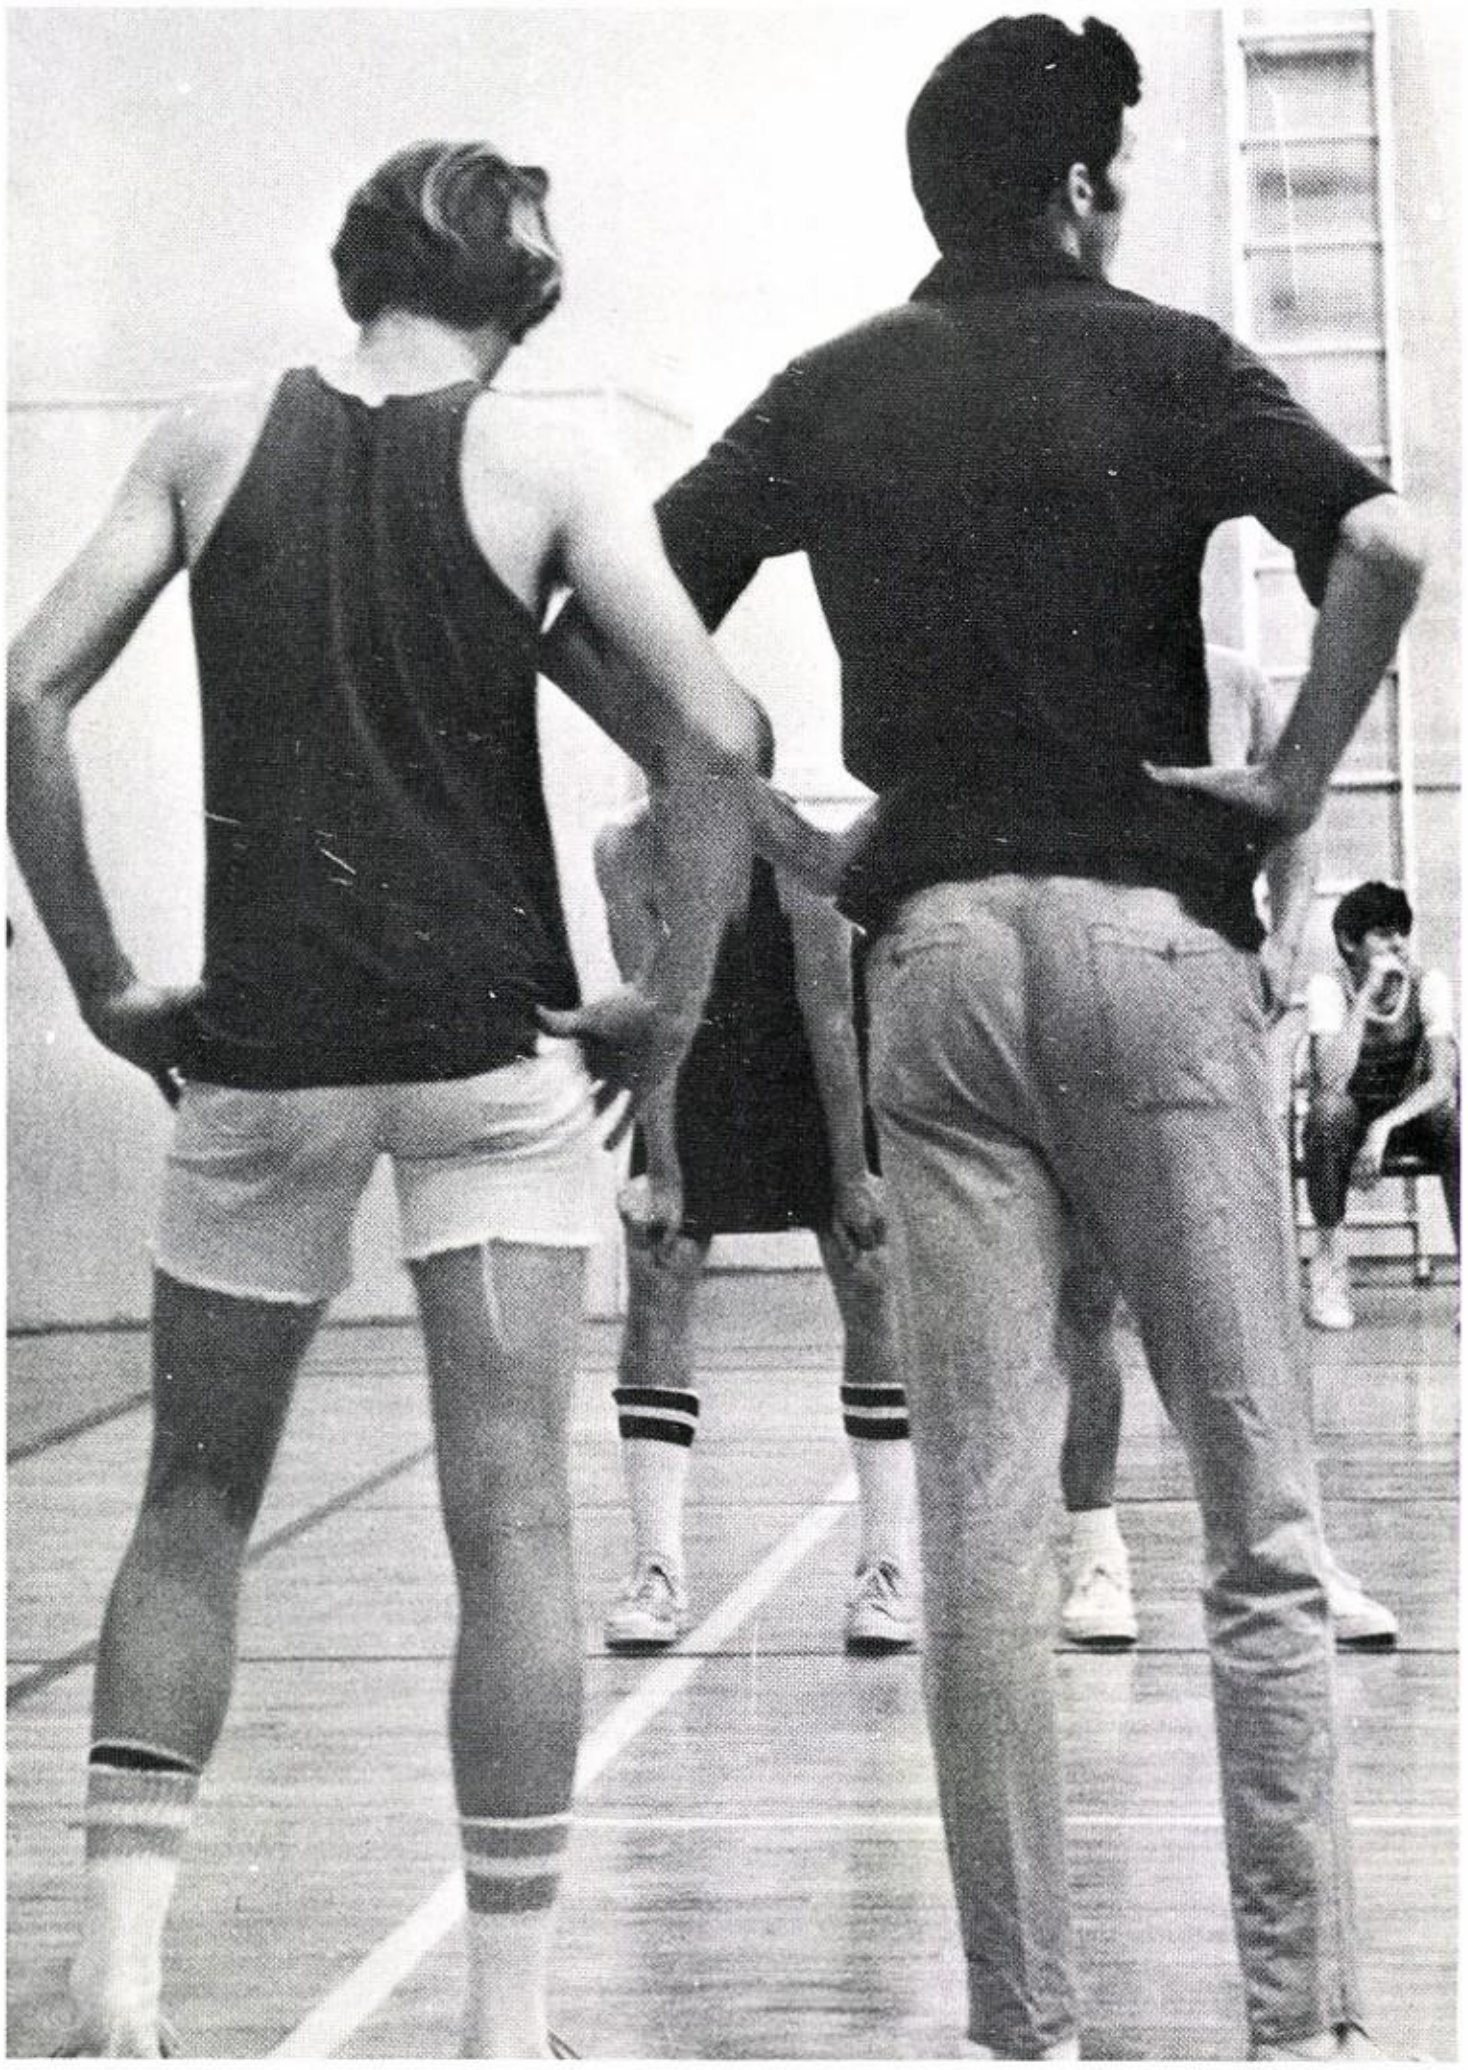


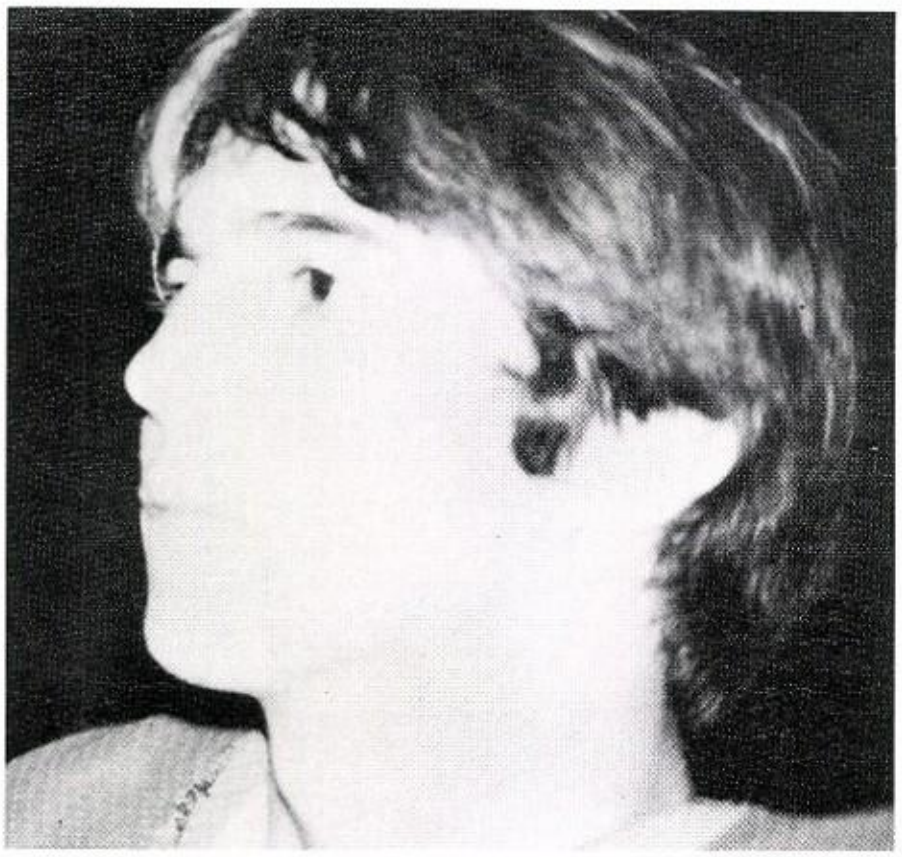




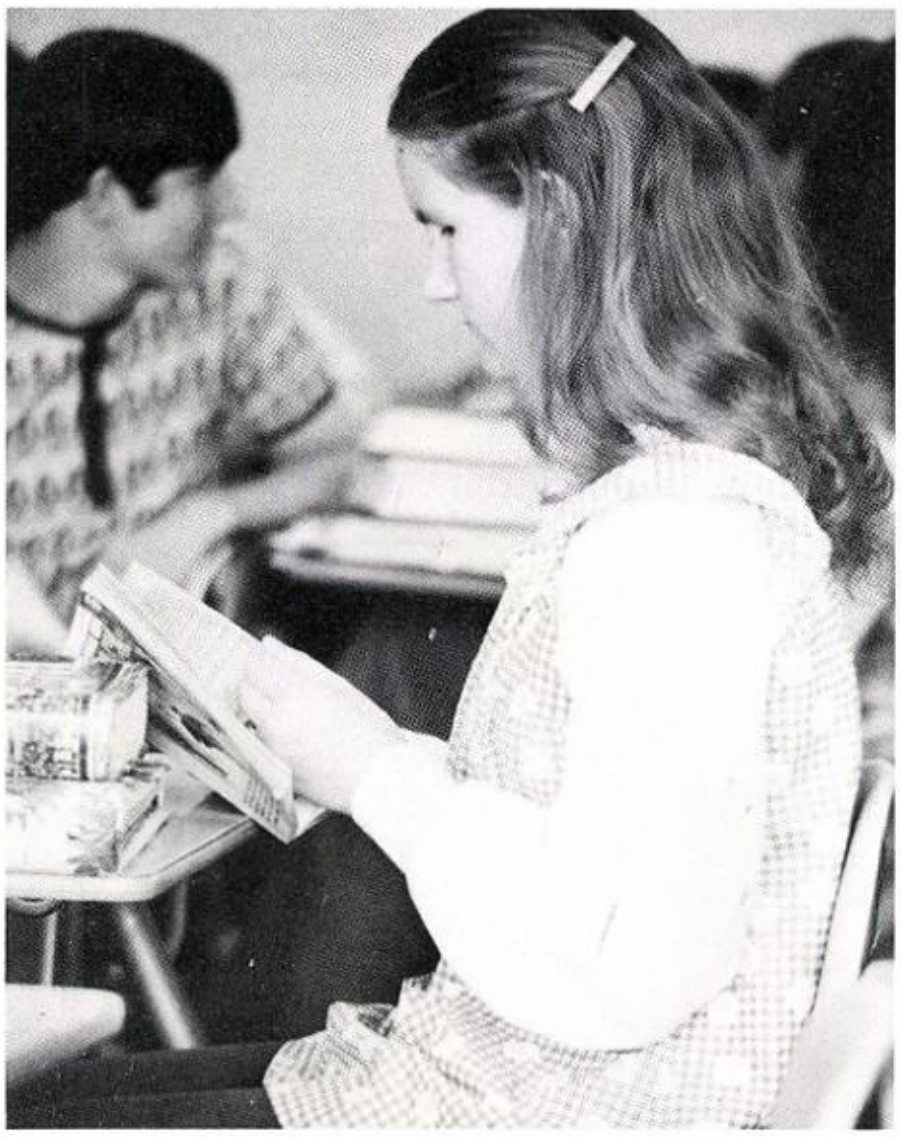


So, let's help each other - lend a hand. We use our full selves to develop our personalities. We use our eyes, our mouths, our hair, our minds. Our hands, too, are important to ourselves and to those around us.





Who are they that stand out in our minds? Those who are themselves - those who stand tall physically, in personal abilities, or in kindness. Those who are willing to drive themselves first, then others, to perfection. We are all special in our own way.



We grow and explore - perhaps for curiosity's sake, perhaps for higher intentions. But let us leave the monotony of conformity and be ourselves in years to come, if such be where our hearts lead us.

John,

You are a sweet person & I bet Cheryl is right you might be 6'2. Seriously, last year I didn't get to know you very well but you have an outstanding personality. For instance: You bend over backwards to please people. You have done favors for me that will always remember. You really are sweet, & I like you alot! Best Wishes.

Love Always,
Pam Holt
